REMISSION OF PAUPERS.—A Liverpool packet which recently sailed from Boston took out among its 125 passengers 75 paupers who had been collected from the State almshouses. There is a degree of practical, energetic common sense in this act which merits high praise. For many years past most of the minor governments of Europe have been in the habit of sending, not only paupers, but even criminals to the United States; while in Great Britain hundreds of landlords, desirous of getting rid of unruly or unprofitable tenants, or willing to help their poor to a better future, have helped them to emigrate to America.

The political excitements of the last four years have made the country familiar with the enormous proportion of foreign criminals in our jails. If we add to this the influence which so large a body of the dangerous class must have upon the younger members of poorer American society, we can hardly fail to be justified in asserting that a far greater proportion of crime in the community is due—not to foreigners, as it is unfairly represented—but to a separate and distinct class of foreigners, who ought to be prevented from entering the country, or sent back, after the Massachusetts fashion, when once found out.

Few persons have any idea of the seminaries of vice conducted in New York, exclusively by foreign villains, from which a stream of corruption is constantly flowing out all over the country. Let any one read the Police Gazettes and learn. All of the burglars and pickpockets of note are English, while the corrupters of infancy, (the number of whom have vastly increased of late) and the counterfeiters of coin are principally low Germans. Now it is a well known fact, that in no country in the world are children allowed to have their own way or are absolutely independent as in America. In our large cities this is turned to fearful account by those who literally traffic in vice. And when in those large cities, money is a sure guard and defence against all punishment, we see additional reasons for keeping professional evil doers not borain any State out of it.

Banishment—exile. After all, this is the proper remedy for vice, and one too little considered by our law-makers. Hard or not, it is better that one evil doer be removed than that ten good citizens should be corrupted. Recent experiments favor the theory that banishment is the only effectual means of reforming criminals; that is when banished to colonies where those of different grades of crime are separated, and where labor is stimulated by judicious rewards, and where a proper feeling of pride and dignity is little by little awakened. Could this be done, it were well. In the meantime, we venture to commend the Massachusetts example as one well worthy of being followed. Tax-payers at any rate will think so.—Phila. Bulletin.

POISONOUS AND UGLY REPTILE.—A few days since a box of fruit from Palermo was being opened in the fruit store of Messrs Reed & Forbush, 21 Merchants row, a live centipede of the most venomous class was disclosed to view, and, after a somewhat protracted chase about the store, and among barrels and boxes, it was captured, immediately consigned to a bottle filled with alcohol, where it soon evinced its fatal infesting its utter distaste for the treatment in a variety of contortions. This deadly poisonous reptile measured some six inches in length and was of a two distinct legs, each about three-fourths of an inch long. A living scorpion was discovered in the same box of fruit, and was consigned to the same liquid element as the poisonous companion.—Boston Journal.

The Hon. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS, of Georgia, did not hesitate to declare, when in this city the other day, en route for the Northwest, that he was in favor of the re-election to the Senate of Judge Douglas; and that he regarded the war by the President upon the anti-Lecompton men of Illinois as wickedly foolish. Mr. Stephens being a Southern man is at liberty to express his opinions freely. He may denounce the President in the most contemptuous terms as "pig's foot" his policy, call him hard names, and no word or gesture even of weak remonstrance comes back. But, let a "National" Democrat presume to say that old Buck has an old fool, or even venture a suggestion that the opinions of the "Old Chief" are not immaculate conceptions, and from that time forward he has no rest for the sole of his foot, but is cuffed and cussed and hooted and booted out of the party. —Cin. Com.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon, a young man by the name of Frederick Fullmer, was driving a two horse wagon, loaded with lumber, down the steep hill leading to Fulton. The lumber in the wagon jolted against the horse's heels and they started and ran down the hill at a furious rate. The young man was thrown from the wagon, and his hands being wrapped in the lines, he was dragged upon his back, over the rough stone, a distance of half a mile. His head was found to have been fractured by the fall, the brains torn from his back, and he was most horribly bruised and beaten by contact with the wagon and stone upon the road. The young man was taken to the residence of his father, in Fulton, and Dr. Frizzle was called upon. He was still living when we last heard, but it was thought he could not survive.—Wheeling Int.

RIGHT ON THE TARIFF.—The Reading Journal says; "Some of the Locofoco papers, well versed in lying, have given out that Hon. John M. Read, the people's candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, does not sympathise, with the movement in favor of protection to American industry. His former connection with their own party might give color to such an inference. It appears, however, that Mr. Read, even when acting with the Democrats, did not agree to the free-trade notions of the party, but for years has favored and advocated the policy of protection, and was endorsed in the Convention by Henry C. Carey, the great apostle of protection to American industry. That ought to be enough to satisfy every true friend of protection that he is all right."

CROPS IN KANSAS.—A gentleman who left Emporia, Kansas, about ten days ago, gives the following information in relation to the crops in that vicinity:

The wheat and oats had all been harvested in good order, and the yield was extraordinarily great. Mr. Hicks threshed over eighty-two bushels of wheat grown upon two acres of ground, and thinks that but a little more than an average yield of other fields in that vicinity. That of all other kinds of grain and vegetables was proportionally large, and the grass crop turned off three tons to the acre on the upland prairies.

