PITTSBURGH:

THURSDAY MORNING, FEB. 10, 1859.

PIKE'S PEAK.—There seems to be a huge preparation going on for emigration to Pike's Peak in the spring, if the accounts in the papers be true. We think these accounts are much exaggerated; but there can be no doubt that in the aggregate the emigration will be large. It seems natural that it should be so. Less flattering accounts than those we are now receiving from Pike's Peak, sent thousands upon thousands to Fraser's river; and the new Gold regions have the additional advantage of being easier of access than either California or Fraser's river.

The rose-colored letters we have published from this quarter have doubtless contributed their full share towards stimulating the Pike's Peak fever; and yet we feel inclined to throw in a word of doubt, for the purpose of restraining, if possible, the heedless departure of many who will do better by remaining at home. For the accounts, it must be remembered, are not all one-sided. We are daily noticing in our exchanges letters from there written in a desponding mood; indicating that the prospects are not as promising there as they seemed on paper at home. We have frontier papers before us containing letters written from the gold regions, and with scarcely a single exception, these letters allude to numbers of persons at the mines being dissatisfied and going home. They also speak of the high prices of provisions—bacon 50 cents a pound, and everything else in proportion. Many start for there with barely enough to carry them through, and when they get there find that it takes all they can earn by gold digging to get enough to eat. That fortunes will be made there we do not doubt; but that many who go there will come away as penniless as they went, is equally certain; and the larger the emigration the greater this certainty grows. It becomes a question, then, for young men who are well enough off at home, to decide whether they will leave the substantial comfort they have, to be fleeced and victimized by all sorts of extortioners on the way and at the mines, with the chances of failure equal to the chances of success. If the anticipated rush to the mines takes place in the spring, the crowd will carry with it many who will wish, when their hopes are dashed, that they had been less sanguine and more open to receive such a caution as we are striving herein to impart.

WHICH IS THE ADMINISTRATION?—Is Howell Cobb or James Buchanan at the head of it? The President sends recommendations to Congress which are either ignored or rejected; the Secretary of the Treasury sends counter recommendations, and the party holds caucuses in both Houses to carry out the Secretary's views. If the President is at the head of the Administration, who sustains him and it? We hear of no caucus to support his views beyond the little gathering of locofoco representatives from Pennsylvania; and even they are mealy-mouthed and stinted in their utterances. There seems to be confusion worse confounded reigning in the ranks of the party. The President is openly at war with the Secretary, yet dares not dismiss him; the Secretary openly defies the President, and organizes a party in both Houses to make war upon the policy of his nominal chief. The appropriation bills are first defeated, the party majority refusing to come to the scratch, and then the back track is taken, and the bills passed by a vote barely sufficient to carry them through. The party caucuses are attended by only a portion of the party; and while this portion wrangles the other sulks. One Secretary demands Retrenchment; and the other Secretaries demand an enlargement of the expenditures; and while all this is going on the Union clamors for a Tariff, and the States threatens to excommunicate every Tariff man in the party. What sort of a party is it? Who is its head? Is there such a thing as an administration at all? And if there is, who is its responsible leader—Buchanan or Cobb?

So far as outside appearances go, Cobb seems to have the advantage. He has the majority of the democratic members of both Houses with him; and although the Union adheres to the President, the democratic papers of the country are generally taking sides with Cobb. Shall we not have a coup d'etat, some of these days, and hear of Cobb seizing Buchanan by the neck and walking him out of his office? The man is decidedly greater than the master, just how, and why not be master in name as well as in fact?

THE RIGHT WORD.—Mr. Thompson, the President of the Pennsylvania Road, in his report to the annual meeting of the stockholders, uses the following language:

"The citizens of Pittsburgh complain, and justly, of the large discrimination made in the rates of freight in favor of more distant points—discriminations which are necessary to enable the company to meet its obligations; but they turn their censures from the cause to the effect, and demand relief from those who have not the ability to grant it, without a sacrifice which it would be unreasonable to ask."

Mr. Thompson possesses the faculty of using the right word in the right place, and he has here borne testimony to the rightfulness of our complaints by using the only word that would properly characterize them. He says we complain "justly." We thank him for the admission.

