CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.—Hon. John A. Bingham has been renominated by the Republicans of the 21st district of Ohio. In the 15th district the Republicans have nominated William Helmick to succeed the notorious Burns in Congress. The Democrats have taken the latter as their candidate, thinking, probably, that no Democrat in the district better deserves a good beating than he. Burns will, of course, be defeated by a much larger majority than any respectable Lecomptonite would have been, but the district was sure to elect a Republican, in any event.

John M. Wilson is fairly on the track against English, in the 2nd district of Indiana. It is the manifest duty of the people of that district to elect Wilson, and we trust they will make thorough work of the canvass, despite the formidable powers arrayed against them. It is quite enough for Buchanan to control members after they are elected, without instructing the people whom to elect.

In the 11th Ohio district, Hon. N. H. Van Vorhes has been nominated by the Republicans. He is editor of the Athens Messenger, and is a member of the Ohio Legislature. Two years ago he was elected to the office of Speaker by the Republicans, which office he filled with credit. Hon. V. B. Horton, the present incumbent, was not a candidate. The district is close.

RAPID DECREASE OF DEMOCRATS.—At the recent election in Kansas, the Oxford precinct, which, when Candlebox, Calhoun and the footing of the returns, gave nearly eighteen hundred votes, stood as follows:

For the English Bill	16
Against "	13
Total	29

This is an unhealthy season in Kansas; but this astonishing mortality, and all in the Democratic party, is unparalleled. But it is not confined to Oxford alone. Shawnee, which gave eight hundred majority at Calhoun's command, only a year ago, now foots up thus:

For the English Bill	41
Against "	30

Here is a decrease of Democratic strength that needs explanation. We believe it was Bigler who demonstrated in the Senate that Oxford and Shawnee really polled a bona fide vote of 2000 between them. He can amuse the Senate next winter by showing some cause for the rapid diminution that has taken place.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.—The Post, gives a sort of endorsement to the Gibson & Williams County ticket, but scouts the platform, and supports the candidates only as democrats, and not as the nominees of the Convention. It says:

"As the Democratic Convention refused to entertain and discuss all political issues, State or National, or even compliment the Administration at Washington or Harrisburg, the Committee imposed no obligation upon any Democrat to vote for the ticket except as Democrats. We recognize them as such, and as such intend to support them. We do not acknowledge the resolutions, nor acknowledge their binding force. We believe there is a Democratic party which has principles and substance too old and solid to be ignored or pushed aside by would-be political office holders.—We shall go into the campaign in defence of the time-honored principles of the party, and labor with unflagging zeal for the election of the ticket. We acknowledge no affinity with Know-Nothings, nor hold out partnership bids to Republicans. We stand or fall upon principle."

The Journal is fierce in its denunciations of the convention. It says:

"With the single exception of the Commissioner's office, we cannot apprehend danger to any portion of our ticket. This gentleman is evidently to be put on the Anti-tax ticket, and a desperate struggle for his election is to be made. But Mr. Farley has just held office under the late and present administration, and is fully identified with all the abominations of both. He is a sort of half-way preacher, and yet purports not only to swallow, but to delight in all the abominations of the two last administrations, and the hypocritical platform of Wednesday. All this, we maintain, is too much for any honest conscientious man to swallow. And, therefore, we do not regard his nomination as the profound master stroke his supporters appear to think. But we do not care to spend much time this morning on its men—its platform is the basest hypocrisy. This party insults to have, as its corner stone, hatred to Banks and Corporations.

"Yet the hypocrites, in the undisturbed possession of our State Government, have filled our State with wild cat Banks, and disgracefully rotten Corporations. Look at the last session of the Legislature, our Republican members fighting Banks—the repeal of the Tonnage Tax—Sunbury and Erie Railroad rascality—while the Democratic State administration and a majority of Democratic members of the Legislature are sustaining these things which their resolutions of Wednesday declare 'disclose a system of corruption unsurpassed in the Legislature of Pennsylvania.'

