this morning gave their final decision in the case of the contested election for District Attorney, declaring that Mr. Mann was elected. This decision must lead to curious results. Mr. Cassi-dy has hitherto held the office by virtue of his rdy nas nitherto held the office by virtue of his certificate of election, which is now annulled.—
Mr. Mann, who is now declared to have been legally elected, is also District Attorney by appointment of the Court, under the new law passed hast winter. Mr. Cassiday is, therefore, out of office, unless the Court should appoint him as they lately appointed Mr. Mann.—Phila. Bulletin.

BRITISH POWER IN INDIA.—Lord Ellenboro', who has so large an acquaintance with Indian affairs, recently said in Parliament:

"We know not the danger to which such a state of things may give rise. In short, my lords, we are really—and I trust her Majesty's ministers are alive to the full extent of the danger—we are really in a position in which it becomes necessary for us to use every effort which the country can make to maintain—perhaps it may be to recover—that great empire which we have acquired in the East."

COUNTEMENT ON THE N. W. BANK OF VINGINIA.—Vesterday a most ruinously accurate counterfeit upon the ten dollar notes of the North Western Bank of Va., payable at the Wellsburg Franch made its appearance in this city. Two of them were taken on deposit at the Merchants and Mechanics Bank, and one of them at the North Western. They are unususally perfect in their execution and would deceive almost any one, as may be readily inferred from their being taken at the above named banks.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

A consspondent of the New York Times describes a visit to the plantation of a gentleman who owns and keeps within the Territory of Knassa over one hundred slaves. The patriarchal establishment of this slave-owner is, in all respects, a model one, and interesting narrative given exhibits "Squatter Sovereignty" in quite a new light.

Rome and New York

It is now twenty years since the aged Bishop Dubois laid on his death bed, and, in reply to the daily and dutiful call of John, Bishop of Basilcopolis, his condituor, with the right of succession, responded: "I am better—much better." Neither mitred nor crowned heads love to see the forms of their successors darkening the sick chamber; and the shadow which the stalwart presence of Bishop Hughes cast upon the bed-side of the old French perlate seemed like the first almonition of that Yalley of Death, into which, in spite of his assurances that he was better, he was fast hastening, and soon sank.

Twenty years have passed, and the same shadow falls athwart the path of his successor—not upon his death-bed, but prematurely upon his unconscious daily walk. How well, or how ill, the Roman Catholic Prelate has administered his great trust, it is not for us to say. He has not escaped accusation. For years he has not only set aside all rivalry, and repressed all recusancy, but substantially nullified the position of every ecclesiastic whose talents or influence. not escaped accusation. For years no una not only set aside all rivalry, and repressed all recusancy, but substantially mullified the position of every ecclesiastic whose talents or influence could be brought into comparison with his own. To one of urbane manners and social tastes he would give the charge of a rude and unformed when the charge of a rude and unformed to the charge of the charge would give the charge of a rude and unformed congregation. To another, a bankrupt church; to another, an insubordinate congregation. On the other hand, he lifted up the lowly, the ignorant, and the uncouth, and he soon gathered about him a body guard of ecclesinaties of whom he was facile princeps; and in the Diocese of New About till a body guard of ecclesinatics of whom he was facile princeps; and in the Diocese of New York, more liberally perhaps than anywhere else in the Roman Church, was the Divine word less in the Roman Church, was the Divine word realized, Bea's sunt pauperes animi.

But is this the accusation upon which it is said the Pope is now called upon to terminate the Episcopal functions of John Hughes? By no means! Rome would not heed such a charge; nor would it give car to the representations which it is said, have been made long since to the Holy See, that the Catholic cause in America has suffered alike from the inordinate pretensions and the inexplicable inefficiency of His Grace. In a city through which three millions of Catholics have entered, since he has had charge of the Biocess of New York—in a city which numbers more professors of the faith than Rome itself—his accusers asy that there is not a monument of Catholic power or influence, not an institution perfected; and that he alone has seemed unconscious of the movement of that living host, whose presence and influence have invited the attention and alarmed the jenlousy of the Protestant people of these States. Everywhere else they say the Church is an organization, with a policy, with a great framework of institutions, to be filled up as time shall afford the means. Here it is seid by members of the Church, it is a chaos without form and void. Not even an architectural structure worthy of a powerful and wealthy community—not a well-organized charity—normanity—not a well-organized charity—ormanity—not a we real structure worthy of a powerful and wealthy community—not a well-organized charity—not in institution of learning that commands reand not the statesmanship of a prelate of the Church.

And yet even these accusations have passed unheeded by Rome. The mere serious inculpation for which Clergy of the Archdiocese, now present in the Eternal City, invoke the thunders of the Vatican, is that the Primate of New York has omitted to notice the declaration of the Morth Camons, Allegheny City, and the turned his back and fled to Cuba when the Nuncio of Pins Ly., assailed by the press, hooting of the Immaculate Conception; and that he turned his back and fled to Cuba when the Nuncio of Pins Ly., assailed by the press, hooting of the Immaculate Conception; and that he had to come the conception of the Morth Camons, Allegheny City.

It is difficult for the Archive pint, are nothing compared with offences which imply indifference on one side, this sensitiveness on the other; but the fact, we believe, is not less true, and our readers need not be surprised for the Victar of Christon earth.

It is difficult for the American mind to realize this indifference on one side, this sensitiveness on the other; but the fact, we believe, is not less true, and our readers need not be surprised of Cardinals have designated a condjutor to the Archbishop, with the right of succession, or with still more painful severity have designated admin the best of the Morth Camons, and conditions to the control of the submittations of the Diocese, into whose hands are situated in the most thickly, settled part of this offairs shall pass, thus virtually deposing the present incumbent.

But the harshness of the measure will, doubtless, be concealed under the honied phrases and deferential forms in which churchmen dispute.