The large fat hat a la mousquitaire, which has been so much worn of late at the French Court, has been replaced since the journey to Fontainebleau, by the simple gypsy hat, tied down by a guaze scarf, which fastens it beneath the chin. The Empress is said to have named this hat an "Olivia," from the "Vicar of Wakefield," and has worn it with great success in her rambles about the park and gardens of St. Cloud. The ladies of the imperial Court, have followed her example, and the mousquetaire is, consequently, quite exploded.

CHERBOURG.—The Paris correspondent of the Sunday Globe says that at a glance at the roadstead and naval harbor of Cherbourg suffices to show that it is not, the bugbear that might be supposed. It is not land-locked like Brest or Sebastopol; and supposing it to float inside the breakwater forty ships of war and four hundred transports, there is nothing to prevent the whole collection being fired and annihilated by an outside fleet commanding a range of two miles; and land batteries cannot protect it efficiently.

Governeur Morris, while the surgeons were dressing his leg, observed his servant standing by weeping. "Tom," said Mr. Morris "why are you crying there? It is rank hypocrisy—you wish to laugh, as in future you will have but one shoe to clean instead of two."

A CANDID ADMISSION.—Gov. Hammond, of South Carolina, in one of his recent speeches, said:

"All the opposition measures of which the South has complained in the last thirty years, SHE HERSELF INAUGURATED. WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON, IN THE MATTER OF SLAVERY, SET THE EVIL EXAMPLE. The North borrowed it from them. The Bank of the United States originated with the South. The South, under some of our leading men, was god-father of the tariff. And it was the same with the internal improvements. Then, if the South has done all these things and undone them, has she not the power, if still united, to control it?

This is all true. Washington and Jefferson initiated the great principle which now lies at the basis of the Republican party. They were the first to give practical effect to the idea that Congress possessed supreme power over the Territories, and that that power should be exerted to keep out slavery. But what was initiated by Washington and Jefferson, is now repudiated by Hammond and Buchanan.—Albany Eve. Jour.

ALTHOUGH Senator Douglas does not find it convenient to arrange with Mr. Lincoln for addressing the same audiences alternately, on the same day, during the present canvass, the people are determined to hear both sides of the questions discussed, as nearly in accordance with Mr. Lincoln's proposition as may be. When Mr. D. has had his say, to which Mr. L. is generally a listener, the latter is called out, and makes an appointment to speak the same day or on that following. This gives great displeasure and uneasiness to Mr. Douglas and his organs who threaten and call names. But it takes with the people, and, probably, will be continued.

SAGACITY OF THE SEA GULL.—An exchange says:—Why the word "gull" should be used to express stupidity I cannot at all comprehend, for the gulls are very knowing birds indeed, and difficult to be deceived. If a piece of bread or biscuit be thrown from a boat it remains but a very short time on the surface of the water before it is carried off by a gull, although previously not a bird was visible. But it is a matter of gulls are flying about and a piece of paper or white wood be thrown into the water, there is not a gull who will even stoop towards it, although to the human eye the bread and the paper appear identical.

From statistics carefully collected in England it appears that in that country three hundred and fifty seven intemperate persons die for every one hundred and ten of temperate habits. At twenty years of age, an intemperate man may expect to live fifteen and a half years longer, while a temperate man of the same age may expect to live forty-four years longer. At thirty, an intemperate man will probably live fourteen years longer, a temperate man thirty years longer. At forty, an intemperate man will ordinarily live twenty years longer, while a temperate man will live twenty nine years longer.

A correspondent of the Missouri Democrat, says (that a farmer in Macoupin county, Illinois, commenced cutting a field of oats, which he had regarded as good for fifty bushels to the acre. But he presently discovered that though the oats looked so well, there was not one kernel of oats in the whole field, and that a rust was over the straw which was rank poison to cattle; so that he was obliged to stay his reaper and burn the field.

OLD Mr. Buchanan and party, and Sir Wm. Gore Ousely and family, are recreating at the Bedford springs. The old gentleman cannot leave himself in the waters of these springs sufficiently often to wash out the political guilt that stains him. If an angel were to trouble the waters, and the attendants were speedily to help the old man in, he might be improved.—Chambersburg Rep.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Maj. John Zane, the postmaster at Martinsville, opposite Wheeling, died very suddenly on Monday. He had gone to the railroad depot to get the mail and on returning dropped dead on the street.

THE Washington Union says that "the banks are divorced from the Democracy." If they are, they had better not renew the matrimonial connection, unless they are in a hurry to be widows.—Lou. Jour.

THE Detroit Advertiser says "that rats are continually gnawing into the Treasury." Rats, as everybody knows, die in an exhausted receiver, and we suppose they will share the same fate in an exhausted Treasury.—Lou. Jour.

THE editor of the Southern Mercury talks about boring people for the "simples." May be he thinks that everybody has the simples; he certainly bores everybody.—Lou. Jour.

THE Charleston Mercury says that its party "is against all the isms." Especially patriotism, we suppose.—Lou. Jour.
