Eli Theyer in the "Old Dominion." Some few months since, when it was announced that Eli Thayer, and other Northern capitalists, had in contemplation the purchase of a large portion of the worn-out lands of Virginia, for the laudable purpose of converting them into good and productive farms, the Yankee hating "chivalry" of that State were all up in arms at the contemplated "Northern invasion."

The Enquirer and the South—the pro-slavery journals of Richmond—fairly boiled over with indignation, and no languageseemed sufficiently violent to express the wrath occasioned by this really excellent proposition, which had for its object the foture wealth and prosperity of the springer Commonwealth." Subsequent more really excellent proposition, which had are as object the future wealth and prosperity of the ancient Commonwealth. Subsequent movements; however, have convinced us that these did depending alone upon trick and chicanery for depending alone upon trick and chicanery for the state of the stat babitual agitors and professional Hotspurs did not represent the entire sentiment of Virginia. in this State-"native and to the manor born." and entirely free from the charge of abolition ism-whose vision is not bounded by the dark hearts some of that old fashioned patriotism and love of country, which in other times, made Virginia an object of reverence and respect to all classes of the American people. They love their State and its cherished interests more than they love the institution of slavery, and are therefor not prepared to reject well-intended and wholesome aid, even at the bidding of Sectionalists who too long have been permitted to wield their iron sceptre to the serious injury of those whose interests they profess to guard. Eli Thaver, we are pleased to state, has appeared in Virginia and instead of having been subjected to the treatment blandly promised him by the Richmond newspapers, he has been received with open arms and courteous encouragement. The Suvandotte Unionist, of the 25th ultimo, contains the proceedings of a public meeting composed of highly respectable and influential citizens of that neighborhood, at which Mr. Thayer was t by invitation, and addressed the audience on his land project. He was listened to with marked attention, and succeeded in making a very favorable impression on his hearers. The nittee appointed to draft a preamble and resolutions "expressive of the sense of the meeting," reported the following, which it does one's heart good to read in these times of prejudice and violence, when brute force frequently takes the place of rational argument and sound rea they were adopted unanimously. They read thus:

Whereas: The Legislature of New York has chartered a company that design, as we have been informed by the Hon. Eli Thayer, the President of that company, purchasing land in Virginia, and settling the same with intelligent, industrious and enterprising agriculturists, mechanics and miners; and, whereas, a few leading men, influenced, as we believe, by a wrong conception of the objects of the Estate against Mr. Thayer and his company, which Estate against Mr. Thayer and his company, which Estate against Mr. Thayer and his company, which expenses the present advised, believe to be an act of injustice towards them, calculated to militate against the interest of Western Virginia, and give to citizeus of other States an incorrect impression of the opin

"It was not his purpose to address them on meta-physics, religion or politics, but their mutual wants. He represented the Homestead Aid Society, and they could gommand capital, and influence the concentra-tion of skillful operators, while in Cabelli and Wayne could command capital, and influence the concentration of skillful operators, while in Cabelll and Wayne counties he found a country more capable of making its population independent of all other sections than any other portion of the country he had noticed. He found here fine agricultural districts unoccupied, a rich mineral region undeveloped, and the people importing from other States their agricultural implements and farmiture, when the wood and the iron in its crade state, and the coal for fact, are here in abundance. In Massachusetts an immense sum is produced from the work-shops and manufactories, but this is not all clear profit; from it must be dedacted the cost of the raw material, which generally has to be transported from the South or the West.— You, then, want skillful men and espitat to build up your country, and we want land (and the raw material. You can supply our wants—we can supply yours. If we purchase land here, it will be divided into small farms, which will be cultivated so as to be made to produce as much per aero as possible. It is a carse to any country to have but few landholders. England was cursed when she had but one landholder—William the Conqueror—less curred is a carse to any country to have but few landholders. England was cursed when she had but one landholder-William the Conqueror—less cursed when she had more landholders under the aristocracy, and still cursed by having but few. We are falsely charged with a design of buying up fictitions land titles by the Kanawha Valley Star, and some other papers in the State. As yet, we have purchased no land, and shall not, upless we can obtain for it a clear and indisputable title, such as Mr. Laidly, or rome one as competent to decide, will any is unexceptionable."

In reply to the questions why he addressed the people on this subject, and why he did not proceed at once, as as he had a legal right to do, and purchase all the land desired for the comthe emigrant was shivering with chills and fevers and is compelled to endure all the hardships of a new country ; and declared the object of the company of which he is at the head, to be that with the following remarks:

"It is absurd to suppose that we would come her and bring our wives and children to get into quar rels and difficulties—steal your slaves—or violat slaves—see can do better without them; we like engine power better than negro power, because thattind of servants don't run off—don't sulk nor tire—it will work night and day without murmuring, requires no food, and costs less; yet, if you should prefer negro power, we have no right to and nover will interfere with your right to employ it. There are two classes of politicians he never admired—those who desired and those who feared a dissolution for the Tiron: he did not believe it possible, and did of n conclasion, Mr. Thayer requested that there should be no local judiouses excited in reference to the site that might hereafter be selected, upon which to commence their operations and demanded to be informed of the weak point, if any, in this policy, and the use of the late and cry against them. In answer to a question from the Rer. J. O. Rees, as to how the stock of the Company was raised, he replied, as bank stock is usually raised. The charter authorized them to raise a capital stock of $200,000 to $3,000,000. They met at the Astor House, Kew York, when the stock was taken in 30 minutes—sixty thousand by Virginians."

The proceedings in Parliament the week ending the 18th, owe their interest to the debates which have taken place in both Houses: respecting the present perilous state of our Indian empire. The Government is putting forth superhuman power for the despatch of troops to that part of the world. Recruiting has commenced vigorously, and 2000 more seamen are to be enrolled. It is intended to strengthen the Bengal army at least 25,000 mor. The force which had been opportioned by Ching has been intercepted at Point de Galle by Lord Canning, with the approval of the home authorities. To fill up the vacuum, a battalion of marines will be despatched to Hong Kong without delay. The Persian war at an end, will enable the troops which took part in that service to be thrown into Upper India. and 5000 soldiers will be sent from the Cape to the same destination forthwith. The task of reconquering and reconstructing Critish India, as it is now regarded has been set about with extraordinary vigor and energy.
