PITTSBURGH:

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 3, 1858.

Mr. Stanton's Letter.

The Washington Union, which fulminates loud thunder for the Administration, and reads long and pointed lectures to "democrats as well in office as out of office," will have a busy time of it during the ill-starred reign of James Buchanan, if it continues true to its present vocation.—Every day developes some new disaffection in the ranks of the Slave-democracy. Now a member of Congress shrinks from the foul work prepared for him—and again a public journal, once high in the confidence of the party, assumes a belligerant attitude. Even the South is not exempt from the political epidemic that is prostrating the once proud and powerful ranks of the hitherto all-conquering democracy. In that benighted region the spirit of republican liberty, prostrated and down-trodden as it is, is not entirely extinct. The North, notwithstanding its former divisions, seems to be a unit, in its opposition, to the contemplated wrongs on the suffering and injured people of Kansas. Every Republican editor must feel himself a prophet, when he casts his eyes about him and observes the clear and undisputed realisation of all that he predicted in regard to the future course of the individual who has confided to his hands the welfare and destiny of this great country. What was predicted in the memorable campaign of 1856 has now become a matter of history.

The last subject for the lash of the Union is Mr. Stanton, late Acting-Governor of Kansas, who, in imitation of his superior officer in that territory, has appealed from the President to the people, through the medium of the public press, in a bold and manly letter, sustaining the action of the Free State men of Kansas, and emphatically condemning the course of the national administration. The letter may be found in the present number of the Gazette, and we bespeak for it a careful perusal from our intelligent readers. It is one among a large number of testimonials from the lips of democratic leaders, in behalf of the purity and righteousness of the Free State cause in Kansas, and is at the same time a withering rebuke to the bold, bad men, who, having obtained the power they now so outrageously abuse by fraud and corruption, seem determined to constitute those vices the leading features of their administration. Mr. Stanton takes almost the same ground that Mr. Walker occupied in his letter, but as he has been an eye witness to the wrongs and usurpations, which form the subject of his letter, his assertions are highly reliable as corroborative evidence in strengthening the position of those democrats who are bold enough and honest enough to resist the encroachments of the Slave-Power of the country, at this exciting and critical period.

The administration, in its efforts to crush out the great principle, which in other times was the watchword and the battle cry of the party that placed it in power, relied too much on the influence which the "flesh pots" of the government are supposed to possess. Mr. Buchanan, with the sword and the purse of the nation at his command—with the power to administer to individual ambition, and to degrade it—and to dispense the patronage of a great nation with a lavish hand, did not trouble himself with any efforts to fortify his position by clothing it with even the semblance of patriotism and justice. He did not appeal to the consciences or the hearts of his countrymen, but rather to the fears and the cupidity of his immediate partizan followers. He came not before his fellow citizens, whose agent he is, and nothing more, in the character of the Chief Magistrate of a free people, but rather with the manner of a despot, despising those whom he addressed too much to reason with them, and determined to drive them by sheer force into his measures. The sequel shows that the occasion was too much for even his cunning, often as it has served him on former and less momentous occasions. Thus far our "far-reaching Buckingham" has aimed his shaft wide of the mark. The party, of which he was the leader, with its blind adherents, its complete machinery, and its corrupt politicians, still has in its ranks some choice spirits, who will not "give up to party" what was meant for their country, and hence a storm has been raised which all the thunders of the Union —the threats and harsh edicts of its masters—and the patronage of the government cannot allay. Should even a venal Congress sustain the administration, the people will never, NEVER submit. God grant that more Stantons shall rise up from among the people, and that the storm now raised shall not subside until the great principles of human liberty shall be recognised in all departments of our national government, by the people.

There is but little change from last week. There is a general decrease in all the items—the strong position of the banks remaining unchanged.

