About 11 o'clock he took a piece of heavy tin, bent 4t upon a sharpened steel pen, so as to fasten it firmly, and then made an inclusion in his left arm. He did not strike tho main artery, but the blood flowed profusely for two or three hours. The miserable inan was upon the floor at 'the time, but after bleeding awhile dragged himself up on the bed, where he fainted. Some time afterwards he recovered and fore open the ological wound, with a desperate determination to end his miserable life. Some time afterwards he recovered and tore open the clogged wound, with a desperate determination to end his miserable life. His weakness prevented him from making farther efforts, and he was discovered in an exhausted and almost rigid condition, about 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Physicians were called in and the blood was immediately staunched, and remedies applied to effectually revive the sinking patient. The cell and the prisoner presented a ghastly and shocking sight, the bed and the floor containing great pools of, blood. Burns remarked to the bed was enough him, when he recovered, that he did not expect to see them there. He seemed surprised to sight find himself in the cell, and said that bleeding to death was an awful way to end one's existence. He lost over a gallon of blood, and it is regarded as a most extrordinary circumstance that he did not die.—

Devinour, Aug. 17.—The Queen's message was recived here last night with the utmost enthusiasm. The city bells rung simultaneously, and the whole populace was called out; bondres and drewporks lighted up the city, while the streets were litterally thronged with citizens anxious to learn the tidings, celebrate the event and hear impromptu speeches. To night a grand display of fireworks and general illumination will take place, a salute of one fundred gues will be fired, and a grand torch-light procession will move through the principal streets. The utmost enthusiasm prevails through the State.

CINCINANT, AUG. IV.—The clitics are pleased to find the Atlantic Telegraph in working order, and that the recording instruments have at length been adjusted. The Quees's message is regarded as a poor composition, too tame and common-place to be the first transmitted from Europe to America by means of the greatest triumph of modern genies and human enterprise. There is general good humor and congratulation among the people. Massillon, Aug. 17.—Great excitement and en-thusiasm prevails here infregard to the success of the sying of the Telegraph Cable. The telegraph and all the principal business buildings in town are il-imminated. NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—At ten minutes before leven o'clock this morning, the following message was received from Trinity Bay, for Mr. Archibald, no of the honory members of the Atlantic Telegraph Company.

TRISTY BAY, Aug. 17.—E. M. Archibald, Now York:—The Queen's message was completed at five o'clock this morning. It was commenced yesterday, and during its reception the operators at Valentia desisted from sonding it, in order to make some slight repairs in the cable. Through a mistake the part received was sent South, as if it constituted the whole message.

The following was immediately sent to Washington, together with that for Mr. Archibald:

NEW YORK, Aug. 17, 1858.—To the Honorable of President of the United States at Washington :-

New York, Aug. 17, 1858.—To the Honorable, the Persident of the United States at Washington:—Log leave to transmit a message this moment, received from Trinity Bay, explaining the cause which prevented the whole of the Queen's message from being telegraphed from Valentia yesterday. Shall we consider your message to Her Majesty a full reply, and date this day accordingly? The operators at Trinity Bay await your answer.

(Signed)

The following is the Queen's message to the President, via Trinity Bay:

"To the Honorable the President of the United States: Her Majesty desires to congratuates the President open the successful completion of that great international work, in which the Queen has taken the deepsat interest. The Queen is convinced that the President will join with her in fervontly hoping that the electric cable, which now connects Great Britain with the United States, will prove an additional link between the nations, whose friendship is founded upon their common interest and resiprocal esteem. The Queen has much pleasure in thus communicating with the President's reply to the Queen was given yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—Salutes of one hundred guns were fired this morning from the Navy Yard, and Broad and Washington streets. Unfortunately, during the latter, a cannon was prematurely discharged, by which two artillery-men had their arms shattered. The city bells, chimes of Christ's, St. Peters, and St. Stephens churches, and fire-bells rang from six to sight o'clock. The shipping, public buildings, hotsis, and newspaper offices are hundsomely decorated with flags.

The American Telegraph office is brilliantly illuminated to night. Inside of the, office the motto displayed is: "The Atlantic Cable; Field's improvement on Franklin's Kin-tring."

The rain storm has prevented the fire-works in front of the Mayor's office.

Baltimore, Aug. 17.—The streets present quite a ront of the Mayor's other.

BALTHORE, Aug. 17.—The streets present quite a nolliday appearance; flags are displayed from all the utility and shipping. A salight of two hunted guns is now being fired. The bells of Christ hord, and all the bells in the city, are ringing a norry peel, and general enthustam prevails.

morry peel, and general enthusiasm prevails.

Curtaco, Aug. 17.—Although the preparations for colobrating the reception of the Queen's message were not perfected, immeliately on the announcement of its receipt, the oxcitement broke out, and continued nearly all night. At ten o'clock, one hundred guns were fired, the belis rang for one hour, rockets were sent up, and bonfires blazed on almost every street corner in the city. A grand celebration comes off this versing in honor of the event, under the direction of a joint Committee of the Common Council and Board of Trade.
