We traveled all day Friday up the unknown orests, which kept its general course to the south of west, crossing it about noon on a flasting for, and striking on its southern hank, a "blared" track, which led us up to a deserted timber road, lying on the opposite side from a large himberlug shanty. We hoped one of the humber roads might take us out to a cettloment, but after traveling up thom all until they terminated in the wilderness, we concluded to cross the creek to the shanty, and stay at it all night.

It was evident, we reasoned, that the creek we Demisr voted against the answers to the Mandamus which embodied the allegations upon which the anti-tax doctrine is based; two voted for them; and one, Mr. Camperli, dadged. That he was in the city that night, we know; and we were assured by one of his political friends at the time.
