Reassembling of the County Convention.

The delegates to the late County Republican Convention, will reassemble at the Court Room on WEDNESDAY the 6th of January, 1858, to put in nomination a candidate for Assembly, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the death of J. B. Backhouse.

By order of the Ex. Co. Com.

THE EIGHT KIND OF TALK.—Forney has got back to Philadelphia from Washington. He concludes a long article in defence of Douglas against the attacks of southern newspapers with the following paragraph, which has the ring of the true metal:

"We are a patient people, over this way. We have seen the The South and its allies opposing Mr. Buchanan's nomination, and doubting his devotion to them; we have stood calmly by, and witnessed their rule in Kansas, trusting the while, like submissive and enduring men, to the approaching recognition of the will of the majority; we have heard, with unruffled temper, the objurgations of legislators and of politicians in some of the slave States, against such Democrats as Walker and Stanton, because they would not become parties so forgery in Kansas: and now we are expected to bear the additional outrage upon Judge Douglas, and to see Gov. Walker's head carried before the conquering minority of the Lecompton Convention as a trophy of triumph. There is a point beyond which forbearance may cease to be a virtue. It has been reached, 'gentlemen of the South!'"

DISSOLUTION HINTED AT.—The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce writes:

"At the late session, a member remarked to one of the Senatorial leaders of the Republican Party that the Kansas issue was taken from them. 'No,' was the reply, 'it is good for ten years yet.'

"The question must be settled, and that speedily, and within the limits of the Democratic majority. I entertain apprehensions that I will hardly venture now to express, that from the imprudence of the Free State leaders in Kansas, and the feeling existing among members from the South, a new danger of more serious import than any that ever yet arose, now threatens the country."

This means, as we understand it, that if Congress will not admit Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, the South will secede from the Union, or threaten to do it. Well, let them try that, and see how it works.

OREGON A FREE STATE.—The attempt of the administration and its satellites to force Slavery upon the people of Oregon has proved a dead failure. A letter to the Tribune says:

"The election was held on the 9th inst. and our dates from Portland are to the 12th. We have heard from only seven counties, which contain not more than one-fourth of the whole population; but so far the vote is five to one against slavery."

There were three issues presented to the voters at the election: First, whether they should approve the Constitution and thereby signify their desire to be admitted as a sovereign and independent State into the Union; secondly, whether they would tolerate Slavery; and thirdly, whether they would permit free negroes to settle in the State. There are, as far as known, about two to one in favor of the Constitution and five to one against Slavery, and against Free Negroes.

The following is a concise and complete table of the figures so far as known:

	Constitution.		Slavery.		P. Negroes.
	Yes.	No.	Yes.	No.	Yes.	No.
Portland City	339	261	72	510	33	454
Multnomah County	104	57	28	124	16	82
Clackamas County	321	114	81	351	87	283
Washington County	153	11	40	227	32	225
Columbia County	21	50	3	60	7	71
Clatsop County	54	21	29	42	17	75
Total	992	594	252	1,324	249	1,204

Every precinct heard from has given a majority against Slavery.

Report says that Lamkiff has given a "majority," and Marion "800 majority" against Slavery. The total vote of the Territory is about 11,500.

It is probable that the vote on the three questions will bear about the same proportion in the districts to be heard from as in those from which we have the returns.

TO UNION LOVERS.—We clip the following from the New Orleans Picayune of Dec. 9th:

"Twenty-five Dollars Reward—Ran away from my plantation, on Tuesday night, the 8th inst., the slave CHARLES. Charles is about forty years old; is a very light mulatto; has redish hair and whiskers, is freckled, and might at first sight pass for a white man; speaks English and French; has good address. I will pay the above reward for his arrest and detention in any jail in the State. GEO. E. PAYNE.

St. Charles Courthouse Post Office."

If any "national democrat" is eager to save the Union, he may perhaps find this slave with red hair and whiskers, passing for a white man, and speaking English and French" somewhere hereabout. It would be a noble deed to catch and return him. We shall charge Mr. Payne nothing for this advertisement.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The Administration fear that the pro-slavery men in Kansas may adopt the pro-slavery clause at the polls and send it here with the Lecompton Constitution. Eight smart wire-pullers have been despatched to the territory to prevent this.

The Southern fire-eaters, here and elsewhere, are denouncing Douglas as "a Black Republican," and threaten him with assassination. But he heeds not their threats and denounces their policy.

He will offer the Toombs bill at the earliest opportunity, with a provision to submit it to the people of Kansas, and if that is rejected he will offer any other plan that may defeat the Lecompton constitution. The harder he is pressed the pluckier he is. He defends the course of acting Gov. Stanton in calling an extra session of the Legislature.