COL. FORNEY, in the Press of Monday, denounces the trick of Calhoun by which the pro-slavery ticket is declared elected in Kansas, as "the last and darkest fraud" of all—that "it out-herods Herod," and utterly casts all Calhoun's dark deeds into the shades of midnight. His Washington correspondent writes:

"Hon. Geo. Bancroft, of New York, has taken open ground against the Lecompton fraud. He is very earnest in his opposition to it.

Hon. John Bell, Senator from Tennessee, has, it is said, taken the same ground.

Twenty-five Democrats of the House have already taken position against the policy of forcing the Lecompton fraud through Congress.

The Democrats of the House have almost unanimously resolved to vote against the Lecompton fraud.

The Democrats of the House have already taken position against the policy of forcing the Lecompton fraud through Congress.

Hons. James B. Clay, of Kentucky, John B. Haskin, of New York, and William L. Dewart, of Pennsylvania, after a consultation of Democratic members, have been selected as a committee to wait upon the President to-morrow (Monday) and inform him that the Northern Democrats, with a few exceptions, are opposed to the admission of Kansas into the Union, as a State, under the Lecompton contrivance of Calhoun and others, which has just reached here in an official form."

The correspondent of the Tribune telegraphs:

"The President is greatly exercised by accounts from the South of intended demonstrations in case Lecompton be rejected.

The Administration counts four or five majority for Lecompton in the Senate. The House is doubtful, but the chances are thought to be in its favor.

The President's plan is to put Minnesota and Kansas together, and make the admission of one depend upon that of the other.

A caucus of Democratic Senators will be held to-morrow in the Vice President's room, at which a resolution will be introduced approving the course of the Administration in regard to Kansas. The object is to drive Douglas out of the party. I understand that he is ready to go."

THE DISTRIBPLACK OF WASHINGTON.—Both branches of the Virginia Legislature have passed a bill providing for the conveyance to the State of Virginia of the birthplace of Washington, and the home and graves of his progenitors in America. The bill appropriates $5,000 to enclose the place with an iron fence, and to erect substantial tablets to "commemorate for the rising generations those notable spots," as required by Lewis W. Washington in his offer of conveyance.

THE Southern disunionists have determined to make Kansas a slave State, and, failing in this, to secede. Their whole scheme looks to one or the other of these alternatives. They hope, as a preliminary, to destroy the Democracy of the free States, by making the Lecompton fraud a test; and then to say to the Southern masses, "Behold! you have no friends in the North; all parties there are your foes; you have no chance in the Union, and you must leave it or perish." —Phil. Press.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA, a popular Dictionary of General Knowledge. Edited by George Ripley and Charles A. Dana. New York, Appleton & Co. Pittsburgh, Hunt & Miner.

The volume which lies on our table is the first of a set of fifteen, of which number the work will consist when complete. Volume 1 is a book of 752 pages, well printed on prime white paper with clear type, and bound in an apparently durable and really handsome manner. The subjects treated of in it extend to "Aragnay."—Each volume will contain its own index, so that the work will be completed at each step, as far as it goes.

The need of a work of this sort to which the Appletons have put their hands and which they have the pecuniary ability to carry through, is pressing. The various cyclopedias upon which the world has depended, such as Rees for example, were perfectly good, doubtless, in their day, but they have in great part become obsolete.—Science is constantly exploring new fields and making new discoveries from day to day; what was put down for fact not fifty years ago, has very probably for some time been proved a fancy. Chemistry, for example, may be called almost a new science, and one, too, that runs into, permeates and explains all the other natural sciences. The light which has been shed upon it by Faraday, Silliman, Humboldt, Berzelius, and a host of kindred spirits, scattered through the pages of hundreds of books sealed to the great mass of the people, needs to be focalized and brought to the eyes of the people as it will be in this great work. We might instance other sciences but the above illustration will suffice.

