Company of the Annual Control of the Ann county and of the two cities favored these subscriptions, and will feel the force of this moral obligation. Let them all contribute in proportion to their means and the influence they exerted. Let also those who have been, and are, immediately benefits derived. But especially those who assisted directly these roads contribute in porportion to the beseful derived. But especially those who assisted directly in making these subscriptions should fork over 'liberally. It all these classes should contribute as they ought to do, the Bond-holders would sustain no lors.

One word in conclusion, as to political parties. I shall vote the Rapoblican houng tickst. I have no faith in the meral honesty or integrity of that man, who, having done all he could in making these subscriptions and baving received his compensation therefor from the railroad companies, is now a loud mouthed repudiator. I have no confidence in the word or honor of that man, who, standing on an anti-tax, suti-free ticket plaform, denounces all men as secondrels who accept free-tickets, and yet has one in his own pocket all the while. I cannot trust that, man who has once been bought, or is now playing a double game. And I cannot go with that party, which, in the hope of a tamporary triumph, ignores all its former principles and stakes itself on a local question, with such men as its feeders.
