BURNING OF THE STEAMER NORTH CAROLINA.—This splendid steamer, belonging to the Bay line running to Norfolk was commanded by Capt. Cannon, one of the best of commanders. She left here on Friday evening on her regular trip with 80 persons on board and a light freight and about two o'clock on Saturday morning the 29th ult., there were twenty-six passengers on board, all of whom were saved, except Rev. Mr. Curtiss, of Chester, S. C., and it is impossible to account for his loss. The passengers all united in their efforts to save the steamer, and the hose worked well until it was burnt. Nothing was saved of the mails, baggage or freight. Mr. Capron, of Wilmington, N. C., had his wife and child with him; he threw the child over and then jumped in himself, followed by his wife, all of whom were picked up by one of the boats and rescued. The captain, officers and all hands displayed great coolness during the exciting scene, and the boats were launched in safety, and all finally saved, except Mr. Curtiss and one of the waiters. The officers and crew consisted of forty persons, and they with the passengers made sixty-six in all.

Mr. Parks says when the fire was first discovered it had made but little progress, but very soon the whole steamer appeared to be in flames.

The Captain was on watch at the time, and was informed of the fire, when he immediately gave the signal to stop the engines. The fire engines were put to work, and although they worked well, and large quantities of water were thrown on the element, it appeared to have no effect in subduing, but rather tended to increase the flames. The clothes press was forward of the machinery, and the berth occupied by Mr. Curtiss was aft, and, it is supposed, that he was in a sound sleep, and rather hard of hearing, consequently did not know anything of the disaster. He was about 75 years of age, and a Minister of the Presbyterian denomination.

The passengers were all safely placed in the life boats 10 minutes after the alarm was first given, and were taken to the light house, where they were cared for. It was very foggy at the time, and the flames of the burning boat could only be seen at the distance of 100 yards. They finally found the light boat by the constant ringing of her bell.—Balt. Patriot.

THE ELEPHANT IN DANGER.—Under this title the New York Post thus refers to the obstructions that are splitting the Democratic party in Virginia

"In Colman's comic tales, entitled 'Broad Grins,' a story is told of two men employed by the manager of a theatre to personate an elephant. They walked inside of a large pasteboard figure of the quadruped, dividing the legs equally between them, one of them taking the fore-legs as his share and the other the posterior pair. The elephant thus constituted performed greatly to the delight of the audience; it moved across the stage with a majestic tread, and was talked of far and near, until a quarrel arose between the worthies inside, owing to a jealousy which the man who stood in the hinder legs conceived of his associate. Strange muffled sounds and half-stifled oaths were heard to proceed from the animal's stomach, and the two performers fought till they had torn the pasteboard figure to rags, scattering it about the stage, and stood uncased before the audience.

A combat quite as interesting is at present going on inside of the great pasteboard elephant which figures on the stage of the American Union. The fore-legs and hind-legs are in a quarrelsand have already come to blows. One of the most remarkable indications of the party which has so long worn the appellation of Democratic in our country isseen in the manner in which those who will present day bear that name in Virginia conduct their State elections."

ICE BOATS.—There are eight or ten of these "institutions" on the North river, says the Troy Budget, while on Hudson, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill, and "all along the river" they are quite numerous. Riding on an ice boat fills one with queer sensations. Coasting and riding on hand cars, or skating even; is very tame sport, compared with it. With a stiff breeze and a careful helmsman, one of these boats will run away from a tornado, and distance the fastest locomotive that ever whistled. Their speed is like the speed of the wind, and when they tack, it is like the whirlwind. In a mild breeze, the sport is really luxurious, though to a novice it is somewhat suggestive of a broken head; or an abrasion of the cuticle, covering his protruding proboscis. But accidents very seldom happen from capsizing; it is only when the machine is plunged into a row boat—that the helmsman did not see—that the "thar" amounts to positive unpleasantness. But then a little "cold duck" is considered a delicate morceau by epicures.

THE correspondent of the Constantine Mercury, writing from Washington says, "I am enabled to contradict upon authority the rumor that Howell Cobb has accepted the offer of the Rothschilds to take charge of their house at Paris as Chief Clerk, at an annual salary of $20,000. Mr. Cobb has no intention of accepting. In fact the offer has been withdrawn. It was made originally because the Rothschilds are very large holders of American stock, and they were apprehensive that unless Mr. Cobb were withdrawn from the Treasury Department of the United States, their revenues from this source would be largely diminished. Since their attempt to get him out in manner described Mr. Cobb has broke the Treasury and the calamity is found to be irremediable.

THE RICHEST MAN IN PROVIDENCE—How he Lived.—The Hartford Post, in speaking of Cyrus Butler of Providence, says he was worth, when he died, some five millions of dollars, yet he lived poorer than most men, not worth one thousand dollars. Salt codfish was a standard dish with him, and even in his last sickness, it is said that he upbraided those who had the care of him for their extravagance in providing delicacies for him, assuring them that he could not afford it. He was a bachelor, and a snuff-taker. His snuff he kept in a large box and bought by the term's worth. There was but one store in Providence, and that on India Point, where he could get his box filled for a cent, and the old man used to patronize that store, more than a mile distant, whenever his box required filling.

THE manufacturers are working, a good deal more than usual, on contracts. It is an excellent mode of operation; and the mode in which the English manufacturers work. When a manufacturer sells his goods ahead and buys the cotton to make them, it is a sure thing; and a sure although a moderate profit, is better than the chances of a larger one with the risks of an unfavorable change in the market. The contract system gives stability to the market, brings the producer and the consumer nearer together, and gives to the manufacturer a control over his production that he cannot have when he sends his goods to another market to be sold on a long credit.—Prov. Jour.

DEMOCRATIC SENTIMENT.—An exchange says the Democracy were having a jollification out West; making speeches and letting off toasts, well lingored up the while. The Attorney General gave, "The United Democracy.—The gates of hell cannot prevail against them." The man called upon to respond, replied, "The United Democracy.—When they present themselves at the gates of hell, not only will the gates not prevail, but they will give way, and let the whole crowd right in!"

SAVED BY A NEWSPAPER.—A few days since, Mr. R. H. Martin, who is in the employment of John H. White, Esq., as one of the superintendents of the laborers at work at the new Washington Spring, at Saratoga, N. Y. being engaged near the steam pump, by some means slipped so that the skirt of his coat caught in the cogs of the pump. One bite of the cogs in the coat, and it commenced drawing him pretty fast.—He had no time to give an alarm before he was brought up with a prospect of being maimed by the cogs; but fortunately he had in his pocket a newspaper tightly folded together, and when the cogs came to that they stopped, throwing the band off the pullies.

CATTLE KILLED BY EATING SORGHUM.—The Independence (Iowa) Guardian gives an account of the destruction of seven head of cattle from eating the refuse Chinese sugar cane, after it been compressed in the mill. The outer coating of the stalks is of a very vitreous character; when thus broken up and taken in on the stomach, it operates like broken glass, cutting, and in some cases penetrating entirely through the coats of that organ, producing a violent inflammation. A post mortem examination in this case revealed this as the cause of death. This important fact should be made known to every farmer, as it may be the means of preventing a serious destruction of their stock.

WHEN EASTER COMES.—It will be interesting to learn that Easter, which will be on the 24th of April this year, last fell on that day in 1
