PITTSBURGH:

FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 9, 1859.

Who are the Agitators!

The clamor of Southern papers and politicians at the intense agitation of the Slavery question going on all over the country, comes with an exceedingly bad grace from that quarter. Slavery agitation is the sliment of the Democratic party—its only remaining stock in trade. Deprive it of this prolific theme, and it would not long exist to perplex the councils of the country and rend the welkin with cries of disunion and treason. The democratic party in the North is decimating daily. Its intense toadyism and hypocritical cant about Southern rights and Northern aggression—form almost the only staple—the chief burthen of the locofoco press, and make flippant the tongues of its gasconading leaders everywhere. The public are daily plied, ad nauseam, with long diatribes on the inevitable tendencies to disunion and the growing alienation between the North and South. The most dolorous auguries and startling vaticinations teem from locofoco organs, to frighten the country from its propriety and alarm good conservative souls who are ever ready to read evil portents in incidents the most trivial. The Republican is the conservative party—the party honestly devoted to preserving the Union intact—cherishing it sacredly and inviolably from assaults from whatever quarter proceeding, and valuing its integrity as chief and paramount to all other objects of patriotic concernment.

Threats of dissolution are never heard to proceed from Republicans of the North. No such treasonable fulminations disgrace the columns of its press or find countenance in the authoritative enunciations of its primary assemblages or general conventions. These croaking, ill-boding auguries invariably have their paternity in the democratic papers or conventions. The ends and aims of the Republican party are eminently patriotic, severely conservative, studiously constitutional and in strict harmony with the letter and the spirit of the national compact and the genius of our free institutions. From no Free State is heard the treasonable threat of rending asunder the bonds of union in the event of the election to the Presidency of a Southern man. It is left to the democratic party, par excellence, of the South to shock the ears and pain the hearts of the patriots of the country by such inane intimations of open resistance to the most cherished principle of a democratic government—that the majority shall rule.

We repeat, the democratic party is the party of agitation and panics—emphatically the party of "treason, stratagems and spoils"—especially the spoils. Its existence depends upon keeping up a continual clamor on the vexed question of Slavery. To this end the Missouri Compromise was repealed, and we are now reaping the baneful fruit of that mad act. The peace and quiet of the country are the last things the democratic leaders would desire. These permanently secured, Othello-like, their occupation would be gone—their sensation ordnance spiked, and a large tribe of political stipendiaries bankrupted.

The Republican party desire calm and quiet for the country—earnestly seek to cultivate the closest fraternal relations with their brethren of the South. While they solemnly enter their protest against any further extension of the domain or propagation of the baleful institution of domestic slavery, they, at the same time, religiously, most sacredly, regard the constitutional rights of the South, and contemplate no interference with her local institutions or vested rights. Though, as in the case of the deluded Brown and his insane confederates, raids may now and again be made upon her soil and "peculiar institution," the Republicans, as a party, most solemnly disavow all connivance at, sympathy with or participation in such treasonable projects, as revolting to their sense of justice, patriotism and humanity. If to the evils of this kind must come, as a legitimate fruit of Slavery, the Republican party incite them not, countenance them not—but, on the contrary, hold them in the highest degree to be incendiary and criminal.

That Slavery and Freedom must be eternally antagonistic, and in the very nature of things, give rise to an "irrepressible conflict," is self-evident and no human laws or enactments, however wisely devised, can stay the inevitable result. The Republican party, however, will not, can not be made responsible for a state of things over which it has no control; but which grows out of the nature of the God-ordained antagonism of Freedom and Slavery. The great heart of the Republican party in the North, is stirred to its profoundest depths in sympathy with their Southern brethren—they deplore the existence of the causes which make inevitable the inquietude, insecurity and ceaseless vigilance on the part of the slaveholder, but they have no means of averting these calamities, or mitigating one tithe the pains and penalties incident to the institution of slavery.

We say, then, that the Democratic party, is responsible for all the bad blood, all the unfraternal bickerings, criminations and recriminations between the North and the South; and that that party is undeniably the only positively sectional party in the country, which has the ability to do harm or sow dissension broadcast for purposes hellishly and diabolically wicked and selfish.

DISSOLUTION OF THE UNION.—As we predicted ten days ago, the first declaration of the "democracy" on the assembling of Congress is of the impending "dissolution of the Union." The first threat, too, comes from Virginia! Mr. Mason mouths the stereotyped phrase in the Senate, Mr. Millson takes up the echo in the House, the Richmond Enquirer joins in the cry, the chivalry of Harper's Ferry doubtless re-echo it, and all the dough-face sheets of the North—"Tray Blanche and Sweetheart"—open in full chorus, under the imposing "head lines" of "The Crisis Come," "Sad Prospects," "Gloomy Forebodings," "Blasted Prospects," "Anarchy Approaching," and other equally melancholy, trembling and tearful phrase. How long will it take the pro-slavery folk to learn that the day for all this bamcombe is past? Why, it is manufactured as cheaply as bogus coin or dramatic thunder. As Thad. Stevens remarked, "all that is intended for timid men."

