THE DEATH OF BONPLAND.—A letter from Mote Video of May 29, brings intelligence of the death of a remarkable Frenchman, M. Aime Bonpland the naturalist, who died a few days previously at San Borja, at the age of eighty five. M. Bonpland was born at Rochelle in 1773. He was the son of a physician, and was brought up to his father's profession, but the political events of the early Republic compelled him to enter the navy. He made a long cruise as a naval surgeon, but took the earliest opportunity of returning to Paris to persue his studies. There, at the house of M. Corvisart, he made the acquaintance of a young German of about his own age, who afterwards became known to the world as the celebrated Alexander de Humboldt. These young men became intimate friends, and when M. de Humboldt undertook his expedition to the equinoctial regions of the new world, M. Bonpland accompanied him. During this journey M. Bonpland collected and classed upwards of six thousand plants, which were then unknown to botanical writers. On his return to France he presented his collection to the Museum of Natural History, and received the thanks of Napoleon I., who granted him a pension. The Empress Josephine was very fond of Bonpland; she made him her factor at Malmaison, and often sowed in her garden there flower-seeds which he had brought from the tropics. After the abdication at Fontainebleau, M. Monpland urged the emperor to retire to Mexico to observe plants. After weeks after tendering this ineffectless advice he sat by the death-bed of Josephine and heard her last words. Her death and the definitive fall of the Empire, leaving, him nothing to desire in France, he returned to South America, and became a professor of natural history at Buenos Ayres. Subsequently he has travelled acro ss the Pampas, the provinces of Santa Fe, Chaco and Bolivia, and penetrated to the foot of the Andes. Being there taken for a spy he was arrested by the Governor of Paraguay, and was detained a prisoner for eight years, till 1829. On his release he directed his steps towards Brazils, and settled at San Borja, where in a charming but humble retreat, surrounded by orange groves and shrubs, he remained to the day of his death receiving with pleasure all French travelers who visited him.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The July number of the Christian Examiner contains an interesting article on the "Material Condition of the People of Massachusetts." In it there will be found some information to which we would call the attention of Do Bow's Review, and to those who have pronounced free society a failure. The value of taxed property in the State, that belonging to churches, colleges, schools, and benevolent institutions being untaxed, amounts to one thousand millions of dollars. If divided this would give each farm in the State $880. It is more than a dollar a piece to the human race. And yet only two hundred and fifty years ago Massachusetts was a wilderness and the white inhabitants only a few Puritans. How much property is valued at one hundred millions, so that she could give a dollar to each of the one thousand million inhabitants of the earth, and then have a good capital in schools and other institutions to begin the world anew. There are fifteen banks, the aggregate of whose deposits amount to $33,000,000. The value of articles produced by the people's labor in the year 1855 was $296,000,000. About $1,000,000 is given annually in private and public charity. In 1620 the population was 523,287; in 1855 it was 1,132,369. There are 106 women to 100 men. Of males over fifteen there were in 1855, 333,642; in every 100 of these 3 work in factories, 5 are sailors, 3 are traders, 17 are farmers, 18 laborers, and 37 mechanics. Every eighth man in the State is a shoemaker.

THE CASE OF LOVE, FLIRTATION, JEALOUSY AND SUICIDE.—The Detroit Free Press publishes another version of the recent suicide said to have been caused by the heartlessness of a young lady:

We are informed that the young gentleman, Mr. Eldridge, went on board the Northern Light at the request of the young lady's brother, who was an intimate friend. He was suffering under a great depression of spirits from private troubles, unconnected with the young lady in question, towards whom he stood only in the relation of a friend. This depression was manifested in a marked degree, and, in connection with some other little circumstances, was easily construed by outside spectators into the form afterwards reported by them. At the time of his death he was, in mere bravado clinging by precarious hold to the outside of the boat, in the presence of several ladies. While in this position he lost his hold and fell into the water. Before aid could reach him he sank.

The Vicksburg Whig, of the 20th, says:

We learn from a gentleman interested in a plantation on the Yazoo, just down on the Rodney, that the Yazoo and all its tributaries are swelling at an unprecedented rate; that the country now presents a scene of desolation, and that the worst is not yet told. The breaking of the Yazoo Pass, and the extraordinarily heavy rains, have contributed to this direful result.—of course our friends on the Sunflower, who have been hoping against hope must suffer severely. It is truly lamentable news, and we regret to have to announce it.

A "NEW LANGUAGE."—Professor Scherb, in a lecture introductory to a course on the Poetry of the Bible, lately quoted the following from the sermons of a new "language," in Germany, just at the commencement of the Reformation:

"They have lately got up a new language, which they call Greek, and which is crammed full of heresies. I counsel you to beware of it, and especially of a book in that language called the New Testament. This is full of thorns and adders. They have also invented another new language, called Hebrew. All who read this will certainly become Jews."

The "baby elephant" at the Jardin des plantes has been making an excitement in Paris. He and his sire seem to have a bitter feud. To diminish it, they were put in adjoining enclosures. The "baby" at once commenced collecting sand and small pebbles with his trunk and discharging them at the face of the elder animal. The other gave signs of terrible wrath, and charged down on the railing which separated him from the cub. Fortunately the iron resisted the shock, and the family mutiny was brought to a close by the removal of the elder.

IN Massachusetts, the threatened divisions between the Americans and the Republicans, have been avoided by a call for a State convention, on the 9th day of September, addressed to the opponents of Mr. Buchanan's administration, and to the friends of the present State administration, without regard to party names. This will doubtless result in a cordial union of the Opposition, in the State and Congressional elections.

THE sun-fishers are sailing up the oysters in the beds of New York harbor, and the loss by them this spring is estimated at thousands of dollars. The proprietors have petitioned the State to remit the usual tax upon the beds and they assert that unless some way is found to check the ravages of these animals the oyster is in danger of becoming extinct, in that locality.

A GREAT WOOL GROWING COUNTY.—Harrison county Ohio, is one of the greatest wool growing counties in the Union. The Cadiz Sentinel estimates the crop of that county at four hundred thousand pounds, which will sell for one hundred and seventy-two thousand dollars! This is pretty extensive for a county of but four hundred square miles.

THE officials of the New York Tract Society are so ill at ease with their recent action, not to publish on the subject of slavery, that one of their own number, Dr. Adams of New York it is said, is preparing something on Slavery, for publication by the society.

SOME of the farmers in this vicinity have commenced cutting oats. Wheat and rye are nearly all harvested, and grass is now being cut. The crops generally will turn out very well.—Cincinnati Times.

THE FRANKLIN ALMANAC FOR 1859.—This well-known and popular annual, formerly published by Johnston & Stockton, after a lapse of years, will again shortly be issued. The outside of the book, it is said, will be made by the skillful mathematician, Sanford C. Hill, of Utica, who will prepare for its pages such reading matter as will make it an entertaining and instructive companion. Besides the reliable astronomical calculations, a new and improved table of time, an accurate method of finding meridian lines, and other matters of permanent value will be given.

Orders of booksellers and other dealers are solicited in advance of publication, as but one edition will be printed, and orders will be filled according to priority.
