THE WASE OF WOMER .- One of the snom The Washs of Works.—One of the anomalies in society, which we find it most difficult to explain, is thir: Why is it, that for the same work as well and as intelligantly performed by a woman, should she not receive as much pay as is willingly given to a man? Can some of our readers tall us—if they can we shall feel obliged—why a young woman who beatows her time, her talents and her care, who employs all her tast and exercises all her patience in teaching they are tallents and her care, who employs all they calling the roll, the members—answering—time, her talents and her care, who employs all they calling the roll, the members—answering—time, her talents and her care, who employs all they calling the roll, the members—answering—time, her talents and her care, who employs all the same pitful sum of money per week or month, equal, perhaps, only to the half of what a male teacher receives for like laber? They err, in our view, who contend that this labor is not as well performed by women as by men. Nature has designed the female for a teacher of youth, and in the overy character of mother, has declared in most unmistakeable language, that the position of guide and instructor of the tender years of our being is given to her as an especial charge. In all that constitutes a careful, conscientious teacher, we are confirmed by observation in the belief that women excel men. They should have at least an equal reward for their arducus labors.

But the case of teachers is not the worst.

Look at the sampetresses, the shirt-makers and the least or our and command as much as that was can wanh our large cities. Dr. Gurley and others protested against this mild admonition desiring to see the offender disciplined according to rate. While the world presses on so fast in improvement, and new fields are daily opening in all directions for solive, intelligeatyoung men who are acither schamed nor afraid to work, why will any of them remain in positions which neither occupy their minds, nor tax their physical powers? The light labor of a retail dry goods store could be performed as well by women as by men, if not better. If so, and the men thus released from what must be to them unpleasant drudgery, could go forth to our fields, or manufactories and the thousand other spheres of real and productive toil which are daily and hourly opening before them, how greatly it would add to the nation's wealth, how much to the sum total of human happloses.

More Bloodshed.—We learn from the officers of the Lecompte, that, on Thursday last, Capi. M. Branner, late of the texamboat Belle Gates, and Mr. Voroher, his overseet, were shot while riding in front of J. W. Brown's plantation, on Red river, about thenty miles above Compte. Mr. Veroher died in a few minutes. Capi. Branner received two buckshot in his left eye, and was very low when the boat passed, but his physicians entertained hopes of his recovery. We dear the difficulty had occurred a few days previous between Capi. Branner and Mr. Brown, during which the latter was shot by the former.

The publication of all the details of crime which has grown into a custom in most of the newspapers of the day, has become an evil so crying that it begins to attract the serious attention of such pursons as desire to have in the lithest bouses and at their firesides newspapers which their children can read and not become conteminated thereby. Iodine was discovered as long as forther years are, by a gold a manufacturer of Faris matted Courtois. It is not a mineral substance. It is found in sponga, oyston, seawed, in vasions mineral syrings, and many persons attribute the medicinal properties of Col Liver Giu to Iodine, which it contains in small quantities. The trouble bitherto with it has been that it would not dissolve in pure water, without combining with something elsa, which injured its medical properties? The Iodine Water then is a solution of Iodine in pure water, and nothing elsa. It was discovered by Dr. Anders British and Continental Exchange.
