NEW YORK ADVERTISEMENTS.

From ALBERT G. RICHARDSON'S ADVERTISING AND CORresponding Office, 360 Broadway, New York.

IT IS NOT A DYE.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER. Gray haired, Bald, or persons with diseases of hair, or scalp read the following and judge of the articles.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S ZYLOBALSAMUM, or World's Hair Dressing, is essential to use with the Restorer, and is the best Hair Dressing for old or young extant, being often efficacious in cases of hair falling, &c., without the Restorer.

REV. H. V. DUZAN, Editor Guide to Holiness. "We can testify to its efficacy" &c.

PRESIDENT J. H. EATON, LL. D., Murfreesboro' Tenn. "Notwithstanding irregular use, the falling off of hair ceased, and in my gray locks restored to original color," &c.

REV. S. B. MORLEY, Attleboro', Massachusetts. "It has changed the Crown of Glory," belonging to old men, to the original hue of youth," &c.

REV. M. THACHER, "(60 years of age,) Pitcher, Chenango county, New York. "My hair is now restored: it is nothing like a dye," &c.

REV. D. T. WOOD, Middletown, New York. "My own hair, and that of another of my family, has greatly thickened, where almost bald," &c.

REV. JAMES McKEE, New York City, Recommends it, &c.

REV. ST. JORTERS, Saunders, Conn. "It has met my most sanguine expectations, &c.

REV. J. F. GRISWOLD, Washington, N. H. "It is really efficacious in restoring the hair," &c.

REV. O. M. SPRATT, Lewisburgh, Pennsylvania. "We can and do cheerfully recommend it," &c.

REV. J. P. TUSTIN, Charlestown, South Carolina. "The white hair has become reinvited," &c.

REV. AMOS BLANCHARD, Meredith, N. H. "We think was blebly of your preparation," &c.

REV. B. C. SMITH, Pittsburgh, N. Y. "I was surprised to find my hair turn as when I was young," &c.

REV. C. M. CLINE, Lewiston, Pennsylvania. "It has stopped my hair falling and started a new growth."

REV. A. FRISK, Chautauqueensity, New York. "I am satisfied and recommend it."

REV. D. MORRIS, Orono River, New York. "It is the best preparation extant."

REV. WILLIAM CUTTER, Editor Mother's Magazine, New York. "Recommends it."

☞We might swell this list, but if not convinced, TRY IT! We export the preparation to Europe and many of the States are supplied with it. Sold by all the principal wholesale and retail merchants in the United States, Cuba and Canada.

DEPOT, 355 BROOME STREET, N. Y.

OSCILLATING STEAM ENGINES,

PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

AFTER a thorough practical test for over three years the success of our Engines warrants us in offering them to the publicas being unequalled for economy of fuel, simplicity and cheapness of construction, compactness and durability; combining all the advantages (including working steam expansively) of the high pressure Engine, and at the same time dispensing with all cams, eccentrics, rock-shafts, cross-heads, slide-valves, &c., saving their cost of construction and necessary waste of power in running. We have large number in daily operation in this city and vicinity; also, in the States of Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and in the city of Mexico, all giving the greatest satisfaction.

The Patent Right for Great Britain, and Shop Rights in all parts of the United States, for sale on reasonable terms. We invite all persons interested to call and examine our Engines and their reputation.

We are prepared to fill orders for all sizes from four to one hundred or more horse power. mh14dawCmF

WHICH IS RIGHT?—The Pittsburgh Union, not very long since, thus spoke of the Calhoun Constitution:

"We assume here, what we believe to be the case, that the Constitution is in itself, reasonably unexceptionable: that the mode of submission is not seriously objectionable; and that the question of slavery is fully, unhesitatingly, and in good faith, submitted to a vote of the whole people.'

On the other hand, the Charleston Mercury, a plain, outspoken paper, which has no motive for concealment, says

"The indications are most decided that the Black Republicans in Kansas will not vote on the clause of the constitution relative to slavery, to be submitted for rejection or acceptance by the people. The reason assigned for their not voting is this: If they vote at all, they sanction the work of the Convention and vote practically for the Constitution, which ratifies the previous laws with respect to slavery; whilst the question whether slavery shall exist or continue in the Territory is not touched. It remains an an existing institution, not in any way affected or affected. This is true. As a practical fact, the question of slavery or no slavery is not submitted to the people.

Now, one of these two is wrong; and all past history assures us that the South never makes a mistake in the bearings of political movements so far as they affect slavery. The Mercury is undoubtedly right, and its candor is a withering rebuke to those in the North who are striving to mislead public opinion.

The Scene in the Senate.