Mr. Dexter, a Buchanan Democrat, arrived here from Kansas last evening. He left Lawrence on the 4th instant, the day after acting Governor Stanton issued his proclamation calling a special session of the Territorial Legislature. He says the rejoicing over the fact was very great and was participated in by the Democrats as well as the Free State men. It was the only thing that could be done to avert a civil war, and he adds that so great was the indignation manifested by all parties, upon hearing that the President had sanctioned the Lecompton Constitution, and so thankful were they all towards Stanton for the noble part he had taken in responding to the wishes of the people, that he fears for the safety of Col Denver. He thinks they won't let him act unless the excitement is somewhat allayed before he reaches there.—Phila. Bulletin.

WARRINGTON ITEMS.—Douglas breakfasted with Col. Orr on Saturday morning. The Democratic members of the Senate have concluded not to throw Douglas off the Committees, nor to read him out of the party, if he will stop where he is; but they threaten, if he persists in his opposition to the Kansas policy of the President, to "cut him adrift and let him go down stream," to use one of their own expressions.

Mr. Jefferson Davis boasts that he intends to "wool Douglas" in a speech in the Senate.

It is said that there is to be a course of premeditated personal attacks upon Judge Douglas, with the expectation of intimidating him. The assault is to commence with a Missouri Senator.

Yesterday afternoon the wife of a planter, named Basil Hall, residing five miles from here, across the Potomac, got into a quarrel with a female slave, who at least seized her mistress and held her in the fire till she was burned so badly that she soon died.—Washington dispatch, to Tribune.

THE Leavenworth Journal, Jack Henderson's paper, has passed out of his hands, and is now organ of the Lecompton Constitution.

POOR BIGLER.—The Pennsylvanian comes to the rescue of poor Bigler. It says:

"Senator Bigler entirely demolished every point made by the Senator from Illinois."

And again:

"Senator Bigler's defence of the views put forth by Mr. Buchanan in his message, was most masterly and complete."

To those who have read the debate as it transpired, this undeserved praise will appear cruel to the poor creature who plotted himself against Douglas. With all his folly, he had sense enough left to see, towards the close, that he had been making a fool of himself.

FROM UTAH.—By the way of California we have some interesting news from the Mormons at the Salt Lake. A letter from the city of that name, published in a California paper, contains the following item:

"There are a great many of the brethren out upon the road, somewhere about Fort Bridger. The United States troops are at Ham's Fork, within one and a half day's journey of them, and seven days from here. There are companies going out from here every day. The company I belong to has not been called upon yet, but I expect it will be, for the Governor has declared there shall be no troops come into these valleys while there is a possibility of keeping them out, and should they be able to force their way in, we will every man leave his house and improvements in ashes, and take to the mountains. There is somewhere about three thousand soldiers and seven hundred wagons at Ham's Fork."

Here we have a view of the operations of the Mormons. The whole military force of the settlements has been organized, embodied and disciplined, and reinforcements are constantly sent out to aid to aid those already in the field in harassing the government troops, destroying trains, etc. In a sermon preached on the 18th of September, Brigham Young said:

"I shall treat every army and every armed company that attempt to come here as a mob. [The congregation responded, 'Amen.'] You might as well tell me that you can make hell a powder-house, as to tell me that you could let an army in here and have peace, and I intend to tell them and show them this, if they do not keep away. By taking this course you will find that every man and woman feels happy, and they say, 'all is right, all is well;' and I say that our enemies shall not slip the bow on old Bright's neck again.

"I have told you that if this people will love their religion, all will be well; and I have told you that if there is any man or woman that is not willing to destroy anything and everything of their property that would be of use to an enemy if left, I want them to go out of the territory; and I again say so to-day, that when the time comes to burn and lay waste our improvements, if any man undertakes to shield his ho will be sheared down, for 'judgment will be laid to the line and righteousness to the plummet.' Now the faint-hearted can go in peace, but should that time come, they must not interfere. Before I will suffer what I have in times gone by, there shall not be one building, nor one post of timber, nor a stick, nor a tree, nor a particle of grass and hay, that will burn, left in reach of our enemies. I am sworn, in fact and extremity, to utterly lay waste, in the name of Israel's God."

On the succeeding Sunday, September 13th, Brigham Young preached, and said:

"It is a pretty bold stand for this people to take, to say that they will not be controlled by the corrupt administrators of our general government. We will be controlled by them if they will be controlled by the Constitution and laws, but they will not.

"If the troops are now this side of Laramie, remember that the Sweetwater is this side of that place. They must have some place to winter, for they cannot come through here this season. We could go out and use them up, and it would not require fifty men to do it. But probably we shall not have occasion to take that course, for we do not want to kill men. They may winter in peace, at some place east of us; but when spring comes they must go back to the States, or at any rate they must leave the mountains."