Taking this first as a specimen volume, we do not think there can be room to doubt in reference to the thorough and able manner in which all subjects will be discussed. We are assured by the publishers that in the preparation of this work nearly a hundred writers have taken part, including persons in almost every quarter of the United States, in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe. Opening the book in almost any part, we are struck with the characteristic plainness and apparent honesty with which all discussion of subjects proceeds. The "creatines," for it deserves that name, on the Anglo-Saxon race and language is of rare interest, and carries one through the whole range of early British history, bringing in all the rarest results of antiquarian research and scientific investigation. We have never seen on the same subject so much valuable information condensed in a readable scope as we find here in the article on "Animal Heat," and in the scientific review of the whole subject of Animal Magnetism, stripped, as it is in this work, of all the false covers of charlatanism.

We cannot, however, go further into this subject, because a book of over seven hundred pages, and such a book, cannot be discussed in any newspaper article, save in the most general manner. It is intended as a hand-book, as is a dictionary of our language. As such it deserves a place in every library. The work will be delivered to subscribers at such intervals that they will scarcely know they have been buying it till they have it on their shelves. The agent for procuring subscribers, Mr. Duffey, is now in this city, and will call upon our citizens. We trust that he may meet with such success as the nature of his errand warrants, which can only be good success.

French Spoliations before 1800.

SUPREME CT.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In answer to the objections against these claims, (already twice ordered by Congress to be repaid,) allow me to quote the report of a Committee of the House of Representatives, February, 1807, on the subject:

"From a mature consideration of the subject, and from the best judgment your Committee have been able to form of the case, they are of opinion, that this Government by expunging the second article of our Convention with France of the 30th September, 1800, became bound to indemnify the Memorialists, for those just claims which they otherwise would rightfully have, on the Government of France; for the spoliations committed on their commerce by the illegal captures made by the cruisers and other armed vessels of that power, in violation of the laws of nations, and in breach of treaties then existing between the two nations; which claims they were, by the rejection of the said article of the Convention, forever barred from obtaining from the Government of France for compensation."

Another objection has been that these claims were annulled by the War with France in '98.—But to show that France did not regard as war the acts of Congress at that time let us look at the facts. Upon receiving intelligence of those acts, an embargo was laid on all American vessels in their ports, and they imprisoned some of our seamen which caused the Minister of Marine to address the following circular to the different ports:

"I remark, citizen, by the correspondence of the greater part of the governors of the ports, that the embargo, recently upon American vessels, has produced the detention of their crews. The intentions of government have been misunderstood, by the adoption of a measure, that in the first place compromits the safety of the vessels, and in the second seems to place us in a hostile attitude against the United States; when on the contrary the acts of the Government evince the desire to maintain a good understanding between the two nations."

1806. A. SUFFERER.

COPY OF A BILL.—The following copy of a bill has been sent to a member of the House, and was to be read in place. Will all our readers peruse and ponder it:

A Supplement to the Act entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Western Transportation Co."

SEC. 1. Be it enacted, &c., That all the powers, rights and privileges conferred on the Western Transportation Co. by the Act to which this is a supplement, passed March 15th, 1856, be, and they are hereby extended to all Railroads, whether within or without the boundaries of the State of Pennsylvania, connected with the Pittsburgh & Steubenville Railroad, either directly or by means of other Railroads so that an unlimited continuous line of through traffic and management to all points West and South of Pittsburgh may be secured by the Western Transportation Company on all roads connecting mediately or immediately with the said Pittsburgh & Steubenville Railroad, in as full a manner as is provided by the Act aforesaid "in regard to the said Pittsburgh & Steubenville Railroad."

MESSRS. CASE & CO., Fifth street, send us a pamphlet entitled, "The High School Monthly," Vol. 1, No. 1. It is an anonymous publication, intended to be severe upon the High School.

REVIVALS.—Our exchanges report protracted meetings and revivals of religion in every direction, and in churches of nearly all denominations.

In regard to the Old School Presbyterian Church, at Piqua, (Rev. Mr. Safford's,) the Presbyterian of the West says:

"We understand that a good and deep work of grace is in progress there. It is not confined to the members of the church. There are many anxious inquirers. On last Sabbath twelve persons were added to the church, including three upon certificate. The meetings are continued with increasing attendance."

