GAS FROM ROSIN OIL.
CE OTHER
FATTY FLUID MATERIAL
THE HIGH ILLUMINATING PROPERTIES of Gas from Resin and oleaginous substances have always made them a favorite material for the manufacture of Illuminating Gas. Many the Companies on Gas in with coal, in order to supply their customers with a Superior Quality of Gas.
ROSIN OIL is entirely free from all dross and resinous substances, and yields at once, its Brilliant Illuminating Gas.
The greater original cost of the apparatus for the manufacture of coal and rosin together with the good order so generally required, and the difficulty, it not impossibility, of entirely separating the naphthalenous, deleterious and offensive gases, generated in coal, render the ROSIN OIL APPARATUS cheaper and more desirable in every way.
S. CRATES, of 376 Broadway, New York, has devoted his entire attention to the manufacture and sale of Portable Gas Apparatus, and he respectfully calls the attention of the public to his present complete and efficient machine.
Perfect satisfaction to the purchaser guaranteed in every case. For further information address

TREASURY DEFALCATION—A Suicide Supposed to have Resulted from it—On Wednesday night last, Achilles Tuller committed suicide at his residence in Mt. Vernon, Ind., by blowing his brains out with a pistol. The case of Tuller is rather a singular one. He was formerly a resident (wealthy and respected) of Tiffin, Ohio, having in preceding years amassed a competency in the brokerage business. He married a fine amiable lady in that county, and no person seemed to enjoy life more than he did. His first troubles commenced about the time that Breslin's term as State Treasurer was expiring, and when the combined efforts of the Democracy and Republicanism were put forth to secure the nomination on the Republican ticket of Wm. H. Gibson. The wealth, sagacity and influence of Tuller was needed, and what was then the germ of the great defalcation by which Ohio was almost forced to bankruptcy, was broached to him and his influence and co-operation solicited — Tuller refused, and during the canvass left no stone unturned by which he might be enabled to defeat the swindle by defeating the nomination and election of either Breslin or Gibson. It is said letters written by Tuller predicting the sad results which must ensue, are still in existence. For this course he was subjected to prosecution and hatred of the most malignant form; himself and family traduced and vilified and threatened, until he was forced to leave the community. Thence he removed to Pittsburgh; still the malicious slanders of his enemies followed him until he could bear it no longer, and again he removed to Ohio, settling in Franklin county. His residence was soon discovered, and for a third time it became necessary for his own safety, that he should migrate. He did so, and without telling even his most intimate friends of his whereabouts, took up his residence in Mt. Vernon, Ind., and holding intercourse or communication with no one in relation to his unfortunate past, living in the strictest seclusion and under an assumed name, away from his own and wife's friends. At the stated times during the sessions of Common Pleas Court in this county, when the trial of Gibson would probably occur, Tuller would be at Columbus, a daily visitor at the Court house, with the avowed intention of giving testimony against him. But the cases were indefinitely postponed, and Tuller would return to his family and seclusion. The cause of this last fatal act, on the part of this unfortunate man may probably be traced in some manner to the secrets and intrigues of Ohio politicians.—Columbus Fact.

TURKEY are reports from Frazer River of a new difficulty impending with Great Britain. It relates to the ownership of certain small islands which lie between Vancouver's Island and Washington Territory.

The Treaty negotiated in 1846, runs the boundary as follows:

"From the point on the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude where the bounda y laid down in existing treaties and conventions between the United States and Great Britain, the line of boundary shall be continued westward along the same 49th parallel of north latitude to the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island, and thence southerly through the middle of the said channel."

From this it would appear that the negotiators were not aware of the existence of more than one Channel between the Continent and Vancouver's Island, whereas there are two—one running through the Straits of Rosario, and the other through the Straits of Haro. The small islands, whose existence the Treaty ignores, lie between these two Straits—so that if the former is adopted as the boundary, they will belong to Great Britain, if the latter, to the United States.

