ROBERT H. DAVIS, Ohio. BUCHANAN'S PUGNACITY .-- Mr. Buchanan did not shoulder his musket and march towards Baltimore in 1814, after denouncing the war as one of the greatest iniquities of the age, and Mr. Medison as one of the most incorrigible war-hawks, without having been impelled by a very warklike motive. It is true this movement was regarded, at the time, as a mere caper, on his part, in connection with a few boon companions, who had been paying undue respects to a few bottles of wine at an old fashioned Lancaster drinking bout; and there are people now living, who were young men then, who declare that the courage of the youthful volunteer for stimulent he had been imbibing. But we appreciated in those early times, or fully appreciated in the times, or fully appreciated in the times, or fully appreciated in the times and earlies to be completed this fall, none of the American manufacturers have been called upon to execute it, is, that the completion of the cast or pipes for the government agueduct at Washington and neighboring States, since his assumption of the soft in pipes for the government agueduct at Washington and neighboring States, since his assumption or pipes for the government agueduct at Washington pipes for, although taken in the name of our cities of the control to the Soft his or pipes for the government agueduct at Washington pipes for, although taken in the name of our cities of the control to the Soft his or pipes for the government agueduct at Washington pipes for the cast improvement and advantages at manufacturers prices, by the government government, and the trapent of the foundary of our own propells and inistration. Congress did possess and does, in our opinion, now possess the right to legislate in the territories against all theft; murder and rapine. The fathers classed Slavety among these crimes, and accordingly declared the foreign slave trade, piracy. With that same view of the enormity of slavery they at one stroke declared that every inch of territory possessed by the Union at the time of the adoption of the Constitution, should be forever free from the cares.