We already know, by the acts of the Mormon hands in the mountains, that these declarations were not idle. The Mormon rifles have waged war as well as talked it. The guerilla parties have harassed our troops very much by cutting off their supplies. A Monsieur Mageau, who has just arrived at St. Louis overland, in forty days from Salt Lake City, says he met the government trains blocked up in the snow, the cattle dying, and the officers and men gloomy and despondent. He adds that the Mormons were making the most active preparations to repel the troops, and that Young had stated in public council his intention to harrass the army and that the latter was in sufficient force to overwhelm him, when he would burn Salt Lake City, and lead his people away.

NICARAGUA.—San Juan Del Norte, Nov. 30, 1857.—Another reign of terror has begun in this most unfortunate of unfortunate countries, and what the end will be, who can tell? Williams and Walker has returned to enact again scenes of heartlessness and barbarity such as only himself and his followers are capable of. He arrived off this town on the 24th inst., in the old steamer Fashion, direct from Mobile. Previous to entering the harbor, the steamer ran down to the mouth of the river Colorado and landed some 40 men, who proceeded up that river and into the San Juan, about twenty miles above this town. The steamer then returned, and entering the harbor hero, ran alongside of an old bulk which serves as a sort of wharf, near the Company's office at Punta Arenas, and before a boat from the U. S. ship Saratoga could reach there, all the men had scrambled on shore with their arms in their hands. They at once set about making themselves at home on the Company's premises, appropriating anything they could lay their hands on to their own purposes, as is their custom; but upon Mr. Scott, the agent, making the fact known to Capt. Chatard, he at once notified Walker that if he did not immediately remove his men from the Company's premises, he would open his guns upon him with shot and shell. He also informed him that if any of his men dared to molest the property of any Americans he would, without any further notice, treat them to a sufficient quantity of shells to teach them that no further robbery by them would be tolerated.

De Brissot, who has been hanging about here, living on charity, has started up the river with a party of Walker's men, to intercept and rob the Costa Rican mail, now about due here.

I have just heard that Lieut. Cilley, of the U. S. ship Saratoga, went on shore to Punta Arenas this morning, and that Walker sent to him and ordered him to leave immediately. Mr. Cilley replied that he was not only an American citizen, but an officer of the United States Navy, and had as much right to land on Punta Arenas as any other person. This was reported to Walker, who sent again to Mr. Cilley that he must leave or he would compel him to, remarking that Mr. Cilley had but three men, and Walker upward of a hundred, and that the folly of resistance must be apparent.

Nearly one-third of the men now with Walker are said to be discontented, and ready to return in the same steamer that brought them here, could they get away. The Navy Department ought to be getting ships ready to take these worthy individuals back to their homes, as was done a few months ago.

A letter from one of the officers of the United States sloop-of-war Saratoga, to a fellow officer on the United States steam-frigate Wabash, says:

"Walker has again landed at Greytown. His steamer, the Fashion, passed right under our stern. There were only a few men visible on her deck. While we were wondering who the devil she could be, for what was her errand, she headed alongside of a hulk near Scott's place, and landed Walker and a large number of his followers. Walker subsequently found one of our officers on shore, gunning, when he peremptorily ordered him to go back to his ship. The officer refused, saying he was an officer of the United States Navy, whereupon Walker told him that if he did not go he would compel him to leave. The officer finally did come. Our fellows say that he ought to have refused to go, point blank, and then if Walker had used violence we should have an excuse for pitching into him. We are afraid that Captain Chatard will be court-martialed for not preventing Walker from landing. Capt. Chatard has driven Walker and his fellows away from Mr. Scott's place, and has taken measures to protect Greytown and the Transit Company's property from the pirates."—N. Y. Trib.

A BRITISH OFFICER writing from Teheran, Persia, to the London Times, remarks:—"A Cathartic Pill, manufactured by an American chemist," (Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass.) has cured the Shah of a Liver Complaint that threatened his life. This simple fact, as might be expected, renders the Americans immensely popular here, while we English are overlooked. Doubtless our own scholars made the discoveries which he employs, and thus it is in everything: we do the labor, then the mousing Americans put their mark on it and take the reward. Dr. Ayer is idolized by the Court and Ministers here, and will doubtless be reflected to him on a gold snuff box or diamond hilted sword, while not the name even of Davy, Christoson or Brodie, great lights by which he shines, is known."—New York Sunday Paper.

DR. FITCH would also add that as he is accustomed to deal frankly with his patients, none need apply who are afraid to learn their true condition, the actual state of their lungs, and their probable chances of recovery.
