From the tenor of the dispatches sent abroad proughout the land by the government at reading the proceedings in Kansas, in view of the election of the people are left to infer that the proceedings in Kansas, in view of the election of delegates preliminary to the formation of a State of the case, and expose the constitution; but with the determination and described and the progression and the progress cealed designs of the party in power. From the tenor of the dispatches sent abroad Washington, the people are left to infer that the whole question of Slavery in Kansas is to be left, under Gov. Walker's administration, to the untrammeled decision of the bona fide residents of the territory. Nothing could be further from the purpose of the administration, as we shall show; for while this promise is held out it is added that the administration will proceed upon the basis that the territorial laws are valid, and that although Mr. Buchanan does not hold himself responsible for the initiative sten taken in the matter of framing a Constitution for Kansas as a State, he has instructed Mr. Walker to carry forward what was initiated under his predeces-

cor. These being admitted facts, it is easy to show that the question of Slavery cannot be left to the untrammeled decision of the bons fide residents of the territory. Such a thing is impos sible under the laws of the begus legislature and the pending scheme for a Constitution Look for a moment at the facts. The election for delegates to the proposed Convention is to be held in June, and that election is authorized and all its details marked out by law of the bogue legislature. Under that law no person can vote at that election unless his name is recorded upon the poll lists. These poll lists are to be made by persons appointed leave off such as they please. GRAND RAILWAY LINE. - The Baltimore fun papers from which we collate a few items: br eastern portion of the line is made up of the Baltimore and Ohio road from Baltimore to Grafton, 279 miles, (and one hundred miles east of Wheeling terminus) and the Northwestern (Vs.) road from Grafton to Parkersburg, 104 miles, (and 98 miles below Wheeling,) on the Ohio river. The Western end of this division (the Parkersburg road) has been partially opened for trade and travel since January last; and hundre the active measures adopted by the Baltimore and Ohio Compahy, who have permanently leased it, will very soon be in a condition to do a heavy and cometant business. The aggregate distance between Baltimore and Parkersburg is 383 miles.

The second or central division lies between Parkersburg and Cincinnati. Until a shorter connection is made between these important points, the union will be formed by the Cincinnati and Marietta Road, running from Cincinnati to Marietta Road, running from Cincinnati of tween Marietta and Parkersburg of twelvymiles, on the Ohio river.
