TO THE WALL—The Post of yesterday more general reasons and the state of the state of preserving the first and to yield so much—we have had to stalk one of the whole article may be statered from the following extract:

"We have had to yield so much—we have had to stalk one of the whole we many things which were distinct by the red cled with the party of redden and for the sake of optimizing the distance of the sake of preserving the first file to make of the plant of the sake of the plant of the plant of the plant of the plant of the sake of the plant of the sake of the plant of the sake of the plant of the pl fence to the fountain-head of government pa-tronage, conclude to support the Wrong against the Right-a mere party name against a Great Principle—let him count well the cost of the step he is about to take. The position once assumed cannot be recalled; and that position will in volve his political and social degradation, or there is neither intelligence in the country nor virtue among the people. Lecompton will be political death to any Northern man, whether President or Congressman, who arrays himself under its dusky banner. Its support is treason to the prevailing sentiment in the most important section of the country-treason to the paant, section of the country—treason to the particular instincts of the American people—treason to the great cause of Humanity and Religion.

Let no man, therefore, without due reflection as to the consequences, place himself in an attitude of opposition to all these sentiments. The people in their sovereign capacity may be slow in their wrath, but their vengeance is not, on that account, less terrible, effectual and overwhelming in the end. Every Northern constituency's secount, less terrible, effectual and overwhelming in the end. Every Northern constituency's honor and reputation are at state, in the principle of the country to see that every traitor, surrounded though he may be by the rewards of his treason, should be sent into a perpetual and an ignominious retirement. Let them sink under the weight of a People's cates of Slavery, and its effect on those Northern democrats who submit to the dictation of Buchana and his Southern allies:

"Now, if the Administration chooses, let it push the Lecompton hill through by such devices us we see disclosed in the action just taken by the House and Senate committees. It is not impossible that the offices yet to bestow are good for the two or three majority against it in the House, but we shall have the pleasure of seeing very clearly where the specific operates. Every day adds facilities for the closest criticism, and both parties are alike keenly observant. Democrats have resolved that this shall be the last course of decapitation for the simple exercise of manly consistency in sustaining their own doctrines. We should do the highest injustice to so large a body of men not to suppose that the rigencies of their party for a few years past have fatigued them not a little. New Hampshire fell out of line at the moment when a President was dispensing official kingdoms to its representatives from that State are known, and to be known to the country generally no more. Maine has gince gone the policy, and democratic representatives from that State are known, and to be known to the country generally no more. Maine has since gone the same fall road, never to return. Rhode Island, culty to the speedy execution the programme same fatal road, never to return. Rhode Island, Connecticut, and New York, are only less decided examples, in which a "Lecompton" man will inever come before the people anywhere. In New York the deepest gratification attends the sinking of the Barnburners, which facile fraction will hereafter be ecarcely less oddous than the Lecompton faction simple. In all the West there is no question and no doubt; Michigan has followed New Hampshire, and we come back to Pennsylvanis for the closing act of the drama. Let those who watched the decline and fail of New Hampshire and its President, attend to the parallel phenomenon now in progress here, and mark our prediction that, two years hence, a vote as sweeping will efface the Lecompton policy, its men and its memories, as that which sweep the northern States and saw the Kansas policy of the democratic party in its true list.

disastrous to Mexico. The Times alludes to the origin of these difficulties, in an article on that subject, in the course of which it says:—"Our readers will remember that the immediale cause of the quarrel was the assassination and indiscriminate plunder of Spaniah subjects in Mexico by the soldiers of General Alvarez. The Mexican Government, when an explanation and indemnity were demanded, pretended that the murdered Spandiards had participated in the revolutionary contest then going on. From this position, however, they subsequently receded, and the purishment they inflicted upon the parties concerned in the outrage appeased the and the purishment they inflicted upon the parties concerned in the outrage appeased the Spanish wrath, and prepared the way for settlement that has just taken place. The relations between Spain and Maxico, for many years past, have been unfriendly. Long outstanding claims which the latter refused or neglected to pay, had embittered the animosity which the two nations have felt for each other since their political separation. But it was only the last cause of complaint that threatened actual war, and brought a Spanish fleet to Mex-

Demograce definition of the Washington Republic that since the late of Indiana, 1856, three thousand school houses have been built in the state of Illinois. The Republic adds: "this fact taken in connection with the defection of Douglas, is a most ominous one to democratic prospects in that state." We think it might have added that that shrewd and farseeing politician has caught the direction of the popular breeze, and seeing the Edwarding strides of education in Illinois, has taken time by the forelock. into a perpetual and an ignominious retirement.

Let them sink under the weight of a People's curse, and wither under the blight of a People's scorn. The precarious and uncertain support of a corrupt and unscrupulous Administration, may strengthen the renegade for a brief period of time—but it will only delay, and nor avent, the fate in reserve for him. It is a consoling and heart-cheering reflection that, while our rulers may be tyrannical and insolent, and thus abuse the privileges of their position, the People after all, is the sovereign power.

The North American (Philadelphia) thus reviews the position of the parties, in this contest between the friends of Freedom and the advocates of Slavery, and its effect on those Northern democrats who submit to the dictation of Bu-

Mr. Buchanan's Administration, reviled him in The lay of reckoning for the Biglers, the Florences, and other Northern recreants, must arrive, secure in power and position as they may, imputing the most impropor motives to his public acts—now that they see a chance of securing Kansas as a slow state, advocates his Kansas policy, and refuse to make the slightest concession the other side, each moment and composure.

The Difficulty between Spain and Mexico as trive, and it enables us, accordingly, to regard their present course with something like patience and composure.

The Difficulty between Spain and Mexico have been peaceably adjusted. This is good for Mexico, as with her internal troubles, growing ont of the plotting of wicked priests and ambitious generals, she was in no condition to engage in a foreign war. It is true the fight between the two nations would have been but a feeble display of strength on both sides. At this time, however, the result would have been disastrous to Mexico. The Times alludes to the call of the salificulties, in an article on that
