

CITY DEPARTMENT

PITTSBURGH: WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 28, 1887. OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Michael Delaney was drunk and disorderly at the passenger depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The witness having a humane desire to see him from being killed by trains passing along the tracks, and in the morning he was charged liberally for his lodging.

Henry Ackerly, who called from "our sister city" had some other friends got on an agreement to "quit for a while" and took him into custody. He had not the wherewithal to settle his little account with the city, and the corporation having no soul, he was imprisoned for the debt.

Robert Stevenson was also from the other side of the river, and he was not drunk and disorderly. He paid his fine. Friends Thompson made a portable will-house out of himself, and was being near the works, in an inebriated condition. The watchman seeing it, went to the watchhouse, and for the above medical attendance, a bill was presented in the morning, which he could not settle, and he was furnished with further attendance in the county jail for twenty-four hours.

Joseph Richardson was drunk and very disorderly at the St. Clair Hotel, and was taken late on duty, a gentleman who should have known better, attempted to coerce him, and the latter was also taken to jail. They were both freed.

John Corral, for drunkenness, was committed to the county jail for twenty-four hours. William McCarty was drunk and disorderly at the City Hotel. He paid his fine and was discharged.

Jessie Rowland, for some time past the quiet resident of Fifth street, was arrested by a large boy of disorderly boy, who assembled on the sidewalk in the neighborhood of the Cathedral, creating a great deal of disturbance by their rowdy and unbecoming conduct. Two of these juvenile rascals were brought before Mayor Weaver, charged, on oath, of Dr. George McKee, with disorderly conduct. This gentleman states that they have almost exhausted his patience by their outrageous behavior, and on Monday he called away his boys, and left in an adjacent board yard. The boys were discharged after some address from the Mayor, which it would do well for them to follow, as hereafter a policeman will be stationed in the vicinity referred to, and they who offend here after will be severely dealt with.

Cooking by Gas.—We examined, yesterday, a very ingenious apparatus, by which a moderate work as cooking stove, was made a smoking, and boiling in five minutes, and a vessel containing about one gallon of water brought to the boiling point in about the same length of time. The apparatus is an ingenious one, and well worth the attention of house-keepers, restaurants and hotels. The quantity of gas required is inconsiderable, not amounting to more than 11 cents per day for each member of a family, to do the entire cooking.

The inventor is Dr. Messinger, of Cincinnati, where the apparatus is largely in use. We refer our readers to the advertisement in another column, and would advise an inspection of the article, at 13 Third St., near market.
