PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

PUBLISHED BY S. RIDDLE & CO.

D. L. MAHON, ROBERT RIDDLE, } Editors.

PITTSBURGH:

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 1, 1857.

To Our Patrons and Readers.

We have disposed of an interest in the GAZETTE establishment to Mr. D. F. WILLIAMS, who will henceforth be an equal partner with the other members of the firm in the ownership and editorial management of the paper. No change will be made in the name of the firm or in its business relations.

Mr. WILLIAMS has had much editorial experience in the Eastern part of the State, and is thoroughly acquainted with Pennsylvania politics. He is a warm Republican, and he brings to the discharge of his duties in this new position an ardent zeal for the promotion of the great political principles to the advocacy of which the GAZETTE has so long been devoted.

The course of the paper will therefore remain the same; but with the additional force thus acquired we hope to add materially to its efficiency and attractiveness.

We feel inclined to congratulate ourselves, and trust the future will enable our numerous kind friends to join with us in these congratulations, that each department of our paper will now receive the personal care and supervision of one of the proprietors, who are all deeply interested in the advancement of the city and who will strive in every way to make the Gazette valuable and interesting to all classes of our citizens.

S. RIDDLE & Co.

PITTSBURGH, May 1, 1857.

It will be seen by the foregoing announcement, that the undersigned has purchased an interest in the Pittsburgh Gazette, and that hereafter he will assume a portion of the responsibilities that attend its publication. As the additional participation of a single individual in the management of this hitherto well conducted journal, cannot affect its position or character, and as the labors and cares of the establishment will be liberally shared by his abler and more experienced associates, he will not indulge in remarks of a professional character, which, under different circumstances, the occasion might demand. Aware that even the lightest labors of a newspaper establishment severely tax the energy and ability of those who assume them, he will endeavor to prepare to meet the duties which the future may impose on him, and perform them to the extent of his limited powers, always trusting that the considerate kindness and patience of his readers will overlook such errors and defects as may be presented to their notice.

But whatever future responsibilities may be devolved upon the writer of these lines, another feeling occupies his mind, on this occasion.—As a member of the great Republican party he experiences a feeling of self-gratulation—if not of pride—in the circumstance that the field of his political labors in future will be the Republican city of Pittsburgh—a city whose whole history is a magnificent illustration of the moral grandeur of the leading principles of the party of Freedom—a city which is at the same time an important outpost of the great valley of the Ohio, and one of the most powerful strongholds of Republicanism. Its great factories—its mammoth warehouses—its splendid storerooms are all tributes to the power and efficacy of Free Labor, more eloquent than language can portray, while the well known attachment of a majority of the citizens to the great measures of the Republican party causes it to stand before the whole country as the citadel of Freedom. Although a stranger in this community, unknown to the people who compose it, these considerations have established a bond of good feeling which he hopes will terminate in enduring friendship.

D. F. WILLIAMS.

SALE OF THE PUBLIC WORKS.—The fact that a sentiment is abroad in the State favorable to a sale of the Main Line on fair honorable and equitable grounds is, it would seem, to be taken advantage of to procure the passage of a bill for disposing of it to a corporation whose interest it will be to discontinue the canal on its western division, and leave a large and important portion of the western part of this State to get the products of its industry to market in any way it can. The fifth section of the bill which has recently passed the House provides that:

Immediately after the said purchaser or purchasers or their assigns shall take possession of the same (the line of works) the said purchaser purchasers or assigns shall be bound ever thereafter to keep up in good repair and operating condition the line of said railroad and canal extending from Hollidaysburg to Philadelphia, and so much of the Western division as lies between Blairsville and Pittsburgh until the North Western railroad shall be opened for business from Blairsville to Pittsburgh with necessary toll-houses, etc., etc.

The italics above are our own, and we have made them to mark a peculiar distinction and an evident discrimination against the interests of this city and Western Pennsylvania. We are certain that any sale of the public works upon conditions marked throughout for the purpose of catching a particular customer, discriminating in favor of one portion of the State at the expense of the other is far, very far from what we mean in our advocacy of the sale of the Main Line. Is it not possible to sell those works without selling the people and the State at the same time to some corporation? Will our legislators bear in mind that hundreds and thousands of people along the canal, for example up the valley of the Allegheny river, have invested their moneys, devoted their industry and improved, otherwise almost worthless tracts of land, under an implied contract with the State that the highway she had opened should be continued to them? The Allishony may be considered an unnavigable river, practically. Except during seasons of flood in the spring or fall, it is of no advantage as a means of approach from the regions rich in ores, timber and other products of human industry, which lie along its banks. The canal which now gives so ample means of conveyance is a continued source of profit to us, and is almost indispensable to the people that live beside it and within reach of it. Will the State dispose of her works to a company or an individual, or a corporation whose interest it will be to make this canal a nuisance? Yes; the discontinued canal throughout its whole length wherever it extends will become a public nuisance, and the moneys of the State will have been expended for making a receptacle of stagnant waters and unspeakable filth. The Soda and Salt manufacturers, whose petition we published a day or two since, spoke in the most reasonable language and in a calm and considerate tone of what would be to them an actual calamity. What now is a means of comfort and convenience to them would be a continued eyesore, a filthy slough foul with pestilential vapors.—These things are of course well understood by our readers, and we merely hint at them as among the evils, minor ones perhaps, incident to the sale contemplated in the bill which has recently passed the House.

