Another correspondent informs us that every stranger who steps from the cars at Harper's Ferry is closely-scrutinised, and at once put under surveillance, especially if at the hotel he registers his name as coming from a Northern or Eastern State; any movement beyond the hotel is sure to be followed by arrest, and an inquisition as to his business. Sometimes indicrous mistakes are mady, as, for instance, in the arrest of two Southern gentlemen, one of them a clergyman, on their why to a Presbyterian Synod. At Charlestors still greater vigilance is maintained, and no traveling agent or pediar can remain in the place, three or four of that class having alresdy been sent away. On Friday afternoon,

He is, of course, with all his heart opposed to the ex-tension of that "pseudiar institution" of the South; but, with equal distincterary recognizes the inviolable political right of the people of the Southern States to hold their eleves without any interference from the North, so long as they con-tinue to regard elevery as beneficial to their, in-terests. In other words always in a long their teresis. In other words, elavory is a local insti-tintion, the creature and subject of local music-pal law; and in the States where it exists, must be governed by their legislation alone. This is the stand-point of the Republican party; and defines the position of Pennsylvania and of Gen-Campeno on this question." BALTIMONE ELECTION.—We gave yesterday a telegraphic account of the alleged rictions conduct of the American party in Baltimore. It is but fair to say that the Americans cast the blame on their opponents, and declare that the felegraphic reports were made up by a partisan democrat. It is alleged that the reformers by demograt. It is alleged that the reformers by calling upon their friends to close their places of business and go armed to the polls, provoked disorder and riot. PRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 4, 1859.

"Kaseas Work."—The following specimen of their "work." in Kangas will hardly elicit from the saministration democrats the amount of sympathy which they expressed for the people of Harper's Forry on a recent occasion. As good cilizens, the Republicana condemn both outrages.

"Expression of the city and Boston as co-conspirators with the same of the city and Boston as co-conspirators with the substitute of the city and Boston as co-conspirators with the point of the city and Boston as co-conspirators with the mest for the mith themes for violation of shrinking into retries. (Mass.) Herald says that a young lady in that town is a confirmed other drunkard. She inhals the subtle fluid whenever she can procure it, to satisfy her cravings.

A copy of the first edition of Boccaccio, was sold in 1812 to the Duke of Marlborough for £2,200 sterling about $12,000.

This is supposed to be the highest price ever paid for any work.

Hundreds, who have escaped with life, have been wounded, maimed and mangled; and hundred of law-mine are pending in the Territorial test do include 700 men. There were never over 22.

Second. The telegraph shows a little too plainly dreds of law-mine are pending in the Territorial test die it is working for. No one who has watched the reports with any care has failed to see how openly it lends itself to the Democratic use of the insurrection. At one time it tells us of the insurrection. At one time it tells us that Analyses its Albany Evening Journal very propositions, and proprietors of Republicans. At another it tells us that Analyses, No. 60, corner of Word and its strength.

Courds, brought to obtain restitution for the wrongs that have been inflicted.

In reference to the astounding statement given above, the Albany Evening Journal very property remarks:

"Democratic officials, crators and journals cannot find language severe enough, nor type large enough, to express their horror at the mad outbreak of twenty crays fanatics, fortunately crushed before much loss of life or property could ensue; but these acts in Kanasa, involving ten times the secrifice of life, and an hundred times the destruction of property, they palliate and defend, and even reward the perpetrators with offices under Government?"

The Journal should read the fable of the dispute between the lawyer and farmer in reference to the ox, in order-to understand the peculiar situation of the democrats, who cannot afford to be sympathetic on all occasions. They are only so when some party capital can be secured.

When old Brown was arrested at Harper's Perry, two hundred and sixty dollars in gold were taken from him, and no account has since been.

WHEN old Brown was arrested at Harper's Ferry, two hundred and sixty dollars in gold were taken from him, and no account has since been given of it. A correspondent of the New York literald thus speaks of an expedition to the Kennedy Farm, the former residence of Brown:

"As soon as the neighbors around the Kennedy farm learned of Brown's capture, they pounced at once upon his house and epeedily rified it of its contents. There were eight or ten boxes of waring apparel, boots, quilts, blankets, &c., and these were speedily appropriated by people, some of whom we were assured were sady in want of them. Barrels of flour were' rolled out, the cooking stores and its appurtenances were remved, loaves of bread were distributed to the hungry, and in fact, in a short time the house was completely sacked."

It is evident that the antipathy of the Virginlans to Abolitionists does not extend to their food and clothing. Such conduct in a northern agricultural community would cause a great tensation. What well-to-do farmer in Pennsylvania, or any other Northern State, would dress himself in the apparel of a convicted criminal, unable to defend his own home from pillaging excursions? But we have no doubt, as the Herald intimates, the wardrobe of many of those persons needed replenishing, and they concluded that the clothing would not keep them less warm because it once belonged to fighting abolitionists. We presume the Virginia law of treason does not contemplate the conficuation of a "trainbetant tones belonged to fighting abolitionists. We presume the Virginia law of treason does not contemplate the conficuation of a "trainbetant tones belonged to fighting abolitionists. We presume the Virginia law of treason because it once belonged to fighting abolitionists. We presume the Virginia law of treason to soon template the conficuation of a "trainbetant tones" and the other can't. All through the wall-to-do farmer in Pennsylvania, or any other Northern State, would press' and the other can't. All through the revelations and se the place, three or four of that class having already been sent away. On Friday afternoon, 28th inst., while Brown was on trial in the court house for treason and murder, a well dressed man who had just arrived in town, and who spoke with a rather nasal accent, was on trial before a committee of citizens in the yard of the court house, on suspicion of being an abolition spy. The man appeared highly indignant at the questions put to him concerning-his pusiness, but finally gave a satisfactory account of himself and was suffered to go his was.
