eral hunt, the results of which we have not learned,—Chicago Trib.

The following is the opinion of the Court on granting the writ of mandamus which Thomas Williams, Bsq., went to Harrisburg on Tuesday to argue, and which we are informed be did argue on Wednesday.

Lowrie, C. J. The writ of right that any party can have merely on ordering it; but it can be had only on application to the Court and on howing a prima facit litle is it. The application for it is an appeal to the decision of the discretion of the Court, and hence the usual practice formerly was to rule the other party to Refuge. practice formerly was tor rule the other parity to be present at the hearing of the application, so that he or they might aid in informing the Court in the exercise of their direction. Tast from a count of that the or they might this in informing the Court in the exercise of their direction. Tast from all straw hat. If any one should see the child as by lad on a dark dress and and of practice was a stray pursued.

The Court might this in the received on a proper ground for a motion to quash the writ on account of the unsal pre-liminary rule has ing been dispensed with this preliminary rule, and swared the ast formative mandamus on a proper ground with this preliminary rule, and swared the substitutes of the cornative mandamus on a proper ground with this preliminary rule, and swared the substitutes of the proper ground for a motion to being shown by the ground and drings on the cause for heavy and the received on the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account of the unsal preliminary rule has awared the ast formative mandamus on a proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account of the unsal preliminary rule, and swared the substitutes of the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account of the unsal preliminary rule, and swared the substitutes of the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ the preliminary rule, and swared the substitutes of the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account of the unsal preliminary rule, and swared the substitutes of the countries of the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account of the unsal preliminary rule, and swared the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account of the unsal preliminary rule, and swared the substitutes of the preliminary rule, and swared the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account to the preliminary rule, and swared the preliminary rule, and swared the proper ground for a motion to quash the writ to account to the preliminary rule, and swared the preliminary rule, and sw counse. To instead of inerving to quasti on—this ground, the defendants ought to have obeyed the writ by an awering or demurring.

We agree that the place for hearing such causes ought ordinarily to be within the Supreme Court district to which the defendants officially belong; but we shink that seen this must be subject to the decision of the Court. Wherever this Court may be when the remedy is needed, there it must be applied for, and thence and by the prothonofary there the writ may be issued. And to make the writ effectual at all in our hands, it must be returnable before us wherever we may be at the appointed return day, just at the same, writ out of a King's Bench would be. It is only thus that the cause can be brought to issue with proper promptness, and is to be ready for hearing in the district to which it belongs when we got there. We feel very strong distinction to bring parties out of their district at the actual trial of the cause, and cannot copsist to do til, except where the necessity of it is very apparent, or where promptness, and cannot copsist to do til, except where the necessity of it is very apparent, or where promptness, in the proceeding is eisential to its efficacy in the given case.

These remarks may stand as a uggastion of our visirs relative to two of the objections take by the defendants; the other two, we think, will nore priperly arise when we come to the merits of the case on an awer or demurrer.

The notion to quash is refused.