We have no doubt that a large majority of the people of the State, like the petitioners at Tarentum, is in favor of such a sale of the Public Works as shall take them out of the clutches of party plunderers, and oust the political paupers that feed at the public crib on the strength of being officials of some sort on these works; but that majority does not desire to exchange the frying pan for the fire. An analysis of this bill shows plainly for what customer the conditions of sale are prepared. Let us have a fair open bargain or no sale. Better to endure the ills we have than fly to others which we know not of.

A LETTER from the wife of Crawford, the Sculptor, to a gentleman in Philadelphia, is published in the Evening Bulletin of that city. She ... and of course, relatively, account of ... husband's malady and his ... which we infer that the ... that there ...

Public Meeting.

The citizens of Pittsburgh and vicinity are hereby invited to assemble in public meeting at the rooms of the Board of Trade, on Friday evening, May 1st, 1857, at 7½ o'clock, to give expression to their views on the bill pending in the Legislature, to sell the Main Line of the Public Works to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and to loan the credit of the State to the Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company to the extent of Three Millions of Dollars.

FACTS TO BE CONSIDERED.—To show the rascality which has been practiced in the Kansas elections the Tribune remarks that the result of the recent election for Mayor of the city of Leavenworth, and the number of votes polled, when compared with the State election of Oct. 6, 1856, only six months previous, affords some curious indications. At the recent election for Mayor, there can be no doubt that both parties did their best, and polled all the votes they could muster. The result was 846 votes for Adams, the Free-Soil candidate, 183 for Shannon, and 20 for Taylor, being an aggregate of 598 votes for all the candidates—just about the vote that might be expected in a town of some 1,500 inhabitants.

Now, compare this with the vote of October last. Upon that occasion, out of the 4,276 votes cast for Whitfield as Congressional Delegate, and by virtue of which he not only drew his pay but sat in Congress as the recognized delegate of the Territory, not less that 1,458 were given in the town of Leavenworth alone—more than the whole resident population—men, women and children; for it must be recollected that, about a month previous, by way of preparing for an election then to be held for municipal officers, more than a hundred of the principal Free-State men, with their families, had been violently expelled from the city by an armed mob, headed by the same Emory whom Mr. Buchanan has just rewarded for this and other similar political services by a lucrative appointment in the Land Office.

GOVERNOR AND SECRETARY STAUNTON.—Inspector, the Washington Correspondent of the N. Y. Courier writes to that paper that the course of Mr. Acting Governor Staunton in Kansas is just what was expected there when he was appointed: although only Secretary, he assumes the functions of Governor, and issues an address, comprising a manifesto of his intentions. He confirms and adopts the pretended laws of the legislatures, and recognises all the officers appointed by them for the government of the Territory without the consent of the people. This is all the Pro-Slavery party have ever asked, and they must necessarily be fully satisfied. They have seen their most wicked instruments appointed to the best offices, and have their hands full of the money voted for the support of their local government. They have too, what they have all along desired, a Southern Governor. Mr. Walker is in New York, and, it is said, proposes some time next month to set out for Kansas, but why he should go nobody understands. The laws which his colleagues, Staunton, approves in his absence, deprive him of all power, and leave the Governor a jackdaw stripped of his feathers."

The South newspaper has a long argument to prove that Tobacco is the support of slavery in Virginia, which it concludes thus, "Tobacco, then, is the support of slavery in Virginia. It creates in the State a demand for negro labor, which checks the rapid current of Southern slave emigration. Men, pro-slavery men, will not keep slaves out of mere love for the institution. They will sell their negroes and employ free labor when the value of slaves gets so high, as it soon may, that they find it to their interest to make the exchange. That can never be the case in the cultivation of tobacco. Like cotton, its growth is limited to a particular region and a special sort of labor, and that labor will be in demand while tobacco is in demand. So, the price of tobacco will determine the vitality, strength, and may be, the duration of slavery in Virginia."