The same faculty led Mr. Thompson, sometime since, to characterize the competition of the eastern lines for western freight as "insane." It was an "insane competition," he said, and no other word would have been so happy and so completely expressive. It is truly an "insane competition," which is ruinous to three, at least, of the competitors, and injurious to all.

And, yet, Mr. Thompson tells us in this paragraph that it is the necessity for pursuing this "insane competition" which compels the road to levy discriminating charges on us in order to make up, from our merchants, what it loses by that mad rivalry. Our only escape, he tells us, (for this "insane competition" is to be pushed still further,) is to get the tonnage tax repealed, and then the company will let up the screws through whose torturing application the money has been drawn from us.

The force of this kind of reasoning will not be felt here. Our merchants know all about that kind of logic, and all its past application has failed to convince them. The repeal of the tonnage tax might act as a temporary relief to them; but sooner or later the advantage derived from it by the company would, in the natural course of things, be employed to enable it to compete at lower figures, west of us, with its rivals, and the burden on us would then be practically the same.

POLITICAL PARDONS.—The Governor has pardoned the bully Donovan who, for brutally assaulting Mr. Church, a member of the Legislature, was properly sentenced by the Court to three months imprisonment in jail. Donovan was a democrat, and the Governor seems to think it is perfectly right that a democrat should have legal immunity for any attack he chooses to make upon a Republican.

He has also pardoned Carson, formerly a Sheriff's officer in Philadelphia, who was convicted of perjury in swearing to some returns made to the Court in the matter of selecting jurors. Carson is also a democrat, and his services, so properly estimated by the Court which sent him to the Penitentiary, may be needed by the party in the approaching campaign.

The Philadelphia News says that there are now two democrats in prison there, awaiting their sentence for ballot-box stuffing; but why sentence them? If Donovan and Carson were not worthy of imprisonment, why send such paltry culprits as ballot-box stuffers to the cells?

BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.—As may be seen by reference to our advertising columns, the Balt. & Ohio R. R. Co. present their claims to the patronage of our merchants. Several important shipments from the East have already arrived by this route much to the satisfaction of shippers, as we are informed. See advertisement.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says the imports of foreign dry goods at the port of New York for the past four weeks, are larger than for any corresponding period (with a single exception) since the country was settled. The exception was in January, 1856, but the total for that month was only a trifle beyond the figure reached during the current January. It will be seen that we are thus launching out into the extravagances which preceded the crash of 1857; and it is plain that unless we get a tariff sufficiently high to check these importations, we must sooner or later plunge into a catastrophe similar to that of 1857.

[Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURGH, Feb. 8, 1859.

Messrs. Editors—The Mercantile Library Hall Bill passed the House to-day, in the shape which the friends of the bill desired it. It was amended on second reading, on motion of Mr. Irish, so as to exempt the stock and property of the company from taxation—a clause which had been stricken out in committee.

A bill read by Mr. Irish the other day, providing for the taxation of non-resident venders of merchandize in Allegheny county, passed the House to-day; also Senate Bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the Preachers' Aid Society of the First Methodist Protestant Church of Pittsburgh," which will enable the Society to receive and dispose of a bequest coming to them from the Avery estate.

THE PACIFIC ASPECT OF AFFAIRS.—We may now venture to hope that the principal danger of an European war has for the present passed away. It would be well if we could say that after the blowing over of this storm-cloud the world might indulge in visions of permanent calm and sunshine. But the forces which threaten disturbance of European quiet still exist, and are only for a time compressed by the weight of universal opinion. There is, however, satisfaction to be mingled with the regret with which mankind must see the enthronement of an armed and restless despotism in Europe. It will appear to any one who has watched the course of these events that, after all, there is a moral power not wholly unable to cope with Emperors and Kings.

