bie CHARTER PERPETUAL. AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $500,000 0 Capital paid to $500,000 0 Surplus, January Jet, 1868, $55,274 05 made the quotation a few days since, respecting the Pittsburgh of 1810. The writer says:

"Eight miles below Middletown we passed Logstown on our left (as we went down the river.) This is a scattering hamlet of four or five log cabins, in the neighborhood of which on the opposite side of the river, a considerable with clean hands in that Convention—barely 21 out of 133 who had not bowed the knee to Baal. It was a gathering of office-holders and office-housers—U. S. Marshals, Postmasters, and Custom-house officers, and a hungry pack of curs keen upon the scent of office. Probably the State or the nation never before saw such a mercenary crew gathered together in one mass. To expect anything like an honest utterance from such a Convention would be ridiculous.—It was packed to serve the vile purpose it has accomplished, utterly regardless of future consequences to the party, and it has done the work marked out for it, without a why or a wherefore—without a sigh of compunction or any other evidence that its members have consciences to accuse them of the guilty deed.

Possible visible is a convention of any other evidence that its members have consciences to accuse them of the guilty deed.

The platform of the Convention was cut and dry before it met. It endorses King James to the file of Indians resided until after the reduction of the opposite side of the river, a considerable to the opposite side of the river, a considerable of the opposite side of the river.) This is a scattering hamlet of four or files to get a considerable of the opposite side of the river. It is is a scattering hamlet of four or files to get a considerable of the opposite side of the river. It is in a considerable of the opposite side of the river. It is in a considerable to exposite side of the river. It is in a considerable of the platform of Fort Du Quesne, now Pittsburgh, by General it was to the position of Fogstown. whole vote was—ore. This vote the candidate with the great whip?" is supposed to have given for himself. We note these remarkable facts as indications of what is passing in New England—premonitory symptoms of the tornado which will begin to blow in New Hampshire on next Tuesday.

IRON.—These figures show us to how great an extent the Keystone of the confederation is strengthened—bound to her sister States by bands of iron. The census returns of 1850, which were then considered imperfect and behave where then considered imperfects and behave where then considered imperfects and behave the mark, give us in this State 662 first class iron manufacturing establishments, employing $19,832,265—or a fraction short of twenty-millions of capital—supplying labor directly to 20,-tilons of capital—supplying labor directly feeding and colohing at least a half a million of people, and producing an annual value of $20,550,550. The segregate iron business of all the other States of the Union combined does not equal that of Pennsylvania alone. But this is but one item of the wealth producing interest of our State.

The above we clip from the Post of Saturday. Will that paper tell us how many of its leaders have been devoted to defending a free trade Will that paper tell us how many of its leaders

The Chairman appointed a committee of "packed" men to favor the Lecompton fraud. This movement was characterized by the able minority with the condemnation it richly deserved. Mr. Wright moved that "no nominations for candidates be made till the Committee on Resolutions had reported." This proposition, totally at variance with all past usages of the party naturally excited profound sensation, and following:

"Kansas and Minnesota are to be linked together by the Solons of the Senate, so that the gether by the Solons of the Senate, so that the free State can drag in the slave State. Better that both stay out till doomeday than be brought in under such conditions. No matter when a free State gets ready for admission, she must wait until a Slave State is hunted up, or a free State manufactured into a stare state to accompany her until a State state is numera up, or a free state manufactured into a state state to accompany her into the Union. We want no more slave States or free States either, on any such terms. Let the people of the Territories organize State Gov-oppose Lecompton, and nine sustain it—most of the latter class subsisting on paironage.

FRUIT KILLED.—The Louisville Costic cays, some of the fruit-growers near that city-say that the peaches, apricots, &c., have been killed by the beaches, apricots, the thermometer having been in some localities as low 10° below zero.

gathering was moderate in in enthusiasm.—N. Y. Trib. have been devoted to defending a free trade policy, that has no aim but that of putting this great iron State under the feet of foreign pauper labor? How much of its space has been devoted to the task of sending people abroad to buy their iron in England and Wales? The facts of the Post are interesting as data; now let us have the arguments from them.

The Philadelphia Press gives the proceedings of the first day of the Democratic Convention,

DEATH OF AN ENGLISH MEECHANT .-- John of the first day of the Democratic Convention, and says:

"The State Convention of the Democracy assembled in the Hall of the House of Reptesentatives at the State Capitol. From the proceedings, reported at leigth in another column, it will be seen that the same game of gagging the will of the majority is to be played out at Harrisburg that has been so persistently followed at Washington.

DEATH OF AN ENGLISH MERCHANT.—John Horsely Palmer, one of England's most eminent merchants and bankers, died at is country residence, at Hurlingham, (near London,) on the Young the will be seen that the same game of gagging the will of the majority is to be played out at Harrisburg that has been so persistently followed at Washington.

RAILEGAD DECISION.—The Supreme Court of New York have decided that the rolling stock of a railroad is a fixture of the same, and not pera railroad is a fixture of the basic, or on a property; and that consequently a mort-gage on rolling stock does not require to be filed as in the case of a obtatel mortgage, in order to protect the property against judgment creditors. n Resolutions had reported." This proposition, totally at variance with all past usages of the party, naturally excited profound sensation, and led to a prolonged and exciting debate. It was finally adopted.

The Convention, after this liberal-minded action, concluded it had accomplished enough glory for one day, and adjourned till half-past nine, A. M., to-day. It remains to be seen whether the policy foreshadowed will meet the approbation of the people.

Minnesota—Let her Bray Out.—We heartily concur with the Cleveland Plain Dealer in the following:

"Kansas and Minnesota are to be linked to-gether to properly against judgment creditors.

The Boston Journal gives an account of a man, who, having got decidedly the worst of a fight which he provoked, at the close of the business expressed himself "sorry for what had happened." The fellow's condition was nodoubt happened." The fellow's condition was nodoubt as sincere as that of a South Carolina Congressman, under similar gircumstances.

"Is Thy Brivary a Doo?" asks the Bloomsburg Star, in discussing the project to break up Judge Wilmot's judicial district. The Star is a Democratic paper, but, like the beggar who could not accept a donation of corn meal, "it ain't mean enough" to go for that.