THE STEAMER LYONNAIS.—A short time ago, the American ship Adriatic, which struck and sunk the French screw steamer Lyonnais, entered a port of France. The moment of the Captain's arrival in France, a suit was brought against him for damages. The Tribunal of Commerce of Marseilles has given judgment in the case, declaring that the Captain of the Adriatic was in no way to be blamed, and that public opinion was wrong in imputing to him a neglect of duty in pursuing his course after the accident. This judgment, is elaborately drawn up, and based upon a thorough investigation of the whole question.

THE CROPS.—We have seen in our exchanges, letters from Charlestown, S. C., Austin, and Galveston in Texas, Muscogo Co. Georgia; Dan. bridge Tenn; Mobile Ala. Des Arc, Arkansas, Baton Rouge La. and other parts of the country the tone of all which are similiar to the following which is from Galveston, an extreme Southern point of the Republic:

"It is some eight years since we have had so cold and backward a season. A frost has appeared every few days, to kill the cotton as fast as it appeared above the ground. On the 9th and 11th, we had frost to kill all that was up, and this morning the weather is cold enough for another. The damage is as great as reported in the newspapers."

We have another contradiction of the reports of Indian murders in Minnesota. Gen. Shields has written a letter, dated the 15th instant, in which he pointedly contradicts the stories of the barbarities at Mankato, and stating that there is neither hostility, nor a sign of hostility, among the Indian tribes in the territory. This is confirmed by other authorities.

MEETING TO-NIGHT.—By the call, numerously signed, which appears in our columns to-day, it will be seen that a meeting relative to the sale of the canal, will be held to-night. Do not fail to attend.

THE Lebanon Valley Railroad between Lebanon and Reading, will be in order for the running of trains, early in June next.

THE National Intelligencer, in noting the recent letting of mail routes in the middle and eastern States, says:

"The proposals are all on a much higher rate, probably twenty-five per cent., than those offered from the same States four years ago. This is quite natural, when it is considered that, since that period, there have been large advances in the prices of labor as well as in horses, coaches, and all the appurtenances of mail transportation. Indeed, from the comparatively small number of proposals for so many important routes, we apprehend that many an enterprising and responsible man has been compelled to throw down the reins on account of the ruinous prices in that severe part of our country, where health, life, and stock are perilled during the long periods of their rigorous winters.

The decisions on railroad and steamboat service are all deferred for a short time, to enable the Department to confer more fully with the proprietors respectively."

A DISPATCH from Washington to the New York Times says:

ELISHA WHITTLESEY will retire this week from the First Comptrollership of the Treasury. He intended to make an award in the Ramsey and Cormick case when prepared, but has dropped the case in consequence of the interposition of the Attorney General, whereat he feels deeply aggrieved. He pronounces it an unjustifiable and unprecedented interference.

The pettifogging Attorney General, having decided in favor of the Thompson robbery, will of course find it easy to help all the other ravenous claimants upon the Treasury. It is of no use for any man, not even Whittlesey, to stand in the way of the plunderers. They have got the way open to the Treasury, thanks to the Attorney General, and they cannot be kept back.

THE most credulous people, now-a-days, are your Buchanier democrats. There is no story concerning their opponents too silly for them to believe. The following ridiculous stuff is seriously put forward in the New York correspondence of the Pennsylvanian:

The rumor is, that a scheme is on foot to get up a "fugitive slave hunt" at the commencement of the week, in order to increase public interest in the deliberations of these "abolitionists for freedom." The plan is to get a "free nigger" to play fugitive, so that Marshal Rynders and his posse may be brought out to catch him, and thus furnish a new pretext for denouncing the Supreme Court decision.

This is a rascally plot, but what are these agitators not capable of?

THE editor of the Iowa Reporter, calls with a stentorian voice for ladies to come West. He says: "The last census report shows that there are 38,610 more male than females in Iowa.—This was taken in June and does not include the Spring or Fall emigration. We are now minus at least 60,000 ladies, to make up our quota!"

GEN. CASS.—The Detroit Tribune says there is a democratic conspiracy to drive Gen. Cass from the Cabinet, and to substitute Robert J. Walker for him. The Detroit Free Press has opened up on the old gentleman, the nominal reason being the Detroit appointments, and other democratic presses are expected to follow.

It is said that a colony of five hundred Waldenses from Piedmont will emigrate to this country this season Their pastor is now in New York, having preceded them for the purpose of obtaining information in regard to the best place of settlement.

THE Capital Reporter, which has been published at Iowa City for the last seventeen years, has been discontinued. It has been what is termed a "Democratic paper," from beginning to end.

THE address of Rev. DR. BELLOWS, delivered at the Academy of Music in New York on Tuesday night last, in behalf of theatres and theatrical entertainments properly conducted, is making quite a sensation.

