GAS FROM ROSIN OIL.

OR OTHER
FATTY FLUID MATERIAL.
THE HIGH ILLUMINATING PROPERTIES of Gas from Rosin and oleaginous substances have already made them a favorite material for the manufacture of Illuminating Gas. Many Gas Companies use Rosin with coal, in order to supply their customers with a Superior Quality of Gas.
ROSIN OIL is entirely free from all dross and refuse substances, and yields at once, the brilliant Illuminating Gas.
The greater original cost of the apparatus for the manufacture of coal gas together with the attention and expense constantly required, and the difficulty, it not impossibility, of entirely separating the unwholesome, deleterious and offensive gases, generated in coal, render the ROSIN OIL APPARATUS cheaper and more desirable in every way.
S. COATES, of 376 Broadway, New York, has devoted his entire attention to the manufacture and sale of Portable Gas Apparatus, and he respectfully calls the attention of the public to his present complete and efficient machine.
Perfect satisfaction to the purchaser guaranteed in every case. For further information address
S. COATES, 376 Broadway, New York;

The Prize Poem on Burns.

BY IRA CRAIG

The following is the poem which took the prize of fifty pounds, offered in Great Britain for the best poem on Burns, to be read at the Centenary Celebration of his Birthday in the author's name, Miss Isabella Craig, a Scotch lady of some literary note:

We hail this morn
A mother's noblest birth;
A Poet peasant-born,
Who more of Fame's immortal dower
Unto his country brings,
Than all her Kings!

As lampe high set
Upon some earthly eminence—
Add to the grace of all around them—
Than the sphere lights they float—
Dwindle in distance and die out,
While no star wanneth yet;
So through the Past's far-reaching night,
Only the star-souls keep their light.

A gentle boy—
With moods of sadness and of mirth,
Quick tears and sudden joy—
Grew up beside the peasant's hearth.
His father's toil he shares;
But half his mother's care
From his dark searching 'rose,
Too swift to sympathize,
Hid in her heart she bears.

At early morn
His father calls him to the field;
Through the stiff soil that clogs his feet,
Chill rain and harvest heat,
He plods all day; returns at eve outworn,
To the rude fare a peasant's lot doth yield:
To what else was he born?

The God-made King
Of every living thing
(For his great heart in love could hold them all;)
The dumb eyes meeting his by hearth and stall,—
Gifted to understand!—
Knew it and sought his hand;
And the most timorous creature fled not fast,
Could she his heart have read,
Which fain all feeble things had blessed and sheltered.

To Nature's feast,—
Who knew her noblest guest
And entertain'd him best,—
Kingly he came. Her chambers of the east
She drag'd with crimson and with gold,
And pour'd her pure joy-wines
For him the sentient world,
For him her anthem roll'd,
From the storm-wind among the water pines,
Down to the slenderest note
Of a love warble from the linnet's throat.

But when begins
The array for battle, and the trumpet blows,
A King must lead in the feast and lead the fight.
And with its mortal foes,
Grim gathering hosts of sorrow and of sins—
Must battle with him. Then
And Fame her trumpet blew
Before him; wrapp'd him in her purple state,
And made him mark for all the shafts of fate,
That henceforth round him flew.

Though he may yield,
Hard prest and wounded fall
Forsaken of the field;
His regal vestments soil'd;
His crown of half its jewels spoil'd:
He is a King for all
Had he but stood aloof!
Had he array'd himself in
Against temptation's dart?
So pears the good or the ill he calls wise.
With vain presumptuous heart,
Triumphant morals!

Of martyr-woe
A sacred shadow on his memory rests;
Tears have not ceased to flow;
Indignant grief yet stirs impetuous breasts,
To think,—that such a soul, so great, so true,
That wise and soaring spirit fool'd, enslaved,—
Thus, thus he had been saved!

