VOLUME LXXII---NUMBER 13. PITTSBURGH, SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 25, 1858. ESTABLISHED IN 1786. [For the Daily Pittaburgh Garette.]

MESSES. EDITORS: The Pittaburgh Young Men's Christian Association is an institution worthy the support of all who have the moral and spiritual welfare of our city at heart. And has it received the oncouragement and kind consideration it descrees?
We answer, unhealtatingly, that it has not. It was want, a hundred dollars for charitable objects, or to pay debts contracted to promote the welfare of a common brotherhood, those to whom we apply for and look mon as with the keen eye of suspicion, as if Insutance. Insurance. Pittsburgh Gazette. Pittsburgh Life, Pire and Marine Ins. Co. Pennsylvania Insurance Company Musical. Manufacturers. Druggists. Of PHINDURGE.

SINGING LESSONS. want, a unnored dollars for contracted specific to pay debts contracted to promote the welfare of a common brotherhood, those to whom we apply for an it look upon as with the keen eye of suspicion, as it is we were the recipients of their bounty, instead of food's poor, whom we have always with us. But this is not the main object we have in writing this communication. Active members of the Association Our appeal is to you; to you who, in signing our, constitution, pledged yourself to 'come up to the help of the Lord; to the help of the Lord against the mighty." to you who have time and teasts, for the improvement of which you will have to give an account; to you who are not your own, but who have been bought with a price; to you we appeal. Come up and help us, and your influence will revolutionize our city. Is there anything too hard for two hundred and fifty young men, through whose veins is coursing the warm blood of youth, and whose arms are showed by the omnipotence of Faith, to perform? We know there is not. Active members of the Pittburgh Young Men's Christian Association! do you realize this? We enry out do not, but you can. Do you sak how? We answer, sit down and realize your individual responsibility; consider that the work devolves upon you shone—that our failure to accomplish much for our blessed Master will be laid at your door, and we men't you men't become mighty instruments for good.

The firemen of our city ask for help, and shall we turn a deaf ear to their call? A few evenings since a member of your association was asked to write an appeal to the church to 'come over and help them.' A strange request, truly, but one which should put to blush those who profess the religion of Christ, and leave many to ask themselves whether they are not stumbling blocks, at the very gate of the kingdom. The firemen of our city ask for help, and we pray that they may be pondered honestly.

The Rev Mr. Gadsden, of South Carolina, with great impressiveness, read the morning services. It was not without emotion that the Bishop rose to preach. He referred to the sole ma thoughts which must ever be present to his mind when he should stand up, as he did then, to proclaim the Gospel to many whose faces he had never seen hefore, and whom he should never see again. But, when that mes sage was to be delivered in that presents he must remember that nothing found intervence
