THE SKPOYS.—The history of the Sepoy revolt, still recking with blood and full of horrors, brings us down to the middle of August. At that time out of about 100,000 native soldiers in Bengal but nineteen regiments of infantry and six of cavalry remained true to their standard.

Movino Produce. There is an impression abroad that the farmers of the country are averse to selling their produce, owing to the unsettled state of the ourrency and the low prices prevalent. We are assured, however, by those who have been through the country lately, that such is not the case. The mills and storehouses are everywhere full of grain and flour, waiting to be forwarded, the holders of which are extremely anxious to sell. Now that the rivers are up we have no doubt there will be a movem of the large quantities thus stored away. The only reason why it is not now coming for is to be found in the difficulty of transportation The St. Louis Democrat says:

The St. Louis Democrat says:

"Many say the panic lies with the farmers, who want big prices and won't ship their grain. A gestleman from the Illinois giver, informed us to-day, that this is not so. The farmers, he says, are just as hard pushed to pay their debts as the merchants of the city, and would forward the grain and submit to the sacrifice of low prices at once, were there any demand." ces at once, were there any demand.'