Rev. J. Evarts Weed, (son of Dr. G. L. Weed Cincinnati,) reports in the C. C. Herald, an interesting revival in the church at Marysville, O., to which he is ministering.

In the same paper there is an account of an extensive work of grace in the Presbyterian Church at Rushville, Ill., (Rev. S. E. Wishard's.)

There is quite a revival of religion among the Christian Baptists at Portsmouth. A number were baptized in the river at that place on Sunday.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—Simonds, of St. Louis, who made and sold a counterfeit of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has been placed within the narrow limits that should catch all scoundrels. Imprisonment, though it be for years, can scarcely punish enough the heartless villain who could execute such an imposition upon the sick. The wicked rascal who for paltry gain could thus trifle with the health and life of his fellow man—take from blr lips the cup of hope while sinking, and substitute an utter delusion and cheat, would falter at no crime, and should be spared no punishment. Some of his trash is still extant in the West, and purchasers should be wary of whom they buy.—Gazette, Utica, N. Y.

ARRIVAL OF SILVER.—Twenty-one tons of ingots of silver arrived at the U. S. Mint, yesterday, from New Orleans. This, when coined into money, will make eight hundred thousand dollars, a pretty able bodied "pile," and sufficient to clothe an army of civilians at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia.

THE Committee on "Foreign Relations" made a report to the Senate the other day. In regard to Central America, it condemns the piratical expeditions of Walker, and says in conclusion that it would be much more creditable to the country, and beneficial to individuals, if they would cultivate the arts of peace, and like good citizens buy their clothing at the palatial establishment of Granville Stokes, No. 607 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

Those who have used it.—Among the many testimonials in favor of the effects of Boerhave's Holland Bitters, we offer the names of the following, many of them well-known in this city:

JAMES COUTTS, of South Pittsburgh, says: "It is certainly a valuable medicine; it cured me of Dyspepsia."

Captain HENRY EATON says: "It cured my wife of Neuralgia."

S. A. VON BONNHORST says: "I never met with so speedy a remedy for Acidity of the Stomach."

HENRICH PATTEN says: "It cured me of a severe Chronic Diarrhœa in two days."

50 cts. per bottle, or six bottles for $5, by the proprietors, BENJ. EAGE, Jr., & CO., Manufacturing Pharmaceutists and Chemists, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Druggists generally. See advertisement.

The alarming increase of the diseases of the Stomach within the past few years has awakened no ordinary alarm in the medical world, but with little effect in staying its ravages, the most skilful acknowledge their inability to remove the disorders, and were it not that others bestow attention to the suffering, but little hope or relief would they find. Among these benefactors is DR. HOSTETTER, the proprietor of Hostetter's Bitters, for all diseases of the Stomach. This preparation has no equal for giving tone to the stomach and vigor to the system. It acts directly on the stomach and carries off the morbid matter there deposited, both speedily and with ease to the patient. In fact it has been well said, that no preparation extant is so pleasant in its flavor, and effective in its aid and cure as this great remedy for Diarhœa and similar diseases of the stomach.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY Gray Hair to its original color; covers luxuriantly the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching and all scrofula and scald head and all eruptions; makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy; and will preserve it to any reasonable age, when, if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache. See circular and the following:

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 2, 1857.
PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Sirs: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have gratified three or four new customers, and the approbation, and pathways it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convince us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen $2 size; and believe us yours very respectfully,
(Signed) DANIEL LATHROP & CO.

HICKORY GROVE, St. Charles Co., Mo., Nov. 19, 1856.
PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and sores called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and the delight of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has a healthy head of hair. We can therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours, respectfully,
GEORGE W. HIGGINBOTHAM.
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

GARDNER, Maine, June 22, 1855.
PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair is now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind. Yours respectfully,
DANIEL L. MURPHY.
