CARPETS.—Measrs. McClintock, whose store is an Market, near its junction with Liberty street, have just received a very large supply of carpets of various patterns and prices to suit castomers. They are intending, with commendable enterprise, to have on exhibition at the Fair this week, a specimen of velvet carpeting, the equal to which was perhaps never imported into this city. It is gorgeous in design and woven intwo pieces, so that tracems without seam. The beauty of the colors and the skill with which they intermingle in wreaths and clusters of flowers cannot be fully appreciated without being seen. Mr. McC. has but two of this pattern and one of them was bespoken as soon as unrolled. Let those who desire carpetings of expensive patterns or less ambitious design give the Measrs. McClintock a call. They are always polite and kind whether they make a sale or not.