It might not be!
That heart of harpings
Had been too rudely rent;
Its silver chords, which any hand could wound,
By no hand could be tuned,
Save by the Maker of the instrument,
Who best knew,
And from profaning touch he heavenly gift withdrew.

Regretful love
His country fain would prove,
By grateful honors heap'd on his grave;
He would rain down his tears
That he so little at her hands can claim,
To be remembered save
To her his life-bought gift of song and fame.

The land he trod
Hath now become a place of pilgrimage;
Where dearer are the daisies of the sod
That would his steps engage,
The hoary hawthorn, wreath'd,
Above the bank on which he like to sing
While some sweet plant he breath'd;
The streams he wander'd near!
The maidens whom he loved; the song he sung;—
All, all are dear:

The arch blue eyes—
Arch but for love's disguise—
Of Scotland's daughters' soften at his strain:
Her hardy sons, cast forth across the main
To drive the ploughshare through earth's virgin soils,
Lighted with their fire;
And later lands have learn'd to love the tongue
In which such songs are sung.

For doth not Song
To the whole world belong?
It is not given wherever tears can fall,
Wherever hearts can melt, or blushes glow,
Or mirth and sadness as they flow,
A heritage to all?

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE SUEZ CANAL.—The Suez Canal project of M. de Lesseps is about to assume a practical shape. The four hundred thousand shares, into which the capital stock of two hundred million francs (or forty million dollars) is divided, have been disposed of, and unless unforeseen obstacles shall interpose the work of connecting the Mediterranean with the Red Sea, and thus realising in the East what Columbus sought in the West—a new route to the Indies—will soon be commenced. A recent number of the Journal de l'Isthme de Suez contains statement showing the number of shares subscribed for in various countries, for which we learn that over one-half, or 208,111, are held in the French Empire, and 192,889 in other countries, follows:

Turkey (including the subscription of the Viceroy of Egypt).....	90,657	Holland.....	2,615
Austria.....	51,246	Trieste.....	1,714
Russia.....	24,174	Sardinia.....	1,333
Great Britain.....	5,083	Switzerland.....	960
United States.....	5,000	Belgium.....	224
Spain.....	1,000	Tuscany.....	176
	207,111	The Two Sicilies.....	97
		States of the Church	54
		Prussia.....	15
		Denmark.....	7
		Portugal.....	5
		Sweden.....	1
		Total.....	400,000

It will be seen that five thousand shares, representing five hundred thousand dollars, are held in the United States, an amount nearly equal to that held in England. In the latter country, however, the project has never met much encouragement. It is essentially a French undertaking, and has had its greatest pecuniary success in France. Nearly three thousand shares were subscribed for in the cities of Lyons and Marseilles, and in Vincennes an entire regiment of the line subscribed, every man from the colonel to the drummer, contributing his quota, thus adding over forty thousand francs to the subscription list.—*N. THE LITTLE ONES AT PRAYER.—A little child knelt near the broken lattice. Casting a glance at the sleeping form of her father, she clasped her wan hands, and murmured—

"O God, make father leave his evil ways—make him my own dear father once again! Make mother's sad looks go away, and make her old smile come back; but thy will be done."

Just then the mother entered the room, and taking her husband by the arm, she said:

"Hearken to Minnie; she is praying."

"O God make father love me as once he did; and make him forsake his bad ways!" murmured the little one once again.

"O Paul—husband cried the mother! O, let us all be happy again!"

The conscience stricken man bowed his head and wept. Then, clasping his hands, he said:

"With God's help, god will never be made to sorrow on my account again."

And he kept his vow.—Evangelist.

BACKBITING.—Never say of one who is absent, what you would be afraid or ashamed to say if he were present. "He of whom you delight to speak evil," says a wise moralist, "may hear of it, and become your enemy, or if he do not, you will have to reproach yourself with the misery of attaching one who had no opportunity of defending himself. Never listen to those who deal in scandal; he who slanders one to you, will slander you to another." Tale-bearers make tale-bearers; and hence D