The decided and unwavering judgment of the English Government and Press has, it is admitted on all hands, been chiefly instrumental in checking the madness of the Bonapartist clique. Austria has received a support on which she hardly counted, and France has been met with a resolution which her rulers deemed wholly impossible. We sincerely trust that the former of these Powers will appreciate the behavior of a nation which bears no good will to Ultramontane absolutism; that Francis Joseph will recognize that, after all, a free people may be a better ally than any dear brother of the Imperial class; and that he will endeavor to restore in his dominions the kindly authority which distinguished the rule of the old German Empire, in the place of that military oppression which his family have learnt from the Romanoffs. As for the French people, we congratulate them on the clearness with which they have seen that their advantage in this case is connected with the claims of justice. They have not wanted organs to assure them that England was too much exhausted by the Indian war to think of contravening the schemes of France, and that, even if the Queen's Government desired to interfere, the English Liberals would check any Anti-Italian policy. They have shown that, and for the sake of all parties to this dispute, for the sake of France and Italy most of all, we rejoice that the common sense of mankind has won the day. The war so recklessly invoked would probably in six months have made a combination against France as formidable as that of 1815. Italy in any case could only gain a change of masters, and substitute the King Stork of a French Viceroy for the King Log of an ordinary Austrian Archduke. Now we are happy to believe that there is no danger but from the folly of the Sardinians, who, having long kept up an army entirely disproportionate to the extent and wealth of their kingdom, have looked to war as an escape from the financial difficulties which otherwise threaten to overtake them. Unless these, however, in sheer desperation, break the peace, we have no doubt that the danger is for the present over.—London Times, Jan. 19.

THE ILLINOIS FRAUD.—The Sprinfield correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat writes:

"Yesterday afternoon Mr. Israel Smith, Treasurer Teller, and Wm. H. Brown, Cashier, of the State Bank at Chicago, which paid the fraudulent canal checks, examined them one by one in presence of the Auditor, Secretary of State, and other gentlemen. The result of the examination was that all the checks, with the exception of two or three for three hundred dollars, were pronounced genuine, and consequently paid for twice by the State. Their true character was not only proved by the signatures but by certain peculiarities in the engravings. They were turned over by the Bank, uncancelled, to Auditor Fry, who became canal trustee after he had ceased to be canal commissioner. He transferred them to Col. Oakley, his successor as trustee, from whom they passed to Mr. Wells, who came next in succession, and from him they passed to Mr. McRoberts, who succeeded Oakley. Wells and Oakley are dead, but McRoberts, who resides at Joliet, has been summoned by the Committee of Investigation, and will arrive here to-day or to-morrow.

At the meeting of the Committee last night in the Auditor's office, Michael Keho, an old employee (porter, I believe) of the Canal office was examined and gave important testimony.—Shortly after McRoberts was appointed trustee by Gov. Matteson, he had all the checks issued by the Canal Commissioners boxed up in two boxes. They were taken to the railroad on a dray by Keho, and he noticed they were addressed to Mr. Matteson, who was then Governor, at the State House. Mr. McRoberts himself accompanied them. Whether the two boxes were put into the possession of Gov. Matteson, Keho does not know, but that is the presumption. One of the boxes has been found in the Governor's vaults, and when opened it was found to contain cancelled checks. The other box is missing. These facts point to the conclusion that the checks which are now the subject of inquiry, were abstracted from the State House, but McRoberts' testimony is necessary to establish this fact beyond doubt."

FROM KANSAS.—Lawrence, K. T., Feb. 1, '59.—We have just heard that old Capt. Brown is besieged by a party of Missourians, with a few men from the Territory, in one or two log cabins, on a creek in Jefferson county, between this and Nebraska. The assailants are afraid to attack him, but being stronger they are watching him, out of gunshot, and have sent to Platte county and Lecompton for assistance. Some dozen or two of the old pro-slavery residents in and about Lecompton went up. A party of some thirty left Topeka to aid Capt. Brown the moment they heard it. The locality is twenty-five miles from Topeka and fifty from this place. The intelligence has just reached us, and a few have started from here. There is considerable feeling about it, and a fight is expected.

A meeting was held in Lawrence last night, to take into consideration the case of Dr. Doy and son, who were violently carried out of the Territory by Missourians, and are now lodged in the Platte county jail. A strong feeling of indignation pervaded the very large assembly. It was determined that no more of such raids should be tolerated, and that Dr. Doy must be relieved. It was resolved that Gov. Medary should be called upon to demand their release from the Governor of Missouri, and that if either of the prisoners were harmed that summary punishment would be inflicted upon those men in the Territory who had acted as guides to the Missouri party, and that the Missouri invaders, or any similar party, should be hanged the first moment they were caught in Kansas.—St. Louis Dem.

