Mr. Howard was proceeding to read the deposition of Stewart Watson, clerk in the Prothonotary's office, when Mr. Hamilton objected on the ground that-said deposition was expart.

The objection was not sustained and the deposition was read as was also that of Mr. Wm. A. McKelry and John li. Stewart.

James Trunick, a respondent in the first bill, testified to certain differences between the first bill, the lost one, and the one which has since been fied. There are certain oharges made in the latter. The new bill has matter in it, not contained in the old one. There are certain al-Telegraphic Markets.

There are certain allegations touching the collection of certain moneys obtained from the Graff estate in the new which are not in the old bill. In the old bill there are also certain specific charges against individuals which the new does not contain.

Mr. Howard then offered to read the affidavit of Mr. Barton, puriging himself from the Graff estate in the graff was a companied to him. Judge Hampton asked Mr. Howard if he offered this in the case before the Court.

Mr. Howard said he did not, but that Mr. Barton wished to place himself right before this court some weeks since, that "we had a thief at the bar and he could prove it," and he pointed at Mr. Barton. Mr. Hamilton denied that he had need such words. He then passed on to argue at length against the admissibility of the affidavit. He alleged that the bill was last seen in the heads of Mr. Barton, and it was incumbent upon Mr. Armstrong to call Mr. Barton and as, "the bill was last seen with you, now what have you done with it?"
