We learn from that valuable exchange paper, the Blair County Whig, that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have commenced operations in excavating the big tunnel on the Allegheny Monatain, making it four feet wider. In a few days they will have 300 hands at work, day and night, 150 on and 150 off, and change every 12 hours, and it will be pushed shead until completed. This is the largest tunnel on the line of the road. Its original cost was very heavy. The object in widening this great work is not fully known to us.
