GAS FROM ROSIN OIL
OR OTHER
FATTY FLUID MATERIAL.
THE HIGH ILLUMINATING PROPERTIES of the Gas from Rosin and cheap Gum substances have always made them a favorite material for the manufacture of Illuminating Gas. Many Gas Companies use Rosin with Coal, in order to supply their customers with a superior Quality of Gas.
ROSIN OIL is entirely free from all dross and refuse substances, and yields at once, the Brilliant Illuminating Gas.
The greater original cost of the apparatus for the manufacture of coal gas together with the attention and expense constantly required, and the difficulty, if not impossibility, of entirely separating the anwholesome, deleterious and offensive gases, generated in coal, render the ROSIN OIL APPARATUS cheaper and more desirable in every way.
S. COATES, of 376 Broadway, New York, has devoted his entire attention to the manufacture and sale of Portable Gas Apparatus, and he respectfully calls the attention of the public to his present complete and efficient machine.
Perfect satisfaction to the purchaser, guaranteed in every case. For further information address

RECORD—For Ledgers and Records only.
MERCANTILE—For Books, letters and general purposes.
COPYING—For Letter-Press only.
THESE FLUIDS change from a GRENISH blue to a deep and permanent BLACK COLOR, which no length of time will fade or destroy. These FLUIDS were first offered to the PUBLIC in 1854—since which time there has been them awarded EIGHTEEN DIPLOMAS, THREE BRONZE AND ONE SILVER MEDAL.
Attention is invited to the following certificates from Prof. Chilton, New York:
"I have, at the request of Cook, Merritt & Brown, of New York, analyzed two samples of FLUID INK, one marked 'Russell's Chemical Writing Fluid,' and the other 'Butler's Excelsior Record Fluid, Cincinnati.'
"For first half of these Inks to contain the same ingredients, and to the same state of combination.
"From the result of the various tests to which I have subjected them, I find they are equal in quality as well as durability. JAMES R. CHILTON, M. D., Chemist.

Debate in the Senate on the Pennsylvania Resolutions.

Mr. BIGLER—I present resolutions of the Legislature of Pennsylvania in favor of a protective tariff, an increase of the duties on coal and iron, and approving the views of the President of the United States, in his late annual message, in reference to specific duties. I ask that they may be read, and referred to the Committee on Finance, and that they may be printed. The Secretary read them.

Mr. CAMERON—I also have received, and have the honor to present to the Senate, counterparts of the resolutions of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, instructing their Senators and requesting their Representatives in Congress, to endeavor to procure such a modification of the revenue laws as will change the mode of collection upon their great staples from ad valorem to specific duties, and thereby, as they believe, prevent frauds, increase the revenue, and give protection to American labor. The resolutions were adopted with great unanimity, showing some sudden changes in the opinions of men, and proving the wonderful power of the people in this country over the representatives through the ballot-box. The vote in the Senate was unanimous—the whole thirty-three voting in the affirmative. In the House of Representatives, of the one hundred members, only two voted against them; and they as I understand from their speeches, did not object to the principle of protection; but to the propriety of legislative instructions to members of Congress.

I cordially approve these resolutions, and will cheerfully obey them; and I will add, that we will have, as I believe, the hearty aid and support of every Republican in both Houses of Congress. But all these are not enough to pass a law. It is true, the President of the United States, in his annual message, recommended all that is here asked. He, in his present high position, is potent for good or evil. The Legislature of the State was well the wishes and interests of his fellow-citizens, is favorably disposed to help them. I trust he is; for if he will only exhibit, in their behalf, a small portion of that energy which he used so vigorously during the last session, to settle the Kansas question, and which, in my opinion, has established, he will very soon have the tariff question out of Congress, and see busy hands and cheerful faces over all that great Commonwealth to which he owes his elevation. He has but to say the word, and his friends here, and in the other end of Capitol, will, as they have done hitherto, come to his support. It will not do for him to tell the industrious, but now idle, men of Pennsylvania, that he cannot control his Cabinet upon a question of policy affecting so vitally their interests, and so necessary to his impoverished Treasury. The working men of Pennsylvania read, and think, and act upon their own conclusions. They have seen his power here, on other occasions; and they will not be content now with his mere recommendation in a passing paragraph of his annual message. Let him act for them, as they have acted for him, and he will be rewarded by their
