SAVINGS BANKS.—The total savings deposits in this city alone, says The New York Courier & Enquirer, are over thirty-three millions of dollars, among sixteen institutions, and belong to about one hundred and fifty thousand depositors. This is a very pleasing fact, in the financial history of our city, and speaks largely for the industrial pursuits of our people. An analysis of the employments of these 150,000 depositors shows that they are mainly working people, whose wages are from four to ten dollars per week.

The conservative influence of such institutions upon the community cannot be over estimated. Wherever such institutions exist and are well managed, they indicate both industry and economy.

Their stability is well shown in the fact that they hold on bond and mortgage over fifteen millions of dollars, and in stock securities, real estate, and other available means; with a surplus of at least one million of dollars beyond their liabilities—thus securing the depositor beyond any contingencies of the stock market.

We have no means of ascertaining the savings deposits of Southern and Western States: but in New England and New York the system is firmly established. The deposits are:

| | |
|---|---|
| In Massachusetts, | $34,000,000 |
| New York City (about) | 33,000,000 |
| Brooklyn | 3,300,000 |
| New York interior | 7,000,000 |
| Total | $77,300,000 |

In Great Britain the savings deposits are thirty-two millions sterling all invested, according to statute, in government stocks, (consols, &c.,) yielding only 3a3¼ per cent., while in this country the average interest paid is over five per cent.

OUR HUNDRED MILLIONS A YEAR.—The extravagance of the Buchanan Administration is a bold and palpable fact. He who runs may read the evidence to prove it. We have stated the fact and given the evidence, that the expenditures for the current year will reach nearly or quite One Hundred Millions of Dollars. The Observer seeks by the manner of a blackguard to cover up this monarchical extravagance; and a usual deal in language as disgraceful as its position is untenable. The Observer sets down the "expenditures of the past Congress" at $82,500,000. The Washington Union gives the sum as the footing of the "regular appropriation bills," and adds to this aggregate so as to show a footing of sixty eight millions. But this is only a part of the year's expenses. Every reader of the Congressional proceedings is aware that the deficiency bills, and appropriations not included in the "regular appropriation bills" annually involve very large sums of money.

The Secretary of the Treasury in his official report estimates these expenses at $74,064,756, but this does not include items that must certainly be paid, and which we fairly estimated from precedent, as follows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Three new regiments, ordered after the estimate, | $4,289,640 |
| Post Office deficiencies, Gov ernment appropriated, | 2,500,000 |
| Public Buildings, | 1,700,000 |
| Private bills not less than, | 1,000,000 |
| Printing deficiency as heretofore, | 800,000 |
| Army deficiency, estimated to be same as last year, | 8,000,000 |
| Indian wars in Oregon and Washington, already certified by a federal officer at | 5,000,000 |
| but as the expenditure is still going on, the sum may be doubled, but put it down at | 5,000,000 |
| The Secretary's estimate | $23,989,647 74,064,755 |
| | $97,154,755 |

Here are the clear and indisputable items for over Ninety-Seven Millions of Dollars. Yet nothing is here allowed for the extraordinary expenses attending the Utah expeditions, which cannot fail to swell the aggregate to the astounding sum of One Hundred Millions of Dollars.—Utica Herald.

MRS. PARTINGTON AT SARATOGA.—"Every back is fitted for its burden," said Mrs. Partington, as she stood by the Congress Spring, from which one had just emptied the eighth tumbler in its capacious gullet, "and every stomach for its portion. Heaven, that tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, I dare say, will likewise also, temper the water to their compassity to bear it, for we read that Appollos shall water and that the increase will be given, which must mean Saratoga water, and the increase, the debility to hold it, though how folks can make a mill race of their elementary canal is more than I can see into." Roger stood looking at the victim, as tumbler after tumbler disappeared, when he turned around to Mrs. Partington and asked her if she remembered what Macbeth said to the fifer, in the play. She couldn't recall the name of Macbeth, but remembered having heard the name of Maccoboy somewhere mentioned. He told her that the remark alluded to applied to the scene then acting, for the hard drinkers were there by saying, by their acts, "dammed be he who cries, hold enough." "I think they all hold too much," remarked the dame. Roger nodded and smiled, saying, "and need damming too."