Possibly these islands were deemed so unimportant at the time that no mention was made of them or possibly each abstained from advancing their claim, in the fear of being compelled to abandon it, and therefore preferred to leave it in abeyance temporarily. It is hardly possible to believe that if the Commissioners had maps before them, they could have overlooked the islands.

The negotiators of this loose Treaty were James Buchanan and Sir Richard Packenham. The American one of these diplomatists has always been celebrated for his half and half way of doing things, and it is perhaps not surprising that he left so large a loop-hole for misconstruction, or misdocument. But we are surprised that the Englishman, who was of eminent diplomatic skill, should have concurred, unless indeed he saw it would be a sort of entering wedge for a future claim, of what he could not secure just then.

The Islands contain 120,000 acres of land, are suitable for agricultural and important for military purposes, the shore of the Frazer River emigration, they have assumed new consequence.—The channels on each side are deep enough for large vessels. While it is not probable that any serious dispute can grow out of the matter, it is quite likely to entail vexatious expense—not the only item of the sort entailed upon us by the present occupant of the Presidential chair.—Alb. Eve Jour

THE wool trade, so far as our observation extends, remains perfectly quiet, with a pretty well understood certainty, that prices will be as high, or higher than those of last year. In this immediate vicinity, where there is generally some little stir at this time of the year, we have observed no movements, heard no inquiries or offers, and noticed very few comments in the papers, bearing on the subject. The business is beginning to assume very much of a lull and bear aspect, in which the agents and wool merchants occupy the position between consumers and producers that the showman does in the menagerie, when the animals on both sides require to be punched with a sharp stick, in order to make them show their keeping.

The new clip will be in the market now, in a few weeks, and as our farmers are generally pretty tight pressed for money, we are inclined to think that they will not be unreasonably disposed to hold on to their produce, but inclined to realize if they can obtain anything like their expectations.—Wellsburg (Va) Herald

THE controversy as to the authorship of the Vestiges of Creation, which has been warmly carried on in the Scotch papers, receives a new contribution in a letter on the subject in the Caledonian Mercury from Mr. David Page. Alluding to the report that Mr. George Combe was the author of the work in question, he says:

"To put an end to this, now and forever, I hereby affirm—and the proofs of this affirmation lie before me fresh and incontrovertible as they did a dozen years ago—that Mr. Robert Chambers is the sole and responsible author of the Vestiges of the Natural History of Creation. I say "responsible" in a somewhat qualified sense, leaving others, to fix the amount of responsibility they would attach to an ingenious compilation, but very generally misapprehension, of the scientific opinions and discoveries of others."

FAIRMOUNT PARK, in Philadelphia, is to be improved and ornamented in a very tasteful manner. The grounds extend nearly two miles along the Schuylkill, and include every variety of land and water view, hill and plain, grove and meadow. The projected improvements will comprise a parade ground, zoological and botanical gardens, a variety of ornamental trees and shrubs, a grand avenue half a mile long and ninety-six feet in width, flanked by American lindens, with a carriage drive of sixty feet, and walks of ten feet on each side, summer houses, rustic seats, fountains, ornamental bridges, boat houses, fishponds, &c. The park is about a mile from the present centre of population of the city, and will be the most convenient resort for the large body of population of any similar improvement in the city.

A bill for dividing California into States, has passed the lower branch of the Legislature. Should the Senate concur, the consent of Congress will be required to give effect to the law. It is not very likely to pass muster at present.

GENERAL WASHINGTON IN A TIGHT PLACE.—There is a fine equestrian statue of Washington in Union Square, New York city. It was placed there by private subscription on the part of wealthy persons living in that vicinity. At the corner of Broadway and ——th street lives a close fisted millionaire, whom we shall call Judge Doe. Gen. H——, who was the active man in soliciting the subscriptions aforesaid called upon Judge Doe, to put his name down for five hundred dollars. "Five hundred dollars!" exclaimed the Judge; "why, my dear sir, it's preposterous; I won't pay; of what service to me will such a statue ever be?" The General, of
