Cressintus, fearing the issue, resolved upon his best defence, brought his plow and other rural implements, and displaying them openly, he set there also his daughter, a lusty, strong lass, big of bone; then turning to the citizens—"My masters," quoth he, "there are the soroeries, charms, and all the enchantments that luse. I might also silege my own travail and isbor, my early rising and late sitting up, and the painful sweat that I daily endure, but I am not able to present this to your view, nor to bring them with me into the assembly." This bold and open defence captivated the people; it

FREE NEGROUSS LEAVING NEW ORLEASS FOR HAYTI.—The brig West Indian, left this port on Monday evening, for Port au Prince, having on board over one hundred and fifty persons of color, voluntary emigrants, most of whom were of the better class. Nearly all have trades, and they go to this land of promise with high hopes of bettering their condition. This movement of emigration emanates from Geffrard, the new President of Hayti, who is desirons of enlightening and rendering more industrious the population over which he is called to rule, by the infusion of new and more wholesome blood into the body politic. With this view he has appointed agents, who charter vessels and afford a free

The Florence correspondent of the Providence Journal, under date of April 16th, communicates the following intelligence respecting Charles Summer: "Mr. Senator Summer is ettil in Italy and is now either at Naples or Rome. He limgered in Florence nearly three weeks, devoking himself principally, in hours not given to necessary ropose, to visiting the galleries, nuseous, libraries, and gardens, soothing himself with the gentle influences of nature and art. Mr. Summer still leads a very quiet life, keeping and most of those who would be glad to do him honor have had good sense enough to overcome their zeal, and allow him to fully recover his health. For an end so much to be desired there is now abundant reason to hope, as his fine physical most of the second of the s now abundant reason to hope, as his fine phyrique already begins to give signs of having re-covered much of its original vigor."

The weather for the past few days has been very seasonable and regolation is progressing rapidly. Corn was generally got in in good time and in good order, leaving nothing to complain of in these respects; the wheat is growing finely and looks fully as well as is customary at this and looks fully as well as is customary at this time of the year. There was accarcity of bloom on the apple trees, promising only a moderate crop of apples, though the loss in quantity may be more than made up in the quality of the fruit Other fruits are doing very well and coless something remarkably unfortunate occurs, we shall without doubt have an abundance to be thankful for.—Wellaburg Her. REVIVING CARAL TRAVEL .- It is stated in ou RETUTING CARAL TRAVEL.—It is clated in our Eastern axchanges, that efforts are making to revive the use of the Eric Canal as a channel of travel, and that the prospects of success are quite flattering. Already steam packets, which are largely patronised, are running between Syracuse and Rome. A company has been formed at Rochester, and the stock subscribed and paid in to build two steam packets to run between in, to build two steam packets to run between Rochester and Buffalo. SOUTHERN ILLINOIS—THE CROPE.—The prospects of an abundant Winter Whest crop in all Southern and Central Illinois were never better than at this moment. As low down as Jonesboro the grain is nearly ready for the harvesters; and probably about the 25th inst., to the 1st of June, the cutting will begin. We are told upon good authority that the area sown is unusually large, that the "stand" on the ground is good, that the straw is of the proper length for the largest yield, that the filling of the berry has commenced, and that everything, in fact, is as favorable as could be wished. Is the centre of the State, in addition to the usual amount of Winter, a large quantity of Spring Wheat, has been put in, and the breadth of the ground planted to corn is immense. The Spring grain is up and coming forward incelly, while about Springfield much of the Corn begins to show itself above the surface.—Of course it is too early to predict what will be the fate of the two latter, but if a flattering prospect is cause for encouragement, our farmer friends should not be tormented by fears of a failure. We don't mean to reap our grain before it is ripe, hollos before we are out of the woods, or count our chickens before they are hatched; but we have a firm conviction that Providence intends to grant a very of shundards.

STARVED HIMELF TO DEATH.—The negro boy Charley, who it will be remembered killed Mr. Clarke, near Raleigh, a few weeks since, and was placed in Morgan jail, to await his trial for the murder, died on last Sunday night, from starvation. He utterly refused, several days previous to taste food of any kind, and in order to avoid the inevitable gallows, met his death by starvation. The negro was a hero in his way—but it must be owned that he had a very vicious way.—Uniontown (Ky.,) News.

Business Rotices & Changes: DISSOLUTION.—The partnership lately existing between John Fleming and Henry McGeary, ander the firm of Fleming & McGeary, was dissolved by mutual consent on the 7th day of May, 1859. The business will be continued by John Fleming and Joseph Torrens, under the firm of Fleming & TORRENS. All debts owing to the late partnership are to be paid to said Fleming & to be presented to them to repure the said of the fleming as to be presented to them for payment.

"The Trieso."—Crear's definive step was the "creating or the Buhismp," and to step conceded on all bands to be declive of place or war, is the Austrian army's crossing the Ticino. This stream is a small river, rising hat the foot of Mount St. Gothard, in Switzefland, flowing southwardly through Lake Maggiore, and finally emptying into the Po near Pavis. During the latter part of its course it forms the boundary line between Lombsrdy and Piedmont, and hence its importance in a military point of view.

It is easily crossed and not etrongly defended, is remote from the centres of Bardinian population and strength, and hence is naturally chosen as the most feasible entrance for the Austrian troops into Sardinian territory.