Of course the high tragedy aire which the Brutii and the Curtii of Mississippi assume, backed by the Virginia forces now under arms near Washington, are intended to be influential in the election of a Speaker. The same demonstrations were made, accompanied with red and blue fire and cheap theatrical display, when Banks was the Republican candidate for Speaker. The thing has been repeated so often that it is getting stale. The Republicans ought to go on and elect their Speaker at once, for to that complexion it must come at last. Let them do that, if for no other reason, to stop this nonsense and clap-trap about a "dissolution of the Union."

WOOD'S ELECTION.—This man is again elected Mayor of New York. He ran for the office in 1857, and was defeated by Tiemann, the latter having been elected by an union between the Republicans and Anti-Wood men. The Republicans proposed to unite with the same men this year, but the latter refused to accept any overtures. The consequence is the re-election of Wood. He is, however, in a tremendous minority, as may be seen by the following figures:

Wood	30,094
Opposition	28,404
In 1857 the vote stood:
Tiemann	43,292
Wood	39,951

—giving a majority of 3,341 in favor of Mr. Tiemann.

The vote by which Wood is this year elected is nearly 10,000 less than he received in 1857, when he was defeated.

MONTGOMERY.—The well-informed Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American, says in his letter of Tuesday:

"It ought to be remembered by the people of Pennsylvania that the three democratic members of the delegation—Messrs. Florence, Dimmick and Montgomery—were conspicuous yesterday in voting for Mr. Bocock, of Va., as Speaker, who is avowedly and ardently one of the most decided free traders in the House of Representatives, and who, more than any other member of his party, has for years past consistently and resolutely resisted every measure in Congress which in any way proposed to give protection to American industry. This fact requires no comment. It is a matter of record, and proves conclusively that the election of party is superior to every other consideration with those who obey the discipline and respect the usages of the democracy. The constituents of these gentlemen will now discover how much sincerity was contained in their professions before election. If Mr. Bocock could be chosen Speaker by their votes, the Committee of Ways and Means would have been constituted with special reference to the prevention of any change in the tariff. Nothing better was expected from Mr. Montgomery, who after denouncing the Kansas policy of the Administration, has now returned here to crawl into a caucus which repudiated him at the last session. He has only followed the example of Douglas, if that be any consolation."

TARRED AND FEATHERED IN SAVANNAH.—The Savannah Republican, Dec. 2, reports that one E. H. Fisk, a shoe-dealer in that city, was tarred and feathered by certain chivalrous Georgians on the previous night—his offence being the utterance of Abolition doctrines. The Republican describes the recreation as follows:

"Sewell H. Fisk, a dealer in boots and shoes, on Market-square, of several years standing, has been the object of suspicion for some time, in consequence of his known Abolition proclivities, which he has taken, as we are informed, some trouble to make known to our slave population. His latest acts are entering negroes into his cellar at night, and reading them all sorts of Abolition documents and lies. Some three weeks ago, before a Justice of the Peace by his negroes as a witness, and summoned to the services of some parties who have constituted themselves a quasi vigilance committee. Mr. Fisk's story, over or to which he sleeps, was visited, and he was called out and warned before he could make other arrangements. He was then placed in a carriage and driven out of the city, as it is supposed, to Thunderbolt, where he was left to find his way back, as best he could. His first appearance in the lions was near the Pulaski House, where he came in contact with a waterman, who was so alarmed at the sight that he gave a spring backward, jerk to his rattle and took to his heels, not halting to see so dreadful an apparition. A reinforcement, however, was brought enough to approach him, when he was conducted home, the most pitiable object in the community—to investment of a spot of his chin was visible, and his hair was trimmed close to his head."

CAPT. COOK.—Mrs. Rogers, the mother-in-law of Cook, visited him in his cell to-day. Upon her approach they embraced affectionately, recognizing each other as mother and son. She remarked he was looking thin. He replied he was well, at least as well as he could be under the circumstances. After a general conversation, she said, "Had I only known your business at Harper's Ferry, you would not have been here, John." He replied, "I know that very well; you know nothing of it." In the conversation, Mrs. K said she had gone down from the Ferry to find him twice on the morning of the 17th, and referred to the narrow escape of a young friend, who came near being killed by Cook's fire from the opposite side of the river. He expressed his pleasure at this, but said nothing in reference to other parties who were the cause of his rifle. In speaking of his arrest, he said that if he got possession of the pistol, I would have been here before." Mrs. K replied: "Perhaps, John, I was better than if you had shot Lieut. Green." After his arrest, Mr. Logan, as by command of absolute secrecy, obtained from him his name, and asked for his commission as captain in the U. S. army, and Cook declined complying with the request, and impertinently asked him what he wanted it for. The reply was, that lawyers, and as they had their whole duty, the evidence being a positive and direct against him. He read a portion of a letter from his brother-in-law, notifying him of the appearance of his wife and sister, which was the first time brother-in-law's name was mentioned in the letter by Cook's mother-in-law, before Cook's arrest. The latter told him to keep nothing back, and not to tell all you know. Cook replied, "I have told all I know of it."—Correct Balt. Sun.

BEECHER.—It was rumored Thursday night in Charlestown that Henry Ward Beecher had been mobbed, and would not escape the gallows. Some said otherwise than for the general Tallyrand.

[illegible] should [illegible] without a [illegible] heard, however, the gentleman swore that Beecher came there he should die. He would sentence him to be hanged in fifteen minutes. This gentleman also proposed to get up a steamer at some Southern port, and go up to Brooklyn and pounce upon the occupant of the Plymouth pulpit some night. He avowed his willingness to be Grand Admiral of the expedition, and to guarantee its success with his life, fortune and sacred honor. This gentleman (if he may so well mention) was no friend, the Major from old Albemarle. It is not quite that if Brown had requested the presence of Beecher, and the latter had had the grit to go, there would have been little or no personal risk in the operation. The thing is old Brown's stalks at Charlestown that aggravated the Virginians most against him, was the contemptuous, fearful manner in which he unflinchingly submitted to the preachers of that section. He would not [illegible] saying sharply—"Old fellow, pray for themselves—we don't want to hear any of their praying."—The Con.

WISCONSIN.—The official canvass of the vote cast at the late election, foots up as follows:

[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Harris	[illegible]
Hastings	[illegible]
Pierce	[illegible]
Bashford	[illegible]
Van Dyke	[illegible]
Hoyt	[illegible]

The above includes the vote of the counties of Buffalo, Door, Eau Claire and Milwaukee, which the canvassers were obliged to throw out, on account of informalities of the returns. The Milwaukee return, which was the most important one rejected, lacked the county seal.

A SPECIMEN HOAX.—The history of a single hoax will show how all the other tales from the North which have driven Gov. Wise to frenzy, have been gotten up, and will at the same time prove the value of the lot.

A few scamps at Morris, Grundy county, down near the Illinois and Michigan canal, procured the insertion in a few copies of their local paper, of a flaming account of the preparations of the Abolition Guard, of Cleveland, for a march upon Charleston, for the rescue of Brown. One of these copies, accompanied by [illegible] letter, was sent to the New York Herald, and that journal eagerly seized it as a new and most satisfactory evidence of the treasonable demoralization of the whole North. Of course, the story was a canard, but its paternity has also been how others of like character have been manufactured, it is worthy of mention.—Chicago Press and Tribune.

EX-PRESIDENT PIERCE'S FRIENDS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The Concord Independent Democrat says: "Our Hunker friends in this city held their caucus Saturday night, to select delegates to the Councilor Convention, to be held in Epping. We are sorry to add, there was a bitter "scrimmage" between the friends of Gen. Pierce and Senator Douglas. The friends of Gen Pierce, however, triumphed, and chose their delegates. It is understood that Judge Minot, Gen. Pierce's former law partner, is to be one of the delegates to Charleston. He is shrewd, and if anybody can do anything for the Ex-President, he is the man.

In less than two hours after Congress assembled, the Slavery question was sprung in both Houses—in the Senate by Mr. Mason of Virginia, and in the House by Mr. Clark of Missouri. Even the Senate Chaplain, Mr. Gurley, hastened to fling John Brown into his prayers, and denounce "fanatics." The Republicans would like to go to work at the national business, and keep at it till it is finished up. The South will monopolize nearly all of the session with its negro interests.

A NEW MONTHLY PAPER, to be published in Cincinnati, is announced. It will be edited by Rev. M. D. Conway, assisted by Judge Stallo and Dr. Isaac M. Wise, of this city, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Dr. Furness, O. B. Frothingham, S. Longfellow, G. F. Noyes, F. B. Sanborn, and other distinguished gentlemen of the East. "The Dial"—for that is the name selected—is announced to be chiefly an organ of Religious Progress, but it will have a warm side toward Science, Art, and the Social Problem.

LORD MACAULAY has two volumes more of his "History of England" nearly ready for the press, but it is believed that they will not be published this season. The great care which the noble author bestows on the work before it finally leaves his hands necessitates some delay.

RICHARDSON'S
IRISH LINENS,
DAMASKS, DIAPERS, &C.
CONSUMERS OF RICHARDSON'S LINENS, and the sole desirous of obtaining the GENUINE GOODS, should see that the articles they purchase are sealed with the full name of the firm,
J. N. RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN.
This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, soon after sealed and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers as specified, which will not readily abandon a business so profitable, while purchasers can be imposed on with the [illegible] worthless character.
