agreed to, and that committee has reported an amendment to the bill, shoulshing the district of which Mr. Wilnot is judge. There will be an attempt, choulters, to put this through in the last hours of the session, by the force of party drill; but we hope that; our friends will exercise all their powers of resistence for its defeat. It is the meanest bill that was over begotten of lecoffoce meanness. That a man having a sense of personal decency, as we suppose Mr. Cresswell to have, should tend himself to the consummation of a plot so infamous and so base passes our comprehension. It can be understood only upon the supposition that there is nothing to mean for locofocoism to understace, nor too low for its partisans to carry out.

Judge Wilmot's offence consists mainly in being an areant Republican, and especially in the fact that be run for Governor last fall on the opposition taket. It is a political offence, merely, and for that he is to be punished. There is no allegation against his official character, nor any against his offi movement in New York will give us a gain of nine in that state alone; and if our expectations with regard to the other states are all realized, we shall certainly carry the next House.—

It will require, however, the exercise of tact, judgment, discretion and conciliation in all the doubtful districts and in those in which the opposition have heretofore been divided, to effect this end, and it will be seen that we cannot afford to throw away a single district. It will not be so easy a matter as some to imagine to carry the next House; and it is not too soon, even now, to be addressing ourselves to the difficulties of the task.

Life Thoughts of Henry Ward Beecher.—

We are indebted to Messra. Hunt & Miner for an early copy of this work, from the prolific an early copy of this work, from the prolific press of Messrs. Phillips & Sampson, of Boston. We have already, from time to time, published in our columns choice extracts from this work, as we gathered them from the Eastern pressand, as far as we have observed, no book ever has and, as far as we have observed, no book ever has afforded more generous supplies of gems of thought. They have been gathered up from no official or officious reporter, but have been caught from the written or extempore discourses of Mr. Beecher by members of his congregation. Those who have had the pleasure of listening to that great man, know how his discourses abound with who have had the pleasure of listening to that great man, know how his discourses abound with beautiful and apposite traths, suggested by the realities of life. Every noble human action has in it a gem; every work of the Creator's hand, however much it may be marred by time or circumstance, has in it a germ of beauty which the piercing eye of genius can detect. There is poetry in all of life, and he who has in him the poetic element can clothe the face of nature with loveliness and find rare lessons in what to the common mind is but common.

The successful preacher, successful in the highest sense, as well as the successful orator or poet, is he who seizes upon some present fact or circumstance, and makes it the vehicle of a pure poet, is he who seizes upon some present fact or circumstance, and makes it the vehicle of a pure and beautiful thought. To illustrate from the volume before us:

All its feelings and affections should open into life like those white lilies; and deep amid the blossom petuls should be seen the golden crown of love."

GLOOST REFLECTIONS OF A DISCUSSION CROAK.—
Black Republicanism may well shout an exulting preas: Connecticut has followed hard upon New Hampshire, and gone with a rushagainst Slavery; while; unkindest cut of all, St. Louis, a Southern city of a Southern State, has, at its recent municipal election, reiterated its semi-abolition sentiments by the election of the Free Democratic ticket. Truly, the Kansas measure has proved a disastrous blow to the South. Intended, as its ned received, by using Boerhave's Holland Bitters, to perfect ticket. Truly, the Kansas measure has proved a disastrous blow to the South. Intended, as its ned rocates proclaimed, to settle the question of Slavery, and quiet agitation, it has generated renewed discord, strengthened free soil, and hopelessly divided the only party that claimed an odor of nationality.

We are afraid that these Spring elections are portents of gloomier tidings herefolt. We apprehend that Pennsylvania, and Illinois, and Indiana, in which by unrivaled tact and unvearied exertion were saved in 1856 from falling into the Free-Soil against white the public should guard against purchasing.

The House consists of 234 members, or 237, if Kansas and Mimesota be admitted, and 238, if Oregon be admitted. We take it for granted that all three of these new states will be represented in the next Congress, and it will therefore require the election of 120 Republicans to obtain a majority—a gain of 28 on the present representation. Can this be accomplished: We think it can.

We shall certainly elect one member in Kansas and probably the two in Minnesota: we shall gain one, certainly, in Connecticut, and probably two; we can, if we will, carry one or two of the Philadelphia districts, now representation of the Philadelphia districts, with a fair chance for the Clarion, Chester and Schuylkill districts: this would gige us again of severn in Pennsylvania. In Ohio, we shall certainly gain three and probably five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts, and one or two in Indiana, leaving five districts and will be a present and the congress of the Boston Traveler describes and the leave of the Rond Point of the Choin of the Choin of the Choin of the Choin of the Rein Parise or respondent of the Boston Traveller describes and edited in the scot of the Rein Point of the Choin of the Ch
