Davis & Co., Fifth street, under Odd Fellows' Hall, have it for sale. The poem is dedicated to the portion of humanity which recognizes poetry in the Home Affections and Romance in the experiences of every day and Romanoo in the experiences of every day life. The volume is to a great extent, addressed to such, and the author, whoever he may be, has endeavored to embalm for the reader the beantiful tigal lives and appears in our every day life. Some of the lines which we have glanced at here and the general tone of the book are good.

Blackwood, for September, is an unusually interesting number. The article on Election Bribery is quite interesting, giving us a glimpse of the examinations before the Parliamentary Committee into the cases of Messrs. Lestham Schooley. Other articles of unusualinterest are to be found in the present number. For sale by Hunt & Miner.
