a boat leaves without having a trader with some human chattels aboard. Kanasa will, doubtless, receive a very large accession to its population this Spring, and will in a brief period, disturb Jeff Davis and the fire enters, by the knocking at the doors of the Senate of over 100,000 cilizens, saking for her admission as a price write. What then? What will Mrs. Grundy or Billy Biglier say then?

In passing through Missirg if could not but regret that such a releaded dome. Yard been descerated by the blocking curse. What at great missiake the statesman of 1840 made, when he dopsted from the Jefferson policy, and permitted Missouri to engraft slavery upon her constitution. It have travelled pretty extensively in our own country, and I know of no State—all things considered—that possesses natural advantages superior to Missouri. She has soil, climate, minerals, and magailicout rivers, indeed, everything requisite to build up a grand State, but she has been dwarfed and cramped by the very manneles which her constitution rivets upon a certain portion of the children born upop her soil.

With slavery came the energy [1] and enterprise [1] of the first families of Virginia and North Carolina, who still continue to send their slaves to mill, with a stone in one end of the bag, to balance the corn that may be in the other, but a brighter day is dawning upon Missouri, foryism cannot much fonger rule the destinies of such a State. Missouri was stolen from foreom's domain, and stolen property sounce or later, must be returned upon the demand of the owner. That demand is now being made.

The Sale of the Burler Negroes.—The N.
Y. Tribune has taken the pains to send a Reporter all the way to Savannah, in order to report the sale of the negroes on the estate of Mr. Pierce Butler, a person who resides in Philadelphia. It, accordingly, under the title of "illustrations of American Civilization," gives a most graphic and interesting account of the affair.—
About four hundred chattels in all were sold—imen, women and children—varying from the ages of fifteen days to fifty years. A great many mero dealers were in attendance, and the sale appears to have excited an unsual interest in the vicinity. The reporter says:

"For several days before the sale every hotel in Savannah was crowded with negro specula-Bittsburgh Gazette. S. RIDDLE & CO., in Sarannah was crowded with negro speculators from North and South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Alabama and Louisiana, who had been attracted hither by the prospects of making good bargains. Nothing was heard for days in the bar-rooms, and public rooms, but talk of the great sale, criticisms of the business affairs of Mr. Butler, and speculations as to the probable prices the etock would bring. The office of Joseph Bryan, the negro broker who had the management of the sale, was thronged every day by eager inquirers in search of information, and by some who were anxious to buy, but were uncertain as to whether their eccurities would prove acceptable. Little parties were made up from the various hotels every day to visit the race-course, distant some three miles from the city, to look over the chattels, diseuss their points, and make memorauda for guidance on the day of the sale. The buyers were generally of a rough breed, slangy, profane and bearish, being for the most part from the back river and swamp plantations, where the elegances of politic life are not perhaps developed to their fullest catent. In fact the humanities are saddy neglected by the petity tyrants of the rice fields that border the great Dismal Swamp, their knowledge of the luxuries of our best society comprehending only revolvers and kindred delicates."

Most of these slaves appear to have been genuine negroes, and not mulattoes—a point in their favor. The intermitture of white blood, it is said, has a bad effect upon the black, which is, for the most part, in its native instincts gentle, kindly and unenterprising; whereas the white tinge communicates to it a certain irritability and restlessness which is not wholly compatible with servitude. Savannah was crowded with negro specula-re from North and South Carolina, Virginia, TERMS: Clube are furnished on the following terms:

the first point of importance, in Kausas, below St. Jo, and is distant by water about 14 miles. It has the advantage of a good landing and a good goographical position, and is rapidly improving. The name is a bad one, and prejudices many against the place. It is, as you are aware, called after Senator Atchison, who first tempted Douglas to report a bill repealing the Missouri Compromise and assert the great squatter sovereignty destrine, which, as it is now read and interpreted, means that the people of a territory, may form such constitutions, as they may please, provided that they establish and protect slavery. With this simple provision, Kausas might have been admitted, side by side, with old loc Lane's State—Oregon—but inasmuch as Kausas did not accept of the provise, and although a fair and as good looking as her sister, beyond the Rocky through the provision, and although as fair and as good looking as her sister, beyond the Rocky through the provision, and although a fair and as good looking as her sister, beyond the Rocky through the provision and although as fair and the provision and although as fair and the provision and although a fair and the provision and and the provision and although a fair and the provision and although a fair and the provision and and the provision and although a fair and the provision and although a fair and the provision and and the provision and although a fair and as good looking as her sister, beyond the Rocky the provision and the provision and the provision and although a fair and as good looking as her sister, beyond the Rocky the provision and the provision and accomplishment and the provision and the provision and the provision and the p

"But all this time the sale was going on and, tho merry Mr. Walsh, with many a quib and jest, was beguiling the time when the bidding was slow. The expression on the faces of all who stepped on the block was always the same, and told of more anguish than it is in the power of words to express. Blighted homes, crushed hopes and broken hearts was the sad story to be read in all the anxious faces. Some of them regarded the sale with perfect indifference, never making a motion save to turn from one side to the other at the word of the dapper Mr. Bryan, that all the crowd might have a fair view of that all the crowd might have a fair view of their proportions, and then, when the sale was accomplished, stepping down from the block without caring to cast even a look at the buyor, who now held all their happiaces in his hands.