THIS spicy little warning comes all the way from Hong Kong:

"We are not prone to pugilism; we have been many years here, and never been called on to keep the peace with any one yet; but we here give the editor of The China Mail fair warning, that if he dares to misrepresent one fact in his report, or whatever comment he may make on the case of the Crown vs. Tarrant now in court, and to be tried to-morrow—decease or later we will horsewhip him."

SETH THOMAS, so long identified with the manufacturing interests of the Naugatuck Valley, died at his residence in Plymouth Hollow, on January 28, at the age of seventy-three years. He was widely known as a clockmaker, his name being scattered over the world on their dial plates. He also engaged in other branches of manufacturing, being for many years the chief manager of a cotton mill, a brass foundry, &c. It is said that Mr. Thomas was the first man who made clocks in Connecticut.

RICH CARGO.—A steamboat arrived a few days ago at our wharf, from the Red river, with a large party of gentlemen and ladies from the Northwestern parishes, who are visiting our city for pleasure and amusement. Among them are eight widows, whose aggregate wealth amounted to five millions of dollars. One of the said ladies is the owner of six hundred slaves, and one of the others makes a crop of three thousand bales of cotton.—N. O. Delta.

MAINE DEMOCRACY is getting sadly heretical. The Democratic members of the Legislature of that State held a caucus recently, and declared against a slave code for the territories, in favor of genuine squatter sovereignty, and of the admission of Kansas "whenever a constitution, truly and honestly ratified by the popular vote of said Territory, shall be presented to Congress."

THE following from the New York Tribune is severe:

"The great railroad companies having lately agreed with each other to grant no free passes, we learn, without surprise that all the railroads of this State continue to bestow free tickets on the members of the Legislature just as they [illegible] before the agreement. This is [illegible] action which allows the [illegible] own employes."

ANOTHER VIRGINIA INSURRECTION.—There seems to be a very active and formidable rebellion on foot in Virginia against the National Administration. Both the leading organs of the Democratic Party at Richmond denounce the policy of the President with great vehemence. His Pacific Railroad scheme—his general extravagance, and the thirty million scheme have found scarcely any favor among the Democrats of the Old Dominion. And now the Enquirer is out against the whole project of acquiring Cuba, and submits some very forcible arguments in support of this view.—N. Y. Times.

THE weather in Barbadoes for the fortnight ending 27th of December, had been so beneficial to the growing canes, that it is estimated the approaching crop has been thereby augmented to the extent of about eight or ten thousand hogsheads.

DIED.—On Wednesday evening, February 9th, 1859, MARY SMITH, aged 57 years, wife of Prof. John C. Smith, late of New York.

The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral on FRIDAY, 11th instant, at 2 o'clock, P. M., from their residence on Ridge st., Allegheny city.

CHRONIC DIARRHŒA.—We have in our possession the certificate of a respectable citizen, testifying that he was entirely cured of this dreadful disease by using Boerhave's Holland Bitters.

We shall take pleasure in showing the certificate to any person doubting this statement.

CAUTION!—Be careful to ask for Boerhave's Holland Bitters. The great popularity of this medicine has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing.

CHICKERING & SONS'

NEW

UPRIGHT PIANOS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has just received another of those beautiful

NEW UPRIGHT PIANOS,

Late brought out by Messrs. Chickering & Sons, of Boston. This Instrument is of the same style and quality as the one that attracted so much attention at our State Fair last October, and which was immediately sold to one of the city, thereby preventing the subscriber from having the pleasure of showing it to many who were desirous of seeing the same. The new upright is similar in shape to the Boudoir or Cottage Piano, now so popular in London and Paris, but in every essential of a grand and substantial instrument for tasteful, it is far superior to any upright Piano, either of Foreign or Domestic manufacture.

The case is made of beautiful rosewood, and is an elegant piece of furniture; the size about equal to a small bureau, and suitable for any parlor, but is more especially adapted to small rooms and plain where a square or Grand Piano would be inconvenient for want of room. Every means have been made use of to give strength and durability without sacrificing the TONE, and is WARRANTED to stand well in tune.

