to condiane specie payment.' We fear that the banks officers have been actuated in this deter-mination more by a desire to preserve their charters than by any regard for the interests of the community. It is true that some of the banks have not been heard from since the silfs pension in New York, New England, and New Orleans, but we apprehend that the telegraph will bring the intelligence to-day of a general suspension, and if this should be the case, we can but think that a suspension of the Kentucky banks would greatly promote the interests of her citizens and enable the banks to return at a much earlier period than an attempt to continue specie payment under such circum stances.'' A dispatch from Louisville states : Louisvitte, Oct. 15.—The Kentucky banks are awaling the action of the Kentucky do the same. The feeling in money matters is gen-erally cheerful. The Cincinnati Gazette eags: "The banking business of the country is now writually placed upon a paper banis. Resolutions were also passed expressing confidence in the Suffolk Bank system, and re-fusing to take bills not redeemed in Boston.

are that the Louisians banks will follow the ex-ample set by New York. "The three States named must, therefore, suspend, or maintain specie payments nominally folly, i.e., pay if not called upon. Many of the banks are now about the same as suspended, be-ing guarded by mobe. This is no better than a formal assignation. By thus guarding the banks the specie standard may be sustained, but not otherwise." In either case, for all practical pur-poses, their paper will be no better. than that of some other suspended banks."
