 Observations taken at the state of the DAILY UNION PRAYER MEETING, at the First lethodist Protestant Church, With street, com-sencing at 114 o'clock, A. M. All are cordially in-ited to attend. The exercises to DAT will be conducted by Rev. Dewitt C. Billeby. IMPROVEMENTS.-In Pittsburgh, at prosont, improvement is the order of the day. New and beautiful buildings are going up on all the prin-oipal streets-magnificent structures of atom or iron, 'either begun or to be begun. Those who do not build anew, refit, embollish and beautify; leave ifke old quarters which have grown to out in modern and airy apartmonts. Mr. J. 8. Davison has done the latter. He had a good store and, a fine collection of the choicest books, while be was on Market street, but tho demands upon him for a still more extensive and varied stock have at length driven him to enlarge his boands, and now he may bo found on Wood street, corner of Diamond alley, where he has fitted up a grand store, light, correaient, clean, central and inviting in all respects. It is not a place store and desine those who like the samt! of books. It is arranged so that in the department of history one will find all that class together in one set of alcoves. Religious books, of which Mr. D. has a large assortiment, the department of history one will find all that class together in case they attempt to work, and soren i the viola-tire of the day has its alcove, and so on. The whole stock is arranged in close and neat to case, with bread, clear glass in front, which excludes all our dust, so destructive to books when exposed to it. Mr. D. has alarge assortiment, the ourrent, sound litera-ture of the day has its alcove, and so on. Mr. Davisen sells only standard works. His books have heen sched with great care and disorimination, and there is probably not a volume in his store whoe more all effect would not be good in an community and to any read to wolume in his store whoe more all effect would not be good in an community and to any read to whole stock is arranged in olose and neat out to books. When exposed to it.

when exposed to it. Mr. Davisen sells only standard works. His books have been selected with great care and discrimination, and there is probably not a volume in his store whose moral effect would not be good in any community and to any read-er. We say he sells only standard works. By that we mean that he does not deal in the light literature and flash novels of the age. It he has Socit, Cooper and that style of books, and these we class among standard works. His supply in turrent literature—the works of Prescott, Mot ley, Bancroft, Hallam, Irving, etc.—is alwayse store and his new stock to the public as worthy an examination with an oye to valuable pur-tr, chases for the library or the centre table.
