The is to be done under extraordinary circumstiasces. We have at this moment no financial gratem—no system of roreure. We have, jadeed, a tariff law which brought last year—into—the Treasury over $40,000,000, and this year is expected to bring in $50,000,000; but a revenue law which lasers an annual deficit cannot be said to constitute a fiscal system. Congress, after being in season more near two months, has utterly failed to devise any kind of revenue system whatever.—Nor has the Executive Administration submitted to Congress any system for this emergency. This statement is strictly true, if you consider that the President recommends one system is unual Message, and that the Secretary of Finance, submits to us another and widely different one.

This great increase of the public debt, we are asked to make at the very hour when, in complicance with the Executive recommendation, we are proposing to authorize him to build the Pacific Railroad, at a cost of not less than $125,000,000 more; and simultaneously with this, in the same Message, we are also asked to authorize him to move the Army into Mexico which can costnothing less than $100,000,000 more, and at the same time, in pursuance of recommendations of the same weight and authority, we are asked to authorize him to employ the Army and the Navy against just so many Spanish. American States on this continent as he shell chose, which can require nothing less than $100,000,000 more; so, without any financial system at all we are to have a great debt created by this Congress of the United States, on the recommendation and application of the President, to strengthen the arm of the Executive, while weakening the power and the constitutional force of the Scaneic, and the House of Representatives, a debt of $500,000,000.

The honorable Senator from Rhode Island (Mr. Simmons) the other day spoke in glowing terms, and yet most justify, of the credit of the United States, and showed that, with the small debt that we now have, a nominal debt, we can go into the market, and with a five per cent. stock borrow money on a four per cent. stock borrow money as a premium, or, perhaps, borrow money as a premium, or, is permanent of American power on the continent, and evelopement of American power her A —PALESTINE, PAST AND PRESENT, by Rev.