"They denounce the system of free tickets on railroads as bribery, and yet every man in the convention that can, get one, candidates whom they nominate, the editors of their papers are all seen using or soliciting such tickets. They denounce all the newspaper press as bought up and corrupt, and yet their accredited organ is the railroad organ of this city, if any newspaper can claim to be such organ. The leaders in that convention are office-holders under the general and State government; and yet because they think they can make some anti-railroad capital, they profess to be willing to forego the consideration of national and State policy in order to pull wool over the eyes of a few Republicans. Get a county convention in Green, Berks, and Northampton to pass such resolutions, and we will believe them. Hypocrisy in all forms we ever have and ever will detest. The Mahomedan theology teaches us that the deepest pit and the hottest corner in the infernal region are reserved for hypocrites. The frank, sincere man, even when a scoundrel, we can have some respect for, but your whining, canting scoundrels who will meet in convention and resolve one thing and then the moment they leave the Court House, run after a railroad official to get a free ticket—to the Legislature—to a corporation officer to tempt him to bribe them to get some rascally bill through the Legislature. From such measures, God protect us."

The Dispatch says:

"Honorable William Wilkins, a gentleman no less venerable in years than able in councils, a man of silver hairs, on the verge of eighty, who, before most of us were born, was a recognized leader of the Democracy of this county and of Pennsylvania—once more popular, personally, than any man of the West, who was the elected candidate of Pennsylvania for the Vice Presidency of the Union, when the heroic Jackson was a second time placed in the Presidential chair—who has been our U. S. Senator, our Ambassador to Russia, our Congressional Representative, your State Senator—who, in fine, has, so far as we can remember, never failed of election when a candidate for any position—has been so popular that even his political enemies never ventured to defame or ill-treat him—was sent as a Delegate to this 'Democratic Convention.' Here Col. Gibson offered a resolution charging that venerable Judge and gray-haired political favorite, along with every Democratic member of the Legislature who voted with him, with the mean, gross vice, the base crime, indeed, of having accepted the wages of corruption to betray the people, in voting for the sale of the State canals to the Sunbury & Erie Railroad. The old man stands up among his former friends—deprecates the insulting charge—declares it untrue and unjust—fairly, begs that this resolution be not adopted—it is done, almost unanimously, and William Wilkins stands accused by his own party friends with the basest rascality, the meanest villainy, of which a public servant could be guilty.

"He also offers a set of resolutions that Convention, making reproof of inaction and approval of the acts of President Buchanan, &c.—nothing offensive in them—nothing un-Democratic as Democracy is elsewhere taught—and the Convention refuses even to hear them read. Judge Wilkins must 'die on' spurned by his own party, while he appeals to its magnanimity of the independent and opposition press (with the remark that he gloried in its freedom) to give there resolutions to the public.

"Hon. Charles Shaler was solicited to become candidate for Congress before that Convention; he, too, had fought long and well in the party's hardest struggles; his long services and well earned good name had brought him but few of the honors of office; he was not a beggar of petty places; seldom, if ever, have we known him to be "dumb" or inactive during any party struggle; he was ever as reliable in the day of trial as any wheel-horse of the party. He sent a respectful, well-written, argumentive letter to that Convention, stating his views, and agreeing to accept a nomination if acceptable to the Convention. This letter expressed entire confidence in President Buchanan, was "sound" on the Tariff, hoped for the success of Democracy and the perpetuity of the Union—was most truly orthodox according to the orthodoxy of a little while ago. Its only sinful sentence was the opposition to repudiation of debts, as not the sort of Democracy he had learned in youth and cherished in manhood and advancing age. That letter was read amid hisses of his late party friends, and Col. Gibson even refused to furnish it to the reporters for publication with the proceedings. Hon. Charles Shaler was placed in nomination for Congress before that Convention by his friend, Hon. Wm. Wilkins, and the only vote for that nominee was that of Judge Wilkins.

