A HARRISDURG correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes:

"What have we to do with the rascality of the Republicans in not appearing at the polls and voting for delegates to the Constitutional Convention? We know that they were advised by the New York Tribune, and others of that school, to absent themselves from the polls, and thus throw the responsibility of the action of that Convention on the Democratic party? We know full well, too, that this was done in the hope that the Convention would put a clause in the Constitution sanctioning slavery, and thus our party be justly made subject to the charge of desiring to extend slavery into that territory. Bus what was our answer to this? Did we not answer, that even if this were true, no harm could arise, because the people would in the end be called upon to raitify or reject the constitution? And now, in the face of this, are we to eat our words, and tell the people wedecrived them? The Democratic party has always been honest in her course, and she is now too old to lie."

There is some doubt in our minds about that last assertion, in a marked degree, to the white races which inhabit this constraints.

The Newberry (N. C.) Rising Sun contains a long article intended to prove "that the negro race is inferior, in a marked degree, to the white races which lighthight this constraints."

THE Newberry (N. C.) Riving Sun contains a long article intended to prove "that the negro race is inferior, in a marked degree, to the white races which inhabit this country." Where upon the Washington Republic concludes that it is a great folly to attempt, as the South is doing to spread this inferior race over our own vasi territories.

Ma. Theray's 2,331 majority imparted a gentle glow to the eurface of society yesterday. Most men looked happy as they came down to their business, and as there was nothing throughout the day to vary the result that was announced in the morning, the whole tows wore as bright holidsy look. Many of the yessels in the harbor had all thair flags flying, and several pilot boats went out to sea with their burgees out almost as large as their jibs, announcing the good news that "we had conquered our King." Many of the public houses in the subtrant cities, as well as in the metropolis proper, had their colors out; fireworks were exhibited from the house fronts of some distinguished citizens, whose joy over the defeat of Wood was too vigorous and rampant to be satisfied with less demonstrative, sacinors of expression. Several North Eivensteamors, as they passed Tiemans's paint factory at Menhatlauville, ran up their colors and rang the bell in compliment to the Immaculate church, visiting this city from Quebeo, and stappling at the Eim House, having on Saturday. "put an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains," became uproarlous, profane and dangerous; and having broken the furniture of his room, set the bed clothes an fire, and knocked down the waiters, was ellipreed into custedy of the police for safe keeping. He spent the is Sabath in penitent reveries within the walls of the jail.—Portland Ado.
