arm's length, swam, keeping the face of the nearly insecusible man under water, toward the shore. It was called to on all sides to raise Willia's head above water; but knowing that the life of both depended upon keeping the drowning man from seizing hold of the swimmer, he proceeded calmly without answer till he placed his charge safety on land: then turning to his officious advisers who had fled from the danger which they left to others, he said—'next time, if you want his head raised above water, raise if you want his head raised above water, raise if yourself!" The universal call for Clay in this emergency showed the great and unquestioned confidence which all who know him place in his quite courage and magnanimity of soul; and the end proved that it was not misplaced. Willis and family became thenceforth his life friends."

The Discovery of the Town or Pharacod Amosts.—A lotter from Cairo, in the Constitutionnel, says that the general subject of conversation in that city is the discovery which has just heen made by the well-known archaeologist, M. Mariette. He has found, at Thebes, after long and difficult researcher, the tomb, still intact, of Pharacoh Amosis. The king is lying in a coffin, completely covered with gold leaf, ornamented with large wings painted on it. Thirty jowels of great value were found in the same coffin by the side of the king, as wan also a hatchet of gold ornamented with figures in lapie lande.

Some years ago M. Mariette, had a similar plece of good fortune, in finding in the tomb of Apis the jewels which now form the principal ornament of the Egyptian Museum of the Louvro. The jewels of Amosis are still more favorable, from their number and quality. This discovery of a royal tomb intact is the most important one that M. Mariette has yet made in Egypt.

WHAT A PICURE.—At twenty-five an American has practised ten trades, made four fortunes. W. D. & H. M'CALLUM, 87 FOURTH STREET, PITTSBURGH HAVE now in store their large and care OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS. WINDOW SHADES.

Plane and Table Covers What a Pictura.—At twenty-five an American has practised ten trades, made four fortunes, one faiture and two campaigns—has conducted a lawsuit, preached a religion, killed six men with a revolver, emancipated a negress, and annexed an island. An Englishmau has written two themes, followed an embassy, founded a bank, converted a Catholic, travelled round the world and read the collected works of Walter Scott. A Frenchman has written a tragedy, contributed to fwo newspapers, received three sword outs, made two nitempts at suicide, persecuted four husbands, and undergone nineteen changes of political opinion. A German has wounded fourteen of his intimate friends, has swallowed sixty casksfull of beer, (hesides the philosophy of Hegal.) has sung eleven thousand songs, compromised one young lady, smoked a million of pipes, and dipped himself in two revolutions. But the Roman prince has done nothing, seen nothing, learned nothing, loved nothing, suffered nothing. Open the grated door of a cloister, and a young girl appears quite as experienced as he.—From the "Homan Question," by E. About.

The Markel Street Baptist Church, of Zanesville, has expelled Deputy Marshal Erckiel T. Cox, who has long been one of its Deacons, for his complicity with the late fugitive slave case in that city. The example might well be followed elsewhere. years parties of gentlemen from hoth countles bare been in a habit of meeting in the most sooial and unreserved manuer, and feasing upon what is there called a burgont—a kind of camp soup, made of fish, turnips, red pepper, &c., as much reliabed in the West as chowder in New England, with interludes of cigars, old Bourbon and ancedote. On such occasions, all come uninvited—bigh and low, rich and poor—and a general jolification ensues.

"A lew years since, on one of these occasions the Vice President (John C. Breckinridge), the Dudleys, Bruces, Hunters and other good fellows being present, it was proposed to go in bathing, on each other all sorts of tricks. At length in the midst of all the fun came the terribe cry Madison County, whose family had been the most bitter enemies of C. M. Clay. The four or fromen who were nearest him field to the shore in great terror, and immediately from twenty or more persons rose the cry, Clay—Clay—Clay—Mr. Clay was abolt fifty or sixty yards above, but immediately swam down the swift stream to where Willis had sunk—never to rise again of his own effort, and seizing bim by the bair at arm's length, swam, keeping the face of the nearly insensible man under water, toward the shore. He was called to on all sides to raise Willis's head above water; but knowing that the life of both depended upon keeping the drowning man from seizing hold of the swimmer, he proceeded calmly without answer till be placed.
