PITTSBURGH:

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 1, 1858.

The Forem of March.—The most desperate efforts are now making throughout Western Pennsylvania, to secure such a Convention of the so-called Democratic party at Harrisburg on Thursday next as shall celebrate the first anniversary of the inauguration of James Buchanan by a "full and cordial" endorsement of the matter on which he has staked the success of his administration. If the fuglemen at Washington and Philadelphia, and other points of commanding influence in that party in this State and out of it, do not succeed in this, if will not be for the want of trying.

We need only point to a few of the facts that are transpiring day by day around us in proof of what we have stated. When the Convention met here some time in the latter part of Decembrand which is to come off on Thursday next, the foreoff and Mis. Randall moved that he he instructed to which the to come off on Thursday next, the root of position is a convention of the matter and papointed delegates to this Convention which is to come off on Thursday next, the root of position of the matter and a sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when not begin and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when not begin and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when not begin and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when not begin and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when not begin and sack coats Raglans, &c., and a full stock of a winter gloves, Ganutlets, Mufflers, Shawls, for when no

In Beaver county the same farce was enacted, and in Mercer where they attempted to hold a meeting of the people for the purpose of appointing delegates, the whole broke up in a row. The way in which "safe" men may be sent from there, will be by a packed Committee, as in Lawrence.

ROBERT J. WALKER.—As a matter of current gossip, we have published the articles from the Philadelphia Bulletin alleging that Robert J. Walker has abandoned his opposition to the Lecompton Constitution; but we are glad to learn that the charges against Gov. Walker are, at least partially, unfounded. That he has been unusually quiet for some time past, and kept himself out of the way of public demonstrations against Locompton is cut; but as auges that any private affairs have absorbed all his time and attention. His present position is indicated

It is long, strong and bitter, and disposes of the rumors that he had become reconciled to the President and was that he was arrested on the charge of murder and bitter, and disposes of the rumors that he had become reconciled to the President and was faltering from the definat position that he was interested to the compton the definat position that he was its reputed proprietor, but it now appears the Lecompton Constitution submitted as a whole to the whole people of Kansas, that the President and all his cabinet well knew of them at the time they were made, and that any abandoment of them on his part, after the people had accepted them and acted upon them, would cover him with infamy and dishonor, and that they shall be redeemed by him if necessary to the latest hour of his existence, even to the shedding of the last drop of his blood. He says:

"Whatever may be the action of the wavering, the timid or corrupt, menaces and proscription have no terror for me." Toward the close of his letter he says:

"Is this the 82d year of our Independence, or is it the first year of American Monarchy, that is now dawning drom us? Special Correspondence to the Pittsburgh Gazetta. HARRISBURG, Feb. 26, 1858. Editors Gazette:-There was a motion made Editors Gazette:—There was a motion made in this morning in the Senate which excited a good deal of feeling among the Democracy of that body. It came from your able and attentive Senator, Dr. Gazzam. Tr. was, that the iminutes of the proceedings of the Special Senate Committee on Kansas should be published. The motion called out Buckalew and other Democratic leaders, and it was voted down by a strict party wote. Dr. Gazzam had a tilt with luckatiew upon the propriety of printing. He de-

PAVING THE WAY.—Forney seems to anticipate that the Description Estate Convention of March 4th will effortse Lecompton. He has had several articles, lately, pointing to that end, and in one of them he says:

"But the State Convention will not commit not compared the words of the words. No Convention will not compel us to support what we believe to be wrong. No Convention, or great leve to be wrong. No Convention, no great will make us stultify ourselves by supporting will make us stultify ourselves by supporting the Lecompton Trand. We are the friend of William A. Porter for the nomination at Harrisburg, and in all probability will vote for him; but the attempt to put him upon a platform which recognizes a plees of injustice like that perpetrated at Lecompton, and, by threats and tests, altempted to be committed at Washington, will, if successful, do him a great, and may do him a fatal, injury. We wash our hands of all responsibility for the transaction."

Anyl-Lecompton meeting in the Queen City is called to assemble on Tuesday rening next. This call has appended to it more than 500 names of Democrats, who voted for "Buchanan, Brecking and Free Kansas."