The TONE is of the most pure and brilliant quality, approaching as near as possible to the unrivalled Grand Pianos of the same distinguished makers.

The TOUCH is elastic and easy, and the COMPASS full seven octaves of the same scale of the Grand Piano.

The price of the new Upright Pianos will be from $350 to $450—according to the style of finish.

The above Instrument is the only one that the Messrs. Chickering have been able to furnish since the one sent to our State Fair, owing to the pressing demand for them from all parts of the country. The public are respectfully invited to call and examine this new and delightful instrument.

A new supply of Chickering & Sons' new scale seven octaves square Pianos will be received this and the coming week.

DR. R. A. WILSON'S

Tonic, Cathartic and Anti-Dyspeptic

PILLS.

IN bringing different kinds of medicines before the public, in order to show the high estimation in which they are held by others, many prefer to publish certificates and statements from persons at a distance. We might do so too; but at home we prefer having testimony easily since it is from a class of citizens that all in the vicinity know who they are, and where to find them, and that what they say is reliable. But read

St. Clair House, Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 6, 1858.

Dr. Wilson's Headache Pill through a period of 18 years; I have recommended them to many persons afflicted with sick headache and administered them frequently to those for a physician, a friend of mine, who has a good right to know, said to me, "if I was travelling, and had but one box of Dr. Wilson's Pills, I would not part with it for fifty dollars if I knew I could not get another." I cheerfully endorse him as to their value under the circumstances. My own opinion is, there is no other pill equal to them. Yours truly,

From Thos. Blackmore, Esq., late Treasurer of Allegheny County, Pa.

To Dr. R. A. Wilson—Dear Sir—I have been using your pills since 1840, and do decidedly say they are the best pill in use, or that I have any knowledge of. I find none there for sick headache, with which I suffered beyond description, and for dyspepsia. I say that they scarcely cured me. Since then I use them as a family medicine; if I am bilious, or any disorder of the system, and I require medicine, I take a pill, and it cures me; they are my only medicine, and have been for the last 17 years.

THOS. BLACKMORE.

January 6, 1858.

From William Richardson, Esq., City Treasurer.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 8, 1858.

Messrs. R. I. Fahnestock & Co.—Gentlemen—In my opinion of the merits of Dr. R. A. Wilson's Tonic, Cathartic and Anti-Dyspeptic Pills, I will briefly state that for many years past they have been a standing medicine in my family. I find that these pills are always left within the reach of any one who may feel the necessity of taking a dose, any one to three. Whether it is owing to the efficacy of these pills or not, I cannot pretend to say; but I can safely assert that since we have used them my family has enjoyed uninterrupted good health, and I cheerfully recommend them to all who may appreciate this inestimable blessing.

Respectfully, &c.,

WILLIAM RICHRAUM.

From Col. Wm. Hopkins, late Canal Commissioner of the State.

PITTSBURGH, January 6, 1858.

Dr. R. A. Wilson, Pittsburgh, Pa.—I have been using your Dyspeptic Pills, which occasion required, for many years, and can truthfully say that I have never found any medicine equal to them in relieving me from affections of the stomach and head; they have never failed to relieve me from headache, and have always left my system in better condition than they found it. I most confidently commend your pills as a sure and highly valuable medicine.

Yours, respectfully, WILLIAM HOPKINS.

From Sam'l Cowan, Esq., Merchant of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Doctor R. Adams Wilson:—Sir—Since your pills have been recommended to me by the late Judge Hayes, and I have used them, I never sheer, and find them to answer every purpose as a family medicine. It gives me pleasure in respecting them, as expressed in his communication in favor of the 8th inst. Yours, respectfully, SAMUEL COWAN.

IRISH LINENS,

Damasks, Diapers, &c.

CONSUMERS OF RICHARDSON'S LINENS, and those desirous of obtaining the GENUINE GOODS, should see that the articles they purchase are sealed with the full name of the firm,

RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN,

as a guarantee of the soundness and durability of the Goods. This caution is rendered essentially necessary at large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season, and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury this inflicts alike on the American consumer and the manufacturer of the genuine Goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable, while purchasers can be imposed on with goods of a worthless character.
