PITTSBURGH, THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 12, 1859. A Marriage in Irriand.—A bridal party recently assembled at a Roman Catholic chapel in Limerick, and the ceremony was commenced, but as it progressed the gay Lothario could not screw up his courage to the sticking point, and when asked if he was willing to take the lady was his wedded wife, he became absolutely tongue tited. Meanwhile the lady, who before blushed with modesty, now crimsoned with indignation; but the would-be Benedict put into her hand a £20 note as a reparation to her wounded feelings. Sensibly enough she took the money, and thinking it a pity that she should be disappointed, and knowing that no time was to be lost, as it was the last day of Shrovetide, she turned off from the fickle swain, and asked a young man who came to witness the ceremony, and with whom she had been previously acquainted, if he would have her. He jumped at the proposal, and the necessary forms having been gone through, the marriage rites were completed. The bod of the African soon washes out, but that of the Indian and the Moor, after half a scere of generations, shows itself almost as strongly as ever. The crisp, curling black hair, dark sad ayes, long silken lashes, and swarthy complexion adopt the major our old Huguenot families, down to the present day, show strong traces of their Moorish dearer—seent. HRIVER & DILWORTH, WHOLESALE OHN FLOYD & CO., WHOLESALE PROGRESS OF THE MOVEMENT FOR THE PARTITION OF CALIFORNIA.—By a close examination of the California newspapers brought by the last overland mail, we learn that the Assembly bill for the partition of the State has been reparted to the Senate. An attempt was mad to defeat it in the Assembly, after its passage, by a motion to reconsider the final vote. This motion gave rise to a protracted debate, in which the slavery question was discussed at length, and with manifestations of strong feeling on both sides. Twenty-seven voted in the affirmative and thirty-one or thirty-two in the negative. What His fate will be in the Senut we

There is no insuperable obstacle in these days to the enslavement of this feeble bybrid caste, any more than in the days of Cortex. The Chinese immigration might also be utilized in the same fashion. The Southern Pacific Railroad in, as we have stated in a previous ardele, a leading feature in the plot.

California candafost this con prespy by maintaining the integrity of her own territory. Her dignity and interest require the preservation of her unity. She is, as it were, the pole of the traverse axis of the republic. As and Missouri are the natural cuardians of the West. Their combined influence must, sooner or later, exact from Congress the recognition of Western aspirations, and legislation for the advancement of a Western policy. Should she accede to the proposition for dismemberment her weight would be counterpoised in Washington by the Representatives and Senators from Colorado. The Pacific Railroad would either terminate at Gusymas, or in some convenient point in Orgon; and the interests of the whole country would thus be subordinated to that of the extreme Northern and extreme Southern States.

Whilst the Colorado, project seems to be assuming a tangible shape, the counties situated above the fortieth parallel bave taken the preliminary steps for procuring the organization of a separate government for that part of the State. THE WRONG CHANDER.—A good story is related by Dickens, from the life of Jerrold. It is in a letter addressed to Jerrold from the Continent:
"I am somehow reminded of a good story 1, heard the other night from a man who was the witness of it, and an actor in it. At a certain German town last autumn there was a tremendous furore about Jenny Lind, who, after driving the whole place mad, left it, on her travels, early one morning. The moment her carriage was outside the gates a party of rampant students, who had escorted it, rushed back to the inn, demanded to be shown to her bedroom, swept like a whirl wind up stairs into the room indicated to thom, to up the sheets and wore them in strips to the demanded to the sheets and wore them in strips EOMERNAC, FRANCE.

An hour or two afterward a bail old gentleman of amiable appearance, an Englishman who was staying in the hotel, came to bronkfast at the table d'hole, and was observed to be much disturbed in his mind, and to show great terror whenever a student came near him. At last he said, in a low volce, to some people who were near him at the table, 'You are English gentlemen, I observe. Most extraordinary people these Germans! Students, as a body, raving mad, gentlemen! 'Oh' no,' said somebody else,' excitable, but very good fellows and very sensible.' Theb, sir!' returned the old gentleman, still more disturbed; 'their there's something political in it, and I am a marked man. om, tore up the sheets and wore them in st gentleman, still more disturbed; 'then there's something political in it, and I ama marked man. I went out for a little walk this morning, after shaving, and while I was gone'—he fell into a terrible perspiration as he told it—'they burst into my bedroom, tore up my sheets, and are now patrolling the town in all directions with bits of 'em in their button-holes!' I needn't not wind up by adding that they had gone to the wrong chamber."

Be Particular attention pad to the repairing of Walche Pittsburgh ausurance Company. Parachino in England.—A London correspondent says: Sermonizing is at this moment more than ever a great study, and there is reason to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son to hope and believe that plan and direct, as son that hope and believe that plan and direct, as son the masses. Here in the mostophia, effective sermons, as well as dull once, are delivered; so, also, in other places. Nevertheless, carnestness, which is the soul of phipic flow.

The truth of this was verified a short time ago, in a somewhat novel manner, in one of our bis subject the affecting scene of Abraham about to offer up his son Issac. As he proceeded to develop the story, and ever and anon-hinted at the terrible deed which was to be the "last and scene of all," a raw and ruslic youth in one of the galleries was observed to be hanging on every word. His eyes were fixed on every more ment of the clergyman. His mouth, almost as expressive as his eyes, stood wide open in as tonishment, and his hair moved as if under the indidence of galvanism. As the story proceeded to aclose he alterniely rose up and sat down out if the ram was caught in the thicket; when he could control his feelings no longer, and fairly clapped his hands with joy at the climax of deliverance.