(Correspondence of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—There has rarely been a more interesting scene than that witnessed in the Senate Chamber to-day, when the debate upon the Kansas question was opened by Senator Douglas. The reports give an outline sketch, which is faithful as far as it goes. But no reports can fairly represent the great points of the picture: the prowess, the skill and manliness of the Illinois Senator, and the pitiable discomfiture of the rash Pennsylvanian, Mr. Bigler, who insanely entered the lists as champion for the President.

Among the many Pennsylvanians present there was not one who did not feel ashamed that the President had no better man to rely on. Even Mr. Bigler himself felt his weakness and while aiming to be a leader, felt compelled to disavow his leadership in order to give it an appearance of strength. He was signally defeated in every encounter with the Illinois Senator and both in argument and in repartee he was totally confounded.

One of the most striking scenes of the session was that where Bigler divulged the fact that there had been private interviews of leading Democratic politicians, at Mr. Douglas's house in Washington, during the Presidential campaign; in the course of which it was resolved that, for some consideration not named, a Constitution for Kansas should be prepared and not submitted to the people. Mr. Bigler admitted this, and intimated that it was with the participation of Mr. Douglas. But Douglas put him to the proof, and it was melancholy to see the painful embarrassment of Bigler and his terrible confusion as he was compelled, in answer to the indignant questions of Douglas, to admit that the latter had nothing to do with this secret understanding. Bigler and all the Democratic leaders ought to be still more confused at the evidence that, while the people were made to believe that a Constitution should be framed and submitted to the people, the party managers had secretly resolved that it should not be so submitted. The deception of the last campaign is thus made more apparent than ever.

It was indeed mortifying to every Pennsylvanian to witness first the speechless efforts of the Senator shamelessly avowing a participation in such a fraud as this. But the wretched embarrassment of the man, when cornered and compelled to retract his charges by Senator Douglas was still more distressing. None but spectators of the scene can appreciate the effect of Douglas's scornful manner and Bigler's pitiable discomfiture. It is probable that no such scene was ever before witnessed in the Senate Chamber.

Thus far the strength of the contest on the Kansas Constitution is altogether with the Douglas wing of the Democracy. The President has been most triumphantly answered, but he has suffered most of all from the injudicious management and the great weakness of Mr. Bigler, who undertook to sustain him. By this time Mr. Bigler would probably be very glad to retire from the prominent position into which he so inconsiderately rushed.

The confusion of parties, which was great enough before the session opened, is even greater since the reception of the Message and the discussion of to-day. There are all sorts of heart-burnings and dissatisfactions among people of all parties, and the Pennsylvanians have rather more than their share of these, as well as of the public interest excited by them. In the strife which is to ensue, many places dispensed by the President, there have been some sore places caused which are likely to be troublesome for some time to come.

Among the affairs of this kind there is one relating to Hon. J. Glancy Jones, member of Congress from Berks county, that is particularly interesting. It will be remembered that Mr. Jones was, last Spring, a prominent candidate for a cabinet office, and it will also be remembered that he did not get it. It will also be remembered that, failing in this, Mr. Jones turned his attention to obtaining political or other advantage by other means. In the Fall it was announced, with quiten flourish, that Mr. Jones, this plain, unostentatious representative of plain, unostentatious Old Berks, had rented a house in Washington for $3000 a year—just the amount of his compensation as a member. This rather startled Old Berks, and inquiries were made in Washington to regard to the affair. By some means or other the contract for the lease of the house was produced and bore on its face corroboration of a rumor that had become current that Mr. Jones, in taking the house, was setting up the business of a broker of public offices: for the two persons who went his security for the payment of the rent were prominent applicants for important offices—the city Post Office and the Marshalship of the District of Columbia. No doubt Mr. Jones was to derive much advantage from this arrangement. The developments, as far as they have gone, have made a good deal of stir among the Pennsylvanians, and doubtless all of the facts will be laid before the constituents of the honorable gentleman. C.

We regret to learn that the corn crop has been very seriously damaged throughout the West, in consequence of early frosts and wet weather. From a gentleman who has been through a large portion of the State of Indiana, we learn that farmers are very much alarmed. The corn that has been put in the crib is heating, and purchasers refuse to buy it for any purpose, except where it can be used immediately in feeding hogs. In many places it is said to be difficult to find sound corn to answer for seed. We are aware of the general tendency to exaggerate reports of this character, but are satisfied that the corn crop has suffered very serious injury in Ohio, Indiana, and Southern Illinois. To what extent the yield will be reduced, we are not prepared to say, but some parties estimate the loss at one-third of the aggregate crop. The latter was large this season than in any former year, but the injury that has been suffered will probably reduce it to, if not below an average. —Cin. Gaz.
