understand, for the people of that region would gladly rid themselves of the annoyance they must suffer from his "vacant seat."

If parties in the Senate were so closely ballaneed as to make his absence a matter of serious consequence, we have not a doubt that the patriotic Senator from Missachusetts would, without regard to his personal feelings, resign his position, in order that the Republican partly might have the benefit of that much talked of "vois," and that some one of its aspirants might receive the honor of that much coveted "seat." But such is not the condition of parties—the pro-slavery men, as is well known, have a large majority, which cannot be affected by the presence or absence of a single Senator, and we can not, therefore, discover the propriety of editors showing so much uneasiness about a matter which does not and ought not to concern them.

If he attempted to interfere with him again.

years old.

Brooks, the perpetrator of the "outrage," was almost idolised by his constituents, although the service he rendered them involved the sacrifice of his character as a citizen and a representative; and we think a regard for common decency whould prevent us from clamoring for the removal of Mr. Sumner, on account of his unavoidable absence from his ceat.

If we of the North treat our champions with such ingratitude, we shall not need the aid of our opponents to make martyrs of them. Let us then, for shame sake, hear and see no more of this ill-timed out-cry for Mr. Sumner's place, we should content ourselves with the assurance that when a vote is really needed the Senator from Means and columbus within the last three years.—Cin.
