Their argument, conclusive as, they modeled think it, was a mere re-hash of what we have all often before heard on the same subject; and, by some faishir, the members of the committee suffered themselves, while the protection which revers the same subject; and, by some faishir, the members of the committee suffered themselves, while a subject of the committee suffered themselves, while a subject of the committee suffered themselves, while the same subject in the statement of the chargement o its affair, not ours. We are willing to pay the same as other people for whatever the road may do for us, and there is no justice or proptiety in asking anything more of us. If the railroad company cannot sustain itself by dealing thus justly and fairly, it had better quit business, as individuals in a like predicament have to do. A man who cannot meet his note in bank is not permitted to lay violent hands on the first man that comes within his power and extort the needed money from him, and we do not see why a corporation in a strait should have any more right to levy forced contributions than an individual has.

On the second evening of the interview with the committee, after they had had an opportunity to mix freely with our people and learn their views, one of its members, in order to reconcile us to the repeal, urged that it would inure onlicely to the benefit of Pitteburgh. He felt authorized to say, in effect, that the rates now charged on Pitteburgh freight would, in that event, he reduced to an amount equivalent to the tongough the reducing of the singular of the properties with the committee, after they had bear opportunity for mix freely with our people and learn their views, one of its members, in order to reconcile us to the repeal, urged that it would inure onlicely to the benefit of Pitteburgh. In introducing the chair of the Road—Mr. Foater. In introducing the committee from the Vice President of the Road—Mr. Foater. In introducing th chairman of the committee from the Vice President of the Road.—Mr. Foater. In introducing the letter the chairman said that he had, before leaving home, addressed a note to Mr. Foster containing sundry inquiries, the last one of which was this:—If the Tonnage Tax is repeal. Pittsburgh?" In answering this note Mr. Foster significantly omitted all reference to this inquiry, and the gentleman to whom the answer was addressed supposed that he did so because he wished to consult the authorities of the road before answering it. Subsequently Mr. Foster forwarded a second letter, opening with an answer to the question we have recited; and now, mark the answer, remembering meanwhile that it was not given until opportunity was taken for consultation with the other officers of the road.

Mr. Foster says that, if the Tonnage Tax is re-

The members of the Philadelphia committee were not agreed among themselves as to the effect of the repeal of the tax. One of them thought it would result in an equal reduction of rates both to Pittsburghers and outsiders; while enother thought the rates to outsiders were already low enough, and the whole reduction would be made upon Pittsburgh freight. Both of them were wrong. The reduction in rates that would result, from the reneal would be another in the Queen Caroline, and the warden ship of the Mint. that would result from the repeal would be ap- ship of the Mint. plied exclusively to freights obtained on the line Mr. W. disorimination against Pittsburgh would be greater than it is now; "and the last state of that man would be worse than the form that the worse than the first and the first and the Datchts, and a great part of the Canseni marder case, on Friday of last week, in New York, the principally Germans, held a public meeting, denouncing slavery, sung the Marcellajse, and had a good time generally.

A BRILLSO JURGS.—During the trial of the Canseni marder case, on Friday of last week, in New York, the principal winess, a German samed Lauth, said that he had been effected $2,100 there was a struggle for the Postmastership of Potterille between the Irish and the Datchts' of the German Locofoco paper in that place. The former backing the claims of Michael Cochran recently appointed, while the latter were vocific and for the spipointment of II. J. Hendler, Editor out for the spipointment of II. J. the Pennsylvania Road, in order to maintain its credit, has a certain sum of money to raise every year; she is compelled, on account of the competition of other roads, to carry freight obtained within the range of that competition, at a very low rate, and if she carries for you at the same low rate, she will not be able to raise enough money to meet her liabilities; therefore, she is compelled to lay a heavy tariff on you in order to raise the wind successfully.

Verily! And so we are pleasandy informed that we are a community to be plucked and plundered by a corporation that happens to be "short" in its income—a resource which it keeps in reserve to meet its necessities, just as the European monarchs of old kept the Jews to make a descent upon when their purses ran low.

The Pennsylvania Road is fortunate—extremely so—in having such a pigeon to pluck. It complemently says to itself as Falstaff did of the world, "Pittsburgh is mine cyster" Happy Road! Happy people of Pittsburgh is to treat us as a subject people, upon whom it may levy subsidies at its pleasure! Some folks, mere outsiders, may think from our wriggling that we don't like to be skinned; but Lord bless of the read us as a subject people, upon whom it may levy subsidies at its pleasure! Some folks, mere outsiders, may think from our wriggling that we don't like to be skinned; but Lord bless plied exclusively to freights obtained on the line of competing roads and would contribute to a still further fostering of that "insane competition" from which every road in the country has been and is now suffering. In that case, the discrimination "against Pittsburgh would be greater than it is now; "and the last state of that man would be worse than the first."

Mm. W. M. Gosnell, imprisoned at Cincin mit for harboring a fugitive slow, was met by a crowd of 3000 men, at the door of the jail, when his term had expired, and excerted through the streets accompanied by bands of music. After the procession, the participants in it, who were principally Germans, held a public mening, denouncing slavery, sung the Marcellajse, and had a good time generally.

We have lately had a committee in our midst, from the Philadelphin Board of Trade, urging upon our people the property of co-operating with them in the repeal of the Tonnage Tax, and their visit has renewed the public interest in this question.

We are glad to note this visit, because it indicates the right method, of going to work; but, so far as it was intended to entite our co-operation in the matter named, it was a failure. Our merchants listened to what their Philadelphis friends had to say—listened attentively, respectfully, and the general schiment, spring, rather, to deepen and intensify the constituent, spring, rather, to deepen and intensify the constituent, spring, rather, to deepen and intensify the constituent as they not repeat to the preparation of the present proposition. Shall we lay all this to the tage what we have all often before heard on the mass right to claim for himself and the two present. Is ITTHE EYECT OF SLAVERY "The Southern papers have been for some time holding up the papers have been for some time holding up the temporary disorders that break out in northern cities as an evidence that free society is a failure and that the laboring classes are not capable of and that the laboring classes are not capable of and that the laboring classes are not capable of and that the laboring classes are not capable of and that the laboring classes are not capable of and that the laboring classes are not capable of and that the laboring classes are not capable of self-government; and they have pointed with an air of assumed triumph to the southern cities as a proof conclusive that, where slavery exists and the laboring man is kept under strong control, every thing in the governmental way goes on smoothly. This Pharasaic assumption of superiority meets with a poor illustration in New form the Philadelphia Board of Trade, urging form the Philadelphia Board of Trade, urging for the Carliel Carliel which was this:—"If the Tonnage Tax is repealed, will the benefit of it inure to the city of Pittsburgh?" In answering this note Mr. Foster significantly omitted all of the city of Pittsburgh?" In answering this note Mr. Foster significantly omitted all of the city of Pittsburgh?"

Mr. Foster says that, if the Tonnage Tax is repealed, he will be willing, for one, to let Pitts hargh reap the benefit of it. How oracular There is here no pledge, no assurance, no promise, even; but a vague indication of what one individual member of the board of Directors will be stilly birds, indeed, if they can be caught with such chaff as this.

The members of the Philadelphia committee were not agreed among themselves as to the effect of the repeal of the tax. One of them thought it would are provided to the content of the care of the repeal of the tax. One of them thought it would are repealed and not take effect absolutely by its terms.