R. W. EMERSON, preached for Theodore Parker last Sunday at the Boston Music Hall as we see by the Boston papers, which remark that there was no reading of Scriptures, prayer, or benediction ending the service.

NATHANIEL BANKS, father of the Hon. N. P. Banks, Speaker of the last House, died at his residence in Waltham, Mass., on the 24th inst., aged 74 years.

THE name Minnesota first applied to the Minnesota River, has its origin in two Dakotah words 'Minnee' water, and 'Sota' whitish like the soil.

THE address of the President of the Board of Licensers will be found on our first page.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

HARRISBURG, April 29, 1857.

Editors Gazette:—The House on yesterday passed the following bills in which the West is interested: An Act to enable Robert W. Oliver, of Indiana county, to perfect the title of Richard M. Clark and others to certain real estate in Mercer co; an Act to alter an Act to more effectually prevent the destruction of insectiverous birds and for the better protection and preservation of game in the counties of Berks and Allegheny; an Act to incorporate the Johnstown Woolen Manufacturing Company.

The House was engaged this morning upon the amendments to the Constitution. They were passed finally without any alteration, and as they have passed the Legislature the two successive sessions they will be submitted to the people at the next October election for final ratification.

This afternoon the vote by which the democratic apportionment bill was lost on Monday was reconsidered and the bill then came up again. Mr. Struthers offered as a substitute the apportionment bill of 1850 as the bill to re apportion the State. This gave to the city of Philadelphia two Senators, and to the county three. This provision elicited a long discussion and indeed a very acrimonious one in which Mr. Knight of the county of Philadelphia spoke in support of the provision and Mr. Foster against it. It consumed the greater part of the afternoon.—This substitute was lost and then the bill as drawn by Gen. Foster passed by a large majority. A number of Americans and Republicans voted for it. They knew it was useless to vote against it. They knew they could not defeat it, and that the Senate would insist upon their bill and that a committee of conference would be appointed, and that they would settle upon a bill which both Houses would concur in finally, and they therefore were anxious that the matter should be determined as soon as possible.

The House is engaged upon banks to-night again. The Iron City Bank was reconsidered last night, and again came up to night and passed by a vote of 42 yeas to 36 nays. This result your readers will remember, I predicted two weeks ago. It is true, I did not predict that you would be allowed three, nor did I believe that you would. But such has been the case.

The Senate committee of Finance have had the bill for the sale of the Main Line under consideration for the last two nights. There seems to be some difficulty about reporting it. It seems to be conceded that an amendment will be inserted subjecting the Pennsylvania Railroad to local taxation should it become the purchaser. If it be reported with this amendment I suppose it will have the effect of conciliating much of the opposition your people have manifested to the bill in its present shape. It is possible, too, that provision will be made for keeping open temporarily, say for ten years, the line of the Public Works from Blairsville to your city. This would obviate the only other objection I have as yet seen advanced.

B.

[This would not obviate the objections to the bill. The people of the West wish to see the whole line kept open, without limitation.—Eds. Gazette.]

A WONDERFUL "LEAD."—Some person writing from Galena gives an account of a wonderful discovery of lead ore near Hazel Green, Wis. It is considered good for six millions of pounds of mineral. The fortunate discoverer, who is an Englishman by the name of Mills, can take one hundred thousand dollars for his "show" as it stands.

SCARCITY OF PROVISIONS.—Northern Michigan papers complain of a scarcity of provisions in their section of the State. Instances of great suffering and almost starvation, in particular neighborhoods, are reported. Property has been sacrificed at ruinous prices, and farms mortgaged to obtain the means of sustenance.

AN ASSIGNMENT.—The directors of the Lancaster (Pa.) Savings Institution appeared in court on Saturday and made an assignment of its effects. T. L. Roberts is the assignee. It is thought the institution will pay about fifty cents on the dollar when its affairs are closed up.

ANDREW LEVY, a colored man, whose mother resides at Westmoreland, Pa., and who has two sisters at Bayton, was killed at the wharf at Cincinnati, on Monday evening, in an affray with some boatmen.

PRESIDENT BUCHANAN has not, it is stated, entirely recovered from the effects of the National Hotel disease. The "Slater" says he had had another, though not very severe attack. He was, however, out yesterday in apparent good health.

FREE LANGUAGE.—The London Morning Herald pronounced recently in a leading article, that by his recent letter Lord Malmesbury has earned for himself a temporary immortality.

The New York Journal of Commerce says that there is not a State in the Union but has been visited by frost or snow, or both, during the month of April.

MARRIED—On Thursday evening, April 30th, by the Rev. DAVID E. Nevin, of Scott Twp., Mr. HERMAN VEEDER, of Nebraska Territory, to Miss HANNAH ADAIR, of this city.
