Rivers and Weather.—No coming news as we write, and no change in the weather, either of which we will call a reasonable excuse for a small Editor, Bureau Salesman, or the other dependants of the Press, for not having their copy ready at the usual hour. Mr. Bennett offered to send a special express for us, but we declined, as we have two fine rivers, and a good road, and we thought it would be a waste of money to employ a man to ride over them. Besides, we have no use for the news, as we have it from the pilots, and we are satisfied it is correct. The Monongahela is falling slowly, and will soon be too low for navigation. The Allegheny is rising, and will soon be navigable. The Ohio is falling slowly, and will soon be too low for navigation. The weather is cool, and the sky is clear. Mercury at 7 A. M. 62°; at 2 P. M. 102°; at 9 P. M. 69°. Rain fell 25 hundredths of an inch.