"But why go on? We might speak of other doings of that same Convention—of its membership, as men whose faces were quite strange in Democratic assemblages here—who seemed to have been got up for the occasion, to perform the funeral services of the party, by passing resolutions dictated by its veteran enemies, spurning those of its older leaders, kicking all of them out, and burrying the party of Allegheny county too deep for any political resurrection. Enough for the present.

WON'T ACCEPT THE NOMINATION.—We have it from reliable authority that Hon. John Burke, to whom he received the nomination for Congress for the 21st district, at the late Democratic Convention, intends forthwith to send in his resignation as candidate for the office, if, indeed, it has not been already forwarded to the parties whose duty it is to receive it. The reasons which prompt the gentleman to this course are, we learn, the same which controlled Judge Shaler's action in refusing to accept a nomination at the hands of the Convention, unless under certain conditions, namely: opposition to repudiation, and the policy of those who favor the measure. Who the gentleman's successor will be, remains to be seen.—Chronicle.

The fact that Mr. Burke would not accept the nomination was known at the time to those who nominated him; and it was simply because they knew he would decline that they put him on the ticket. They wanted a nominee who would promptly get out of the way and give them a chance to trade off the Congressman with the Williams faction for a "Sore Head" endorsement of the rest of the ticket. The bargain will be consummated next Wednesday.

Mr. Burke declines, we learn, because the platform (written by Tom Williams) is one which, in his opinion, "no lawyer can stand upon." We also learn that Henry D. Foster, of Westmoreland, has whom there is no better lawyer in Western Pennsylvania, has expressed the same opinion of it.

THE NATIONAL EXPENSES.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says:

"The expenditures of the Government, for the quarter ending June 30th, 1858, were in round numbers $23,000,000. At this rate they would be for this year $92,000,000. The belief is that they will be much larger—at least the estimates and appropriations have looked to that result. The receipts are each week about a million less than the expenditures, and there at present seems but little hope that they will grow better."

A CONTEMPORARY advises all the people in our cities to make their escape to the Springs or some other cool place of resort. We know of no cooler place of resort than this city has become since Bruce's speech to the Convention last Wednesday. The only warm place in it is Gibson's face, which is hot and red with the apprehension that Buchanan will turn him out of office.

☞ If any of our readers wish to procure a good Kansas paper, they will find the Lawrence Republican an excellent one. It is published by Thatcher & Co., in Lawrence, at $2 per annum.

WAR IN AFRICA.—The Paris Pays, of July 24, says: At the present moment, occurrences are taking place in North Africa which, though they are highly important, seem to have escaped the attention of Europeans. It has already been mentioned that the Emperor of Morocco undertook a warlike expedition against the Semgura. On the 21st of May he set out from Meckinez at the head of 6,000 men of the black guards; 4,000 men of the regular infantry, and 9,000 horsemen, to attack the Semmura in their own territory, while his son, Sidi Mohamed, advanced with 18,000 men from Rabat for the same purpose. The rebels hastily retreated into the interior of the country, leaving their tents and baggage to the mercy of the invaders. The Emperor, deceived by Arab guides, whom he considered trustworthy, was suddenly set upon in the mountainous regions, surrounded by the Semmura, and sustained a disastrous defeat, effected according to return to Fez only by a series of almost miraculous escapes.

The Emperor Muley Abderrhaman is now eighty-two years old, and a campaign, like that he has just now entered upon, must, besides involving the most serious political consequences, be very serious and harrassing to him personally. The insurrection, he said to be extending to neighboring tribes. The Amazirgs, who were subjugated in 1725, after years of terrible warfare, are said to be making common cause with the rebels.

The government of the Emperor of Morocco has hitherto enjoyed the reputation, among its tributiary tribes, of possessing immense wealth, but this belief once shaken, the bonds of fear, which alone unite them to its throne, will soon be riven, and the mighty empire, perhaps, in turn be subjugated by those who, so long unwillingly contributed to its greatness and renown.

