which have grown out of their disappointments. We have in our mind's eye, just now, some half dozen of these fellows. It is not necessary to name them. Their anxiety to disturb and distract the party, with a view to its defeat, is thoroughly understood. The lecofoce leaders are constantly consorting with them, counseling them and giving them substantial aid; and their whole purpose is to throw the county, if possible, into lecofoce hands, in order to punish the party for not appreciating them at their own enormous estimate. It is barely necessary to call the attention of all true Republicans—those who are such realiy—to the plain designs of these men, and to warn them against their many the distinguished visitors, accompanied by an Cameron, left Harrisburg, last evening, by the Lebanon Valley Hairrond, en route for where they were most hospitably entertained by Mr. Dawson Coleman, where they were most hospitably entertained by the Lebanon valley statisfied in the visce mean, and to such realization of the Reading Railrond Company, and Mr. Kortright: the British Consul at Philadelphia. They proceeded to Potisville, where they will disc this evening, after visiting the coal mines in the vicinity.

It is barely necessary to call the attention of all true Republicans—those who are such realiy—to the plain designs of these men, and to warn them against their machinations. No matter what they pretend or what airs they may nassume; they are enemies in disguise—Pharisecs of the basest sort. The dovil could take on himself the form of an angel which are struction. The path of duty is plain and straightforward; let nothing tempt you to swerre from it a hair's breadth.

There are two members of Congress to be chosen this year in this county. The defeat of both or either of them may serve to give the most favorable circumstances, we can do but little more than obtain a mere majority in the flows, and to do that we must carry not only serry Republican but every doubtful district.

To throw away one or both of these Republican districts would therefore be little sbort of maddistricts would therefore be little sbort of maddistricts.

House, and to do that we must carry not only every Republican but every doubtful district.

To throw away one or both of these Republican districts would therefore be little short of madness. It would most certainly peril our ascendency in the next House, and might lead to the most disastrous consequences to the country. Is any sound-hearted Republican in Allegheny county prepared to lend himself to such a result? If not, let him spure every attempt to foment disturbance or disorganization in our ranks.

The country is groaning, at this hour, under a paralysis of its industry. The workshops are measurably idle, the hum of busy looms has ceased, furnaces and forges are daily stopping, stagnation has descended upon all the currents tagnation has descended upon all the currents.

stagnation has descended upon all the currents of trade, and the depression that has fallen upon every industrial interest is fearful to contemplate. The late session of Congress did nothing whatever to alleviate this distress, and took no step looking to a future escape from it; on the contrary it plunged the nation into a series of pecuniary excesses that would make a spendthrift look pale, and squandered the borrowed millions of the government with a lavish and reckless hand. Within one short year the national debt has been increased over $10,000,000 and the national expenditures have run up to over $33,000,000. This locofoco administra-

There never was a time when it more behooved the members of the Republican party to stand firmly together, than now. There is a brilliant firmly together, than now. There is a brilliant propaget before us of carrying the next Congress, the following:
