Pittsburgh Gazette.

PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY BY
R. ERRETT & CO.,
FIFTH STREET, ABOVE SMITHFIELD.

(Correspondence of the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18, 1859.

Editors of the Gazette:—The all prevailing topic of conversation in this city is the organization of the new House of Representatives. It is definitely stated to-day that Tom Corwin will be a candidate for Speaker. Thaddeus Stevens, of your State, is also spoken of very favorably, but Sherman, who has so long been before the Republicans, will no doubt be the nominee. He will certainly make an able Speaker.

For Clerk, (which it is understood will be given to that party from whom the Republicans will receive the votes necessary to elect their Speaker,) we have heard of John W. Forney, from the Anti-Lecompton wing of the Opposition.

The Southern Opposition (if the votes necessary to elect the Republican Speaker will be taken from them) will put in nomination Underwood, of Kentucky, or Hoffman, of Maryland, both good men. The Clerkship is generally conceded to one wing of the Opposition, although B. B. French, the President of the Republican Association of this city, has put himself forth as the nominee. No better man could be found for that position However, the Clerkship is more in doubt than any other office in the gift of the House.

One thing, however, is certain of the minor offices, and that is that Mr. Lewis Clephane, the able Secretary of the Republican Association of this city, and the working member of the National Republican Committee, will be elected either to the office of Door-Keeper or Postmaster of the House. His labors are appreciated by those who know of his service in the Fremont campaign, and for his energy in pushing off the documents for Minnesota, during this fall, which were detained in the Washington P. O. because they were not all franked in the bona fide hand-writing of Hon. John Covode. In less than one week after their detention in the Post Office, Mr. C. had Mr. Blair, Mr. Gurley and Mr. Dean to see, and they were sent off, with what success the recent election in that State has so well shown.

The States, of this city, has for a long time been laboring to convince the people of Washington that the National Era and Republic offices of this city should be demolished, and their forms and type scattered in the streets a la Newport style. But the advice has not yet been taken, nor will it be, we opine, for some time to come. It also labors to convince the people of this city that the rooms of the Republican Association are "dens of iniquity," "places for the concoction of treason against the Government," and such classical allusions to the work that they are engaged in. In the meantime, however, it may commit a ruinous amount of crime against the Republic.

The States, lately, is very much worried about the recently elected Members of the House from Baltimore. It says that they cannot have the impudence to present themselves at the bar of the House on the first day of the session. We shall see. The States charges that they were elected by fraud and violence. We admit a great deal of fraud was committed; but did the States ever raise its voice when the bogus Senators from Indiana were admitted to their seats? or when Whitfield's contested election was before the House had that paper a word of condemnation to say in regard to it? They have "sown the wind, and they must reap the whirlwind." At the present session the seats of various Democratic members will be contested. The seat of Mr. Barrett, of Missouri, will be contested by Mr. Blair, and we shall see what the States has to say in that case. He was legally elected, and his seat will be given him, or our system of free suffrage is a failure.

Since the recent stand taken by Mr Bates has been promulgated, he has risen to the proportions of a Presidential candidate. But we see no reason why he should be put first on the ticket. As Pennsylvania will be the battle-ground in the next contest, we hope that the tried statesman, the friend of free labor and the laboring man, Simon Cameron, may be the nominee for President. For Vice-President, no better man could be found than Edward Bates, of Missouri. The efforts of Cameron in the Senate, last session, for protection to the mining interests of Pennsylvania and Missouri (for Missouri is a great iron State) would make him dear in the hearts of the laboring men of the country.

DOUGLAS VERSUS BLACK.—Senator Douglas's final rejoinder to Mr. Attorney General Black has made its appearance. From the note appended to it, one might suppose that it came forth in an unfinished condition, its compilation having been interrupted by the severe attack of sickness under which its author is still laboring. But so far as Mr. Black is concerned, the answer seems to have been completed. It is only a supplementary reply to a letter of Mr. Senator Irwin's which had appeared in the Constitution, which is left unfinished.

The most material part of this performance is an enumeration in the closing part of it, of the positions of which, in Mr. Douglas's opinion, he has compelled, in the progress of the controversy, the abandonment by the Administration party, as represented by Mr Black.

First and foremost, he places the doctrine put forth in Mr. Buchanan's Lecompton Message, and which, for some time, was made the shibboleth of Democratic orthodoxy, that Slavery exists in the Territories by virtue of the Constitution of the United States. If that be so, argues Mr. Douglas, it must necessarily follow that it is the duty of Congress to pass all laws necessary for the protection of Slavery in the Territories; should belongs to Congress to protect by legislation, in all cases in which legislation is needed, all rights conferred by the Constitution. Thus pressed, Mr. Black found it expedient to abandon the doctrine that Slavery existed in the Territories, or anywhere else, by virtue of the Constitution of the United States, and even to go so far as to deny that anybody had ever thought or said so.

To meet the doctrine of Mr. Douglas, that the Territories had a right to legislate on the subject of Slavery, and in an unfavorable sense, too, if they saw fit, Mr. Black began with denying that the Territories had any attribute of sovereignty about them, whence he deduced their want of power to touch in any way that property in slaves which slaveholders, under the "axiomatic principles of public law" (to use Mr. Black's expression), carried with them on migrating from a Slave State into a Territory. He insisted, even, that to suppose in the Territorial Legislatures any such sovereign powers would be opening the door to legislative robbery, from which all sorts of outrages might be expected, such as ordering the miners to give up all the gold they had dug at Pike's Peak, or licensing bands of marauders to despoil the emigrants crossing the country. Yet in the course of the controversy the Attorney-General had been obliged to concede that, after all, the Territorial Legislatures did possess very extensive powers of legislation concerning both life and property—powers so broad as to include all rightful subjects of legislation consistent with the Federal Constitution He has also been driven to admit that it would be an insult to the American people to suppose that any Legislature of an organized Territory would pervert the powers intrusted to it for purposes of wrong or robbery. Thus, in Mr. Douglas's view, he has withdrawn his main argument against Territorial legislation, and has given in a substantial adherence to the doctrine of Popular Sovereignty in the Territories.—*N. HOW SYMPATHY IS MANUFACTURED FOR CAPT. COOK.—The editor of the North Iowa Times (a Democratic paper) says that on the 14th inst., the clerk of the Key City on the downward passage of that steamer, handed us a letter of which we have decided to publish the substance. The publication of the letter, with an enclosure designed as an editorial for the columns of the North Iowa Times, would cause a sensation of no ordinary character.

It is known to the reading public of the Union, that Captain Cook has been recently convicted of murder and insurrection at Harper's Ferry, and that Gov. Willard of Indiana, in obedience to the dictate of humanity and respect for the feelings of his wife, whose brother captain Cook is, has attended the trial, provided able counsel, and exerted every justifiable moral influence to avert the doom which probably awaits his unfortunate relative. It may not be known, however, that in the letter now before us, addressed to the editor of this paper, an "Indianian and a Democrat," written by a gentleman formerly in the confidence of a distinguished Senator from Indiana, there is a proposition to bring the political character and services of Gov. Willard, and the aid of the Democratic press of the West
