A SLIGHT DISCREARCY.—ROBERT TYLER, in his recent address to the Democrats of Pennsylvanit, as chalrman of their State Central Committee, represents the party in a most harmonious and prosperous condition. He declares that he feels "happy" in contemplating "the united, represents the party in a most harmonious and prosperous condition. He declares that he feels "happy" in contemplating "the united, represents the party in a most harmonious and prosperous condition. He declares that he feels "happy" in contemplating "the united and courage on the part of the Democratory. He rejoices heartly in the opinion that:

"Unfortunate and unmeaning dissensions have entirely disappeared. In earnest of this, the State Central Committee, although composed of forty-one members, representing every distriction with the Democratio organization, have been found an unit in the resolute purpose to sustain that organization at all harards, against open or secure thostility.