STARVATION AT FRAZER RIVER.—A correspondent of the Newark Advertiser, writing from Frazer River, says:

"Many companies make from 50 cents to $2.25 per day to the man; the richest bars in the river have yielded an average of $4 per diem, and the working bars only been continued because of a belief that the river would fall and in the bottom of the bars rich deposits could be found. The stories of $50, $100 and $150 per day are false. The stories regarding the commencement of want and danger of starvation are true ones. Some report to me that they have lived on boiled nettles, and snails, have paid $2 per lb. for horse meat, etc., etc. Pork, beef and flour are selling at some of the points where the crowds have collected at $1,50 to $2 per lb. It needs no more than this to assure me that starvation will be the fate of many. Boiled nettles and snails may do a man for a week or so, but if healthful food does not then come in, that man is gone."

A MAN DROWNED IN FUN.—On Sunday morning last a party of three men from Germantown, in Montgomery county, and two from Winchester, in Preble county, went on a fishing excursion to the Miami, above Middletown. On the way they fell in with Michael Selby, who joined the party. They all got drunk, during the day, and determined, for sport, to duck Selby, but in doing so they drowned him. They afterwards dragged his dead body into the woods, covered it with brush and placed over this a log.

The parties were subsequently arrested. Their names are Chas. Franz, P. Basoro, Benj. Christine, A. Westhavender, J. Haynes, C. Durman, J. Bowers, P. Cassel, T. Cased, W. Rhinehart. The three last named were held to bail in the sum of $1,000. The others were discharged.—Cin. Gaz.

INFANT MORTALITY IN FRANCE.—M. Bertillun, in a recent letter addressed to the Academy of Medicine, in Paris, has published some curious statistical facts concerning the mortality of infants under one year of age. Within the period of ten years there have been about 9,700,000 births in France, and 1,500,000 deaths under the specified age; so that, out of 1000 now born infants, 840 are destined to survive the first twelve months. But this rate of mortality is not the same for all departments, and it is a singular fact that the highest rate is found in a group of thirteen departments surrounding that of the Seine, which is not of the number.

KIDNAPPING A WHITE MAN.—The Burlington Gazette gives an account of the kidnapping of a blacksmith of that place, a short time ago, by a couple of Missourians, with the assistance of a city officer. John Pendleton, the man who was kidnapped, had been in Burlington two years as a hall, working at his trade, and had always been regarded and treated as a white man. Two Missourians came there a short time ago, and under the claim that he was an escaped slave, induced certain persons to aid them in decoying him into the country, where they handcuffed him and started to Missouri.

CHEAP.—A letter from Burlington, Iowa, predicts that flour, meals, corn, beef, and all provisions will be very cheap this year. The writer says:

"Lots of beef will go from this section, and more especially from Illinois, eastward. The over-labored or ill being treacherously entertained by the owner with corn nubbins and tender prairie grass to fit him for as early trip to New York."

Blowing His Horn.

Another characteristic gem from Thomas in the True Physic & Union of Friday. On what topic do you ask? Of course, the same subject continued," his pulsuant self. True, the convenient initial, R, is appended; but who don't know, that if the General fathers it, Thomas, and none but Thomas, wrote it. Ex pede Herculem. But to refer to one only of the great achievements therein set forth—the Legislative Eulogy on Gen. Harrison—which Mr. Williams thinks so admirable. Can't he re-publish it in his paper, that the public may judge of its merits? I have some slight recollection of the pamphlet, which, for grandiloquence, bombast, and rhodomontade, with, of course, a slight dash of egotism, can't be surpassed. I doubt whether it was ever read, or could be read, by a dozen within a year. I was asked by an intelligent lady if I had ever read it. I said I had once started at it; to which she replied that she also attempted it, but sickened, and abandoned the undertaking. Now, do let us have that eulogy, that we may judge for ourselves; and let friend Thomas at the same time explain how he whooshed Wm. B. Reed (whom the Legislature really wanted to have, and who would have delivered something worth reading,) out of the chair of reading that speech, and in classic language "rung himself in."

