THE MARCH OF FREE LABOR.—The character of the present immigration to this State, must be a source of sincere gratification to every man who has the interest of Missouri at heart. Numbers of farmers from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, are daily passing over our ferry-boats, en route to the interior, and from their personal appearance and the character of their equipment, it is patent to every unprejudiced eye that they are men of the right enterprise and stuff for a rapidly growing State. Yesterday morning we observed a train of six wagons wending their way along the Levee and up Market street, and learned that they belonged to Mr. Ragland, with two sons, Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Tate, all having their families, and in all numbering twenty persons. They are farmers from Washington County, Illinois, and left their homes on the 7th inst. They proceed to Spring field, in this State, and will locate on excellent land in the vicinity of that town. Another train of wagons, with about the same number of stalwart men and handsome hearty young mothers; with lively clean children, from the same part of the country, crossed yesterday on the upper ferry boat, and are now on their way to South west Missouri. Are not these encouraging signs for the future of our State?

While these white men yesterday morning were marching over the ferries into the promised land of Missouri, there might have been seen on Locust street the countermarch of a gang of about seventy black slaves, going out of this territory, which is entirely unmuzzled to them, and returning again to the land from whence they came. They were under charge of several negro traders, and were of all ages, sizes, colors, and sexes. These slaves have doubtless been accumulating in the yards of this city for some time past, and were being placed on board a Southern bound steamer, for the New Orleans market. With the departure of the boat they will be gone from this State, and room will be made for many white men.

These facts are very suggestive, and as surely point to the speedy extinction of slave labor in this State as the needle points to the pole.—St. Louis Dem.

THE AMERICAN SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.—We are gratified to hear, from various reliable quarters, of the continued and growing prosperity of this valuable institution. The noble stand which the managers took in regard to the colleting agency system, has commanded itself to the good sense and the kind regards of the Christian public. Those who now contribute to its funds, have the double satisfaction, first, of feeling that they are free from the promptings of their convictions of duty, not through the importunity of a professional collector; and, secondly, of knowing that the whole amount the Society collects goes directly to the benevolent objects for which it is given, without the discounts heretofore found necessary to pay the expenses of those employed in making the collections. The Sunday School Union was the first of the great national societies to lay aside this expensive system, and to commit themselves directly with a generous confidence, to the enlightened liberality of the churches. We are not surprised that they are meeting with a warm response, and that they have been enabled to push forward their missionary work with vigor, notwithstanding the pressure of the times, which during the past season, has dried up so many of the streams of benevolence.

We are pleased to observe also, that the publishing department of the institution has assumed an unwonted activity. They have, already, a larger list of publications than any publishing society or house in the United States, and larger probably, than any in the world—the number being, as we are credibly informed, not far short of fourteen hundred volumes. Besides this, they now publish a new volume every Saturday morning. These books, it is true, is small; but the aggregate amount is large, and goes to swell, perceptibly, the book trade of this city, and all the more because they are entirely of Philadelphia manufacture.

The American Sunday School Union is the only one of the great national religious societies that is located here. It becomes us, as Philadelphians, to give it a warm and hearty support. We rejoice sincerely at the evidences of its activity and vigor, and the abundant success attending its labors.—Phil. N. Amer.

HORSES STIFFENED AND HOOF BOUND.—A horse that is driven on a hard road is liable to be stiffened. I have seen valuable horses driven on our plank roads a few days, get quite lame, so I reasoned to myself of the cause, and produced a remedy and proved effectual. I have since tested it on found many hoof-bound horses, and with good results. I made a solution of salt and water, and applied it three times a day, by washing the legs and pouring upon the bottom of his feet and holding them up a few minutes to let it strike in, and saw the wonderful effects in a few days. I account for it in this way: Salt will extract moisture from the atmosphere, which keeps the feet moist all the while, it sets nearly like melted greese upon the foot. The hoof becomes tough but yet pliable. Like a chunk of wood saturated with salt, or brine, it is tough yet moist; and so with a horse's foot. And here let me add, as the habit of reaping the cracked hoof to toughen it is all folly. Apply your brine and you will effect a cure. Try it and blame me if it does not.—Ohio Cultivator.

FRENCH FASHIONS.—A letter from Paris says: "The materials prepared for the coming season do not denote any decrease in the extravagance in toilette, which has been so remarkable for the last few years. The fabrics are gorgeous, the prices even higher, and the profusion of trimmings and decorations on the increase. What was once the great charm in a damsel's toilet, simplicity, is now entirely lost sight of. Flounces and furbelows, laces, ribbons, jets, bugles, feathers, and flowers are all worn together, and without the discrimination of time and circumstances.

There are magnificent new black silks, which the looms of Lyons have sent us for the winter; these silks are so wide that only three breadths are necessary for the skirt. The texture is thick, but very soft, and the price not very moderate, varying from twelve to fourteen dollars per yard."

HUNTING PERTY ATTACKED.—Senator Pitch, of Indiana, together with two attendants, left not long since upon a buffalo hunt. It seems from information obtained from a party of friendly Indians, that the hunters were met and surrounded by a band of about fifty Yankton Indians, and ordered to leave the buffalo region. Pitch and his friends refused to comply with this hostile demand, and the Indians proceeded around their camp and hamstr