TIPPECANOE.

One hundred and thirty miles south-west of Topeka, Kansas, a youngman from New Jersey, crossing the Whitewater river, a branch of the Arkansas, observed that the muscles abounding in its bed seemed precisely identical with those which had proved so prolific of pearls in New Jersey. One of his companions thereupon proposed that they should collect and examine a quantity of them. The suggestion was acted on; a bushel of the shells were gathered and opened, and several pearls were found in them.—Everybody in the vicinity at once proceeded to pearl hunting, and the latest accounts state that some five thousand little pearls, ranging in size from a large pea to a pin head, have been found.—Cin. Com.

An Irishman who had been reading in this morning's paper the despatch from the "reliable gentleman in St. John's, who is in a position to obtain the earliest and most correct unofficial intelligence concerning the cable," was overheard to observe to his comrade:

"Honey, do you hear that? All the intelligence comes this way, and donated the ha'porth will go back. They needn't worrit themselves about the recording instrument and the signals. Nothing that comes from England on'st to Amerika, will ever go back."—N. Y. Post.

THERE seems to be a strong suspicion that the fire in the City Hall was intentionally kindled by some one who has an interest in the destruction of the public records, especially the books in the hands of the Committee on Accounts.—The nervousness of the Common Council last night showed that these insinuations were keenly felt, and the investigation to be undertaken will be watched with no little interest.—N. Y. Trib.

LARGE DEFALCATION BY A CANADIAN BANK OFFICER.—The Hamilton (Canada West) Spectator announces that John Muckleston, assistant cashier of the Bank of Montreal, decamped, having embezzled its funds to the amount of $18,129. Afterwards, $8,112 of the money was found hidden at the residence of Muckleston, and his father and the latter were arrested and committed to jail.

GRASSHOPPERS.—Grasshoppers are very plenty in the lower end of this county, and are doing a good deal of damage to the corn and seed clover. They seem to extend across the county in belts, and devour the herbage as they go. They prevail in legions in Middletown and Lowertown. They are also destructive in the lower end of Montgomery county.—Doylestown Dem.

THE St. Louis Republican states that a census of that city is about to be ordered by the "Black Republican" city authorities, and manifests alarm on the subject. This movement is thought to have something to do with an intended exposure of the frauds by which Blair was defeated. The Republican wants it put off till a more convenient season.

ALARMING FATALITY.—The Mobile Advertiser states that at Greenville, Miss., a family of seven fell victims to the "yellk sickness." Milk was a daily article of food in the family, and they ignorantly continued the use of it after their cows had been attacked by the prevailing disease, and died.

A NEW YORK merchant—who during the Frazer's River gold excitement drifted in the direction of California, El Dorado, and found himself amid the diggins—has written home that he "has seen the elephant, horns and all, and that it is the greatest humbug ever got up."

WESLEYAN CONFERENCE.—The English Wesleyan Conference, which assembled at Hull on the last Wednesday in July, elected the Rev. John Bowers, President and Rev. Dr. Hannah for Secretary. The retiring president is Francis A. West.

THE Harrisburg Patriot adopts the motto, "touch me not." Its warning is unnecessary. Nobody would think of touching it—even with a ten foot pole.—Lou. Cour.

NORTH CAROLINA.—It appears in the mountain district of North Carolina, Vance's K. N. majority is about 2500. Avery the democratic candidate, did not carry a single county.

MARRIED—Near Newark, New Jersey, on the 17th inst., by Rev. Dr. Murray, Mr. JOHN PORTER, of Pittsburgh, and Miss SARAH W. PRICE.

DIED—Yesterday morning, at Oakland, WILLIAM DUNN, M. D., only son of John C. and Sarah S. Bidwell, in the 24th year of his age.
